An exchange says one of the new fads is men's socks for women. There is a rumor prevalent that some wives wear the trousers, but no one imagined that the socks would be appropriated. If the women continue the invasion of the wardrobe of the man there will be very few articles of wearing apparel that man can call his own. His hat, shirt, vest, coat, collar, tie and socks are gone. He has remaining his chewing tobacco and suspenders—not much of a lay out for a cold day.

HIAWATHA.—The representation of Longfellow's famous poem last Friday evening by the Hartman—Waltz aggregation, was distinctly disappointing, for it was supposed there would be impersonations of some sort, and Madame Waltz was so ill she could only sing a verse or two in Indian and English, behind the screen. The show has the appearance of an advertisement for the Annual Indian exhibition of Hiawatha at Desbarats, near Sault Ste. Marie the lantern pictures, some of them very good, being taken from that event and Mr. Hartman's talk is largely made up of references to the "Play" there. Certainly there was no play here, and one would expect a more vivacious exposition of the pictures. The electrician understands his business. The Library gets about $17 from the affair.

ADVERTISING SUGGESTIONS.

By A. B. Caswell, in Canadian Grocer.

Ideas come from all sources; a second glance may mean an inspiration; the fluttering of leaves may suggest a train of thought. Quick perceptions see them everywhere and utilize them in advertising.

When an idea strikes you, jot it down. When another comes along, pin that down too. In this way the bright advertising writer can keep his ideas constantly on file for reference, instead of their going astray through memory's window.

After all, the greatest study of mankind is woman, with man as a side issue. The advertiser should never overlook this point. When he conquers Her Serene Highness, the woman, he is on the highway to success.

THE MILLINERY OPENINGS

Our readers, especially the ladies, are no doubt on the look-out for our annual write-up of the latest and up-to-date fashions in women's head apparel. We have duly inspected the three establishments and had our aesthetic tastes gratified by the bright display of winsome goods. On our own behalf and on that of our readers we thank all for the courtesy extended to us and for the write ups given below. Our prosperous town in a prosperous year is reflected in the business done in the bright millinery rooms.

IRELAND'S OPENING.

Shapes of Beauty in all styles.

This well-known millinery establishment is again in charge of Miss Ryder, who reports a good business and lots of orders. An attractive window invites you inside, and on reaching the cosy rooms there is a delightful freshness and brightness and an all-around millinery feeling that is to blame for a fine big opening and lots of orders.

One exceedingly pretty Parisian model was a box turban shape of soft white tulle chignon, drooping back and front. A light sequin was draped around the base. Foliage and grapes were gracefully disposed at the left side and a large flat bow of black velvet ribbon, caught with a black buckle, completed the trimming at the back.

Another hat that was much admired was a large black tughan with a rim of dainty sequined lace, a large sequin crown was used and a handsome plume curved gracefully over the left side.

A child's hat that received much attention was a large Tuscan flop, a drape of pink silk was brought round the face and ended in tabs at the back and a pretty wreath of foliage across the front made a simple but very effective trimming.

The materials and trimmings shown were lovely, many flowers and much fruit were displayed, a special feature of most of the models was their light weight.

MORLOCK'S SPRING OPENING.

A comprehensive and brilliant display.

Many novel designs in Millinery—Original ideas applied to prevailing modes.

The old-established and well-known house of S. F. Morlock inaugurated their spring opening Friday and Saturday of last week, under the most favorable auspices of an unusually large attendance and a magnificent display of a new spring stock, complete and most comprehensive in every detail that goes for the making of a leading and high class house.

This firm has gained this enviable reputation by years of experience in the finest and most exclusive novelties.

Throughout the days the handsome and spacious establishment was thronged with crowds intent on making selections of some choice design in head gear.

It is an ideal place or shopping, all the surroundings in harmony, with so much to choose from, and styles to suit every type of face, that selections were made with great satisfaction.

The color effects are the prominent feature in the trimming and ribbons, flowers, fruit and the straw blend most harmoniously in the color scheme. Pink in all the rose and geranium tones promises to be very popular, while the forget-me-not blue is a great favorite.

Owing to the immense variety of patterns it is useless to attempt a detailed description of the various lots.

The window, so tastefully and attractively dressed, received much attention and many admiring comments.

MISS DICK

The Lambton street rooms were never more attractive, and the fittings and arrangements are such as call forth expressions of delight from the many visitors. Miss Dick aims to please every customer and her experience and taste generally succeeds. With a staff of trained helpers assisting, with abundance of material to choose from, she confidently asks the patronage of the public.

The Atmosphere of Dwellings.

Under the head of Child Training, in the April Delineator, are a number of valuable suggestions for keeping house air pure. Among them are:

The use of stained floors and rugs in preference to carpets.

A thorough daily airing of each room. Shaking and brushing clothing out-of-doors.

Removal from the bedroom at night of clothing worn during the day.

Daily airing and occasional beating of mattresses and blankets.

Open war against the feather duster. A dry cellar at all seasons.

Frequent inspection of plumbing.

Little furniture and no uncovered vessels containing soiled water in bedroom.

Opening windows at night; discarding weather tips.

Plenty of sunlight.

What Others say

of Worthington's Canadian Stock Tonic James Leask, breeder and feeder of the sweepstakes fat cattle at Provincial Winter Fair of 1901 and 1902. DEAR SIR,—I have fed your Stock Tonic to cattle and like it very much. It makes them thrive well and put on flesh more rapidly. I think it is the best Tonic I have fed to horses. We are also feeding it to our hogs this winter and they are laying better than they have done for a long time. It pays to feed it. Yours truly, JAMES LEASK. Greenbank P. O., Feb. 23, 1903.
