WOMAN'S REALM

(By Chantrelar.)

most as tired here of hearing of the Paris dress—We are growing all-Durbar—the "Curzonion," as some wag has styled it—as we did of the Coronation before it was over. Well! there is a saying about "sour grapes," and I have little doubt that all the lucky ones who have means and interest to get them an entree to all the wonderful new Arabian Nights' entertainments are not feeling at all tired at the prospect. Every day we hear of fresh people sailing off with trunks full of wonderful garments. London will be a howling desert with so many of the smart set—and quite "another story"—the interesting get-away. I hear that the "Famille Leiter" are coming out sartorially strong to do honor to themselves and the Durbar. Miss Daisy Leiter has been getting the most ravishing toilettes from Worth, in Paris, and her frock for the big Delhi ball on Jan. 26 is a glittering Fairy Mass of Loveliness.

Lady Curzon, with tactful policy, is going in chiefly for beautiful Indian works. She has a gown above superstition, evidently, for one of her "chefs d'oeuvre" is a gown embroidered in glittering peacock's feathers, and another—nothing unluckily about worked all over with color being leaves, one daring note of color being a soft satin sash in "cherry ripe" color, which crosses the corsage and which has a big crumpled up choux. It will suit her exquisitely to perfection. London is very full of shoppers, a constant "ret-vent" of people getting their Durbar outfits. To lose no time—and no customers—most of the big shops, such as Woolland's, have opened charming tea rooms, where the poor, exhausted ladies may be refreshed and talk over their purchases with each other over a fragrant cup. Everything is made so comfortable and labor-saving in this year of grace, when it would seem that luxury is the breath of life to a great many of Fortune's Favorites.

There is a reversal, and side to the picture, of course, but on what it does not lie in my province to dwell to-day, which is as well for you, as moralizing is not my strong point! Everyone is still talking of the "cool snap," for which as a rule we in England never find ourselves prepared, we always greet it with surprise mingled with resentment; there has not been frost enough for skating, which is a joy eagerly seized upon over here on every possible occasion, but then again there has not been enough to stop the hunting which has gone on unusually briskly and unintermittently in the various hunting-grounds. I have had a peep at some lovely tea-gowns, real "far niente robes" for comfort as much as show, which were being sent off to a big country house where the women like to step into this style of garment when they get off their morning toggery. One was copied from the

with its quaint straight lines and hanging sleeves. It was in "oiled de roi" blue satin, very supple and thick, and just on the back, covering it almost was a mammoth exotic flower done in raised gold embroidery, and the gown was bordered everywhere with bands of blue panne in a more intense shade than "king's eye." There were the sweetest little blue and gold shoes to go with it, and it would be very becoming ical touch of all was that one or two had tiny flexible gold chains round their furry necks, no ordinary collar for a pampered Parisian pussy, with one of those pierced gold chains dangling from it. Cats are said to love perfume as a mode as much as their fair mistresses.

We have had a regular plethora of new books this month, very nice it is, for I always think they are the best thing for all for Father Christmas to bring. Nearly has had something in the press, both the "Elizabeths" have something new to offer. The Baroness Von Arnim, about whose identity there has been much discussion and mystification, always writes charmingly. She was a Miss Beuchamp before she married the German "Man of wealth," when "Elizabeth and her German garden" first appeared, her brother—a very successful London doctor—told me that no one was more astounded to read of her marriage. She had hardly intended it pro bono publico at first, but was delighted to find she had hit the popular note. I have not read Mrs. Eleanor Glynn's "Amazons," and am anxious to see if she is a married "Elizabeth," had grown wiser after her visits, or whether Kipling would say it is "quite another story."

INTERNATIONAL LESSON NO. XIII. DECEMBER 28, 1902.

Review.—Lea, 106: 1-6, 40-48.

Summary.—Lesson I. Topic, Joshua's divine commission. Place, the Jordan, opposite Jericho. After Moses was dead, Joshua was told to arise and lead the people over Jordan into Canaan. The Lord told Joshua to be very courageous, for no man would be able to stand against him while he lived. He was also told to carefully obey the law which God had given him. Joshua then commended the people to prepare victuals, for in three days they were to pass over Jordan.

II. Topic, Israel entering Canaan. Place, the Jordan, opposite Jericho. Before they crossed the river, two spies were sent over, who brought a back word that the people were filled with terror.

