Sunday School. TWENTY-SECOND ANNUAL STATEMENT OF THE

Christian Love.—1 Cor. 13. Read 1 John 4:7-21

Commentary.—At the conclusion of the preceding chapter the apostle promised to show the Corinthians a more excellent way than that in which they were proceeding...

Love superior to gifts (vs. 1-3). 1. though I speak—The orator insists that the cases cited in this and the two following verses could never occur...

Gift of prophecy.—The knowledge of future events, and also ability to speak God's word (chap. xiv. 3). All mysteries—Though I understand the meaning of all the types and figures of the Old Testament...

Policy Wanted. A tough old fisherman of Grimby presented himself at an insurance office the other day, and said he wished to insure his life...

BINDER TALK. In our last issue we spoke of some important features of binder construction. This subject is of sufficient moment to justify our pursuing it further in the interests of our farming readers...

The Nude in Modern Portrait Statues. There is something peculiarly absurd in the idea just made out of Lelepe of an undraped statue to Beethoven...

HAD TRIED IN VAIN. A young man by the name of William Kutz, coachman, came to my store, complaining that his feet hurt him very badly...

His Thrifty Excess. "What brought you home in this condition?" demanded Mrs. Bender, peering through the dark hallway in the wee hours...

At Kelley's cafe they're giving away a lump of coal with every fish-trunk, and I was trying to get a ton.—Chicago Record.

A flood at Cornwall put out the fires in the Canadian Colored Cotton Company's mill and drove several people from their dwellings.

When The Hens Lay. The hens are laying again.—Sioux City, Iowa, Journal. Let joy spread her wings and quicken the earth...

Who cares now for poor South America's plight. And who cares a rap for the coal price's flight? The hens are now laying again...

What boots it if winter shall linger for days. Or if the spring sun shall in ardency blaze? The hens are now laying again...

We care not if Morgan should gobble the earth. Or poor Russell Sage should increase in his girth. The hens are now laying again...

So let the world wag in its own funny way. For springtime is coming—it nears every day. The hens are now laying again...

Let everything noisy get busy and scream. And wake the whole world from its lethargic dream. The hens are now laying again...

Let joy spread her wings and quicken the earth. And let everything living go daffy with mirth. The hens are now laying again...

Disappointed. Jacky longed for a bicycle, longed and prayed, too, that some one would give him one. Everyday he came downstairs hoping to find the machine of his prayers in the hall...

The Markets. NO MORE PAIN IN THE BACK

Toronto Farmers' Market. Feb. 16.—The offerings of grain on the street on Saturday were a little more liberal. Wheat is weaker, with sales of 300 bushels of white at 72 to 72 1/2...