III. Topic, the capture of Jericho. Place, at Gibeon, near Jericho. The Lord gave Joshua careful directions as to how to take the city of Jericho, and then Joshua told the people what to do. They were to march around the city once a day for six days, and on the seventh day they were to march around seven times. Then the priests were to blow with the trumpets and the people were to shout. They did as the Lord had commanded them, and the walls fell down flat.

IV. Topic, Caleb receiving his inheritance. Place, Gibeon. He has been about six years since the Israelites entered Canaan.

V. Topic, Divine protection. Place,

Shiloh. The inheritance of the tribe of Levi was 48 cities, which were quite evenly distributed among the tribes. Six of these cities were chosen as cities of refuge. Kedesh, Shechem and Hebron were on the west of Jordan; and Bezer, Ramoth and Golan on the east.

VI. Topic, Joshua renewing the covenant. Place, Shechem. Joshua was now an old man, and before he died he assembled the people at Shechem and gave them his parting advice. God called on them to choose whom they would serve, Jehovah or the gods of the Canaanites.

VII. Topic, the apostasy of Israel. Place, Canaan. Joshua died, being 110 years old. While he lived the people served the Lord. A few years after his death the Israelites forsook the Lord and served Baalim. Because of this the Lord delivered them into the hands of their enemies, and the heathen nations greatly distressed them. The Lord raised up judges, which delivered them, but when the judge was dead the people corrupted themselves worse than before.

VIII. Topic, the evil days of wine. Place, probably Jerusalem. The nation had been prosperous, but in the midst of the prosperity the people had forsaken the Lord. They were especially given to drunkenness. The Lord was filled with indignation and pronounced a woe upon them because of their terrible sins. Ephraim should be destroyed.

IX. Topic, the triumph of Gideon. Place, at the foot of Mount Gilboa. The Midianites were greatly oppressing the people. The Lord called Gideon as a deliverer. Gideon called the Israelites together and assembled an army of 32,000 men; requests the "fearful and afraid" to return home, and the army was thus reduced to 10,000. The Lord then smote them at the brook and only 300 men were left. Gideon and his 300 men were called on to fight the Midianite army.

X. Topic, Ruth's choice. Place, Moab. Bethlehem. There was a famine in the land of Israel and Naomi, with her husband and two sons went to the land of Moab to live. The sons married Moabite women, but after a few years both sons and their father died, leaving the women widows. Naomi then decided to return to Bethlehem. Orpah remained in Moab, but Ruth chose to follow her mother-in-law and chose the true God.

XI. Topic, the death of the uncgodly. Place, Shiloh. The child Samuel assisted Eli in the tabernacle service; God spoke to Samuel; Samuel at first supposed Eli had called him, but afterwards understood that it was the Lord; the Lord told Samuel what he intended to do against Eli, because his sons had made themselves vile; and Eli had "restrained them not."

XIII. Topic, the birth of Jesus. Place, Bethlehem. Mary and Joseph were at Bethlehem; nearby were shepherds keeping watch in the fields over the flocks; the angel of the Lord appeared to them; a light shone around them; they were told that Jesus was born; if they would go to Bethlehem they would find the young child in a manger; they went and found all as the angel had said.

Thoughts.—Those who fully follow the Lord will receive rich spiritual blessings. Whatever God commands us to do He is ready to assist us in doing. We should always remember God and His goodness to us. The things which are impossible for us to do are very easy for the Lord to perform—it was not a hard thing for God to overthrow the walls of Jericho, and He can just as easily overthrow His enemies to-day.

PRACTICAL SURVEY.

Lesson I. The leader's promise. Moses was told to arise and lead the people over Jordan into Canaan. He was commanded to be strong and of good courage. God's promise to him was calculated to inspire him with indomitable strength. "As I was with Moses so will I be with thee. I will not forsake thee." He was to be strong. 1. In faith. 2. In expectation. 3. In zeal. 4. In endurance. 5. In patience. 6. In courage. There is no place for weakness in God's service. "Let the weak say, 'I am strong.'"

II. The passage of the Jordan. The events connected with this remarkable experience were calculated to make a deep and lasting impression upon the minds of the Israelites. They could easily point to one place in their pilgrimage and exclaim, "There God met us and brought us through the waters dry-shod. There the mercy seat, the symbol of God's law and mercy, led us out of the wilderness of fire in the wilderness." How blessed it is to have these clear, definite experiences of God's love and mercy.

III. Jericho typical of the strongholds of Satan in the world. The city was straitly shut up. No one could go out nor could any one enter in. The whole spirit of the people was resistive. Their attitude is very suggestive of the resistance of the human soul against the higher powers which would conquer it and lead it to a higher, nobler life. It is even far more suggestive of the more conspicuous social and political evils which have become so deeply entrenched in our national life. How are they to be dislodged? Some Joshua must appear—a man of faith and a man of perseverance.

IV. Caleb and his inheritance. In his service of God Caleb was, 1. Independent. 2. Truthful. 3. Courageous. 4. Unselfish. 5. Wholly devoted to God. For this service he was rewarded, 1. With long life. 2. Continued strength in old age. 3. Restful possession of his portion of the land. The sure rewards of consecration: 1. A heroic spirit, characterized by virtue and manliness. 2. Good judgment, growing out of experience in coping with difficult problems. 3. Sincere respect of all friends and even foes. 4. A noble fearlessness that looks undismayed at seeming unmanageable difficulties. Before the Christian hero all enemies become servants, all difficulties become helps and all terrors become sources of refreshment. The children of Anak still live in our midst bravely, confidently, and conquer them. Christ will grandly reward His followers who always bring back a "good report."

V. The man-slayer and his refuge. The cities of refuge were established to the wearer who is a dark woman with pale creamy skin and brown eyes. Another was a more ornate and dressy style, just the fairy gown for an "intimate dinner." It was an Empire fourreau, or coat, of cream Alencon lace, to be worn over a complete dress of cream mousseline with a sun pleated front. All round the de'colletage, and going round the armholes to reach to the short waist of the Empire gown were sprays of the loveliest little roses, hand-fashioned in buttercup yellow, and green chiffon. It was one of those dainty creations which "half conceal and half reveal the form within" and was altogether bewitching. A yellow satin sash with a big soft choux was, I must tell you, tied high under the arms, in pretty "Josephine" fashion.

Another Dinner Gown

of the same school was in cell blue mousseline de soie, worked over with strands of silver sequins; it hung softly over a pale blue silk slip, the tablier being of accordion pleats. The elbow sleeves were quaintly slit up their entire length, and fastened across with silver coral and bows with danglers on the ends. This had the same pretty vague Empire effect as the one I have just described. For the hair there was a big silver butterfly with caterpillar wings to rest just behind the pompadour on a little cluster of curls. A coquettish feature of an Empire gown of cream point d'esprit, which was lined with peach-blow pink mousseline and worn over a slip to match, was that in all the bows of soft cream satin, which bedecked it here and there, were tied little bunches of pink tipped daisies on hanging stalks, and a little daisy chain wreath was the accompanying coiffure. For shooting costumes a great deal of red, spotted, ribbed or plain, is being used, and a favorite shade is fawn in all variations of tone. The skirts and coats-lets may be strapped in silk to match put on very fancifully and invariably a fur stole accompanies the costume. The hat is usually a moleskin felt tricorn, or else a big hairy plateau. I saw a chic little hunting-green ribbed velvet frock, made with a short fur collar, just edged with brown fur, the Russian blouse was caught in with a green patent leather belt, with an old Flemish silver pointed clasp to lengthen the waistline in front. The hat was in black satin, with an ostrich feather waving over it, and under the brim were coiled two long luscious green peacock's feathers, close together, making an uncommon lining, their coloring suited the frock to perfection, and both suited the

Pretty Diana of the Chase.

A useful and fashionable hat for windy days, and of those we have had a surfeit truly, is copied from the Persian "Kaftan." It suits people with regular features and has generally a jewelled or wrought metal ornament just in front with an uprearing aigrette. For driving in style, prettily jewelled ornaments pinning them to the shoulder for safety. Looked on as throat or chest protectors their use is thus nullified; mais, que voulez-vous? it is chic to be early Victorian—or second Empire, according to your nationality, this season's smart pretty frocks, bodices are being made in pleated white chiffon, with deep coral belt of black brocade patterned in pink, velvet roses, mauve orchids, or rose red cherries, there are a few knots of velvet on the fringed sleeves in the shades of the flowers, and a little of the Alencon cap lace. They look very quaint, and the bits of brocade used are real works of art.

There is a perfect rage just now for little toy Pomeranians, whose diminutive jet black doggies which really

Look Like Tiny Squirrels.

They are extremely costly, too. One I met yesterday would have been worth $250, had it not unluckily possessed one white paw. In Brighton, you cannot walk two miles without meeting one and it is ludicrous sight to behold a tan, solemn-visaged clergyman carrying one wrapped in a shawl. I thought it looked as if he ought to be carrying it along on a little green wicker stand, with four wheels under it, for it looked too tiny to be a live object. They are so valuable that they are a regular nuisance to their owners, should any one lady told me she never liked to leave hers in her hotel, "unless one of the other visitors would be kind enough to sit with it!" I thought how the said visitors would bless her and I. Another how-wow, who had suffered from toothache had been given a new set of teeth, complete, gold plate and all. Can canine devotion go further?

At the recent Art Exposition in Paris, the pet "minets" were objects of great solicitude to their tender owners. They provided them with downy baskets, and cradles, as dainty as those prepared for baby "belted-earl," all quilted and wadded and lined in rose, mauve or blue satin, with little draped curtains to keep them shaded from the stares of the vulgar herd. Toys, too, were provided, such as India rubber dolls, and balls. It was too absurd, and the most com-

PROFIT

The matter of feed is of tremendous importance to the farmer. Wrong feeding is loss. Right feeding is profit.

The up-to-date farmer knows what to feed his cows to get the most milk, his pigs to get the most pork, his hens to get the most eggs. Science.

But how about the children?

Are they fed according to science, a bone food if bones are soft and undeveloped, a flesh and muscle food if they are thin and weak and a blood food if there is anemia?

Scott's Emulsion is a mixed food; the Cod Liver Oil in it makes flesh, blood and muscle, the Lime and Soda make bone and brain. It is the standard scientific food for delicate children.

In order to put a limit to a spirit of revenge, while at the same time provision was made for the adequate punishment of crime, there has always existed among civilized nations a strong conception of the value of human life, and the punishment inflicted upon the murderer has always been severe and sometimes even vindictive in its character. The cities of refuge were not founded to protect the guilty, but for the shelter of the innocent.

VI. Rededication to the service of God. The consecration of the fathers will not suffice for the sons. Joshua was now ready in sight of the Israel city, and his heart's strongest desire was to leave behind him a nation wholly devoted to the service of the living God. The people "presented themselves before God," and in answer to the earnest exhortations and appeals of Joshua promised: 1. "God forbid that we should forsake the Lord to serve other gods." V. xvi. 2. "Nay, but we will serve the Lord." V. xvi. 3. "The Lord our God will we serve and His voice will we obey."

VII. Disobedience wrought man's ruin, forfeited Paradise. Obedience is the only road that leads back to Paradise and eternal life. Christ's obedience in meeting the demands of law opened the possibilities and privilege of obedience to man. "If thou wouldest enter into life, keep the commandments."

VIII. Intemperance is a national as well as an individual crime. God pronounces it to be the Academy of Medicine details of a case in which the heart was pierced through by a revolver bullet. During the operation the bullet was found lying in the right ventricle. There were two wounds of the ventricle and the anterior surface and the other on the posterior surface. These were sutured with catgut. The pericardium was then sutured in its turn, and the flap of the thoracic wall was fastened in place. No drainage was employed and the patient recovered without a single bad symptom. —Lancet.

THE MARKETS

Toronto Farmers' Markets

Dec. 20—The street receipts of grain to-day were moderate, with prices generally unsteady. Wheat is unchanged, 200 bushels of white selling at 70c, 300 bushels of red at 70c, and 300 bushels of goose at 64 to 65c. Barley is unchanged, 600 bushels selling at 42 to 47c. Shot Through the Heart and Livers

Cures by suture of wounds of the heart are becoming more and more common. Hitherto, however, all the cases reported have been of wounds caused by knife or sword, but M. Lanauy, a young surgeon attached to the Paris hospitals, has just related to the Academy of Medicine the details of a case in which the heart was pierced through by a revolver bullet. During the operation the bullet was found lying in the right ventricle. There were two wounds of the ventricle and the anterior surface and the other on the posterior surface. These were sutured with catgut. The pericardium was then sutured in its turn, and the flap of the thoracic wall was fastened in place. No drainage was employed and the patient recovered without a single bad symptom. —Lancet.

THE PROOF OF THE PUDDING LIES IN THE EATING.

The doctors are dumfounded, the druggists astounded, and the people excited and joyful over the wonderful cures and tremendous sales of the great Remedy—St. Jacobs Oil. Every case of Rheumatism—some of many years' standing—has given way to this powerful remedy. Thousands of certificates like the following can be furnished as to its value:—

George S. Hinkley, Publisher of the Chilton, Wis., "Volkswagen" used St. Jacobs Oil for "almost unbearable pains in the back, which had completely prostrated him." A few applications cured him entirely.

Mrs. Fred Elmer, Bellevue, O., was cured of a long time severely troubled with Rheumatism. St. Jacobs Oil instantly relieved and entirely cured her.

Rev. Dr. B. Pick, of Rochester, N. Y., suffered so intensely from Rheumatic pains that he was unable to preach. Several applications from a bottle of St. Jacobs Oil, "relieved him."

F. Radder, Cleveland, Ohio, says: "Two applications of St. Jacobs Oil cured me of great and long-continued pain in my foot."

Messrs. C. L. Brundage and Son, Druggists, Muskegon, Mich., writes: "St. Jacobs Oil has a wonderful sale. We sold eight bottles at retail yesterday. This will give you some idea of how well it is liked in this section."

Mr. Louis Hinkel, of East Peosten, Kili, N. Y., says: "I call St. Jacobs Oil the best liniment I ever used. It cured me of Rheumatism and pain in the back."

Herman Rittner, Manchester, N. H.: "I have tried St. Jacobs Oil and found it excellent. All those who have purchased it speak of it as 'simply uncradable.'" "I was in bed suffering from a swollen leg. I used St. Jacobs Oil. Its effect was wonderful. The following day I attended to my business again."

Dr. Otto K. Jacobs, O., writes: "The sale of St. Jacobs Oil is constantly increasing; it is praised by everybody, and never fails to give entire satisfaction."

SENSATION IN QUEBEC.

Wonderful Cure by Dodd's Kidney Pills Causing Much Talk.

Dame Joseph Millette, of St. Rose, is a Teutonic woman and how easily she got hot of them. St. Rose, D'Arthabaska, Que., Dec. 8.—(Special).—Among the people of this neighborhood there has been much talk of late of the numerous cures resulting from the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Great diseases as Rheumatism, Backache, Heart Disease and even Catarrh have yielded readily to this wonderful remedy, and people are fast learning how important it is. Last the Kidneys should be kept in shape to perform their duty of removing impurities from the blood.

One of those who speak out often and earnestly of the good Dodd's Kidney Pills is the good Dame Joseph Millette. She suffers from Kidney Complaint and Catarrh and is now completely cured. It is not to be wondered at that she speaks as follows:

"I suffered much from malady of the Kidneys. It settled in the loins and gave me great pain and discomfort. I took two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and am perfectly well."

"Dodd's Kidney Pills are a grand remedy for me. I give Dodd's Kidney Pills my certificate from a big heart."

Many others, once sufferers, now in good health, unite with Dame Joseph Millette in singing the praises of Dodd's Kidney Pills. They have proved conclusively that no disease arising from diseased Kidneys can stand before them.

Fibroid Tumors Cured

Note the result of Mrs. Pinkham's advice and medicine.

"Some time ago I wrote to you describing my symptoms and asked your advice. You replied, and I followed all your directions carefully, and to-day I am a well woman."

The use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound entirely expelled the tumor and strengthened my whole system. I can walk miles now.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is worth five dollars a drop. I advise all women who are afflicted with tumors or female trouble of any kind to give it a faithful trial."—(Signed) Mrs. E. F. HAYES, 23 Dudley St., (Roxbury) Boston, Mass.—$5000 for a 17 original above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

Mountains of gold could not purchase such testimony—or take the place of the health and happiness which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought to Mrs. Hayes.

Such testimony should be accepted by all women as convincing evidence that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound stands without a peer as a remedy for all the distressing ills of women; all ovarian troubles; tumors; inflammations; ulceration, falling and displacement of the womb; leucorrhoea; irregular, suppressed or painful menstruation. Surely the name and character of the testimonial letters we are daily printing in the newspapers can leave no room for doubt in the minds of fair people.
