NEW YORK FASHION SHOW

What the Ladies Will Wear Thi and Next Year.

A PARISIAN TO EXPLAIN THINGS

New York, Sept. 7 .- The fashion show at Madison Square Garden was, according to schedule, to have begun "setting the fashions for 1903-O4" tat8 o'clock last night. As a matter of fact the fashions of 1903-04 remained hopelessly unset until 8.30, for the doors were late in opening. Britain, Russia and Turkey Purchase Meanwhile a crowd of buyers, importers, manufacturers, dressmakers and fock whose interest in chiffons was non-professional, packed the lobby to suffocation and spilled out into Madison avenue. A lew of the men lost their tempers and went away, but the women stood their ground. Womankind is used to being offered up on the altar of fashion. The model gowns and coats on view at the Garden are well worth a visit and are important enough to obtain serious consideration for the show. The most famous dressmakers of Paris and other European capitals have sent over mode's-150 in alland probably never before have so many handsome Parisian frocks been shown to the public at one time. Moreover, the Parisian dressmakers have sent a delegate along with their!

But he is troubled, seriously troabled. He notices that American womon are buying and wearing long suit coats under the impression that they are modish. This, it appears, is wrong, lamentably wrong.

Parisiennes are wearing long secarate coats, but for the suit coats they cling to the short jacket and the bolero. Here are we buying long coats for our coat-and-skirt suits,

The French gowns and coats are street gowns; varying in price from i $3,000 cown to a modest $200. Some of them are weird, many are striking rather than beautiful, but a large number are really lovely, and all should furnish a liberal supply of valuable ideas to dressmakers and buyers who were not lucky enough to study French modes in Parisian ate-

The American exhibit ,too, is admirable. It is supposed to include models from all over the country, but New York makers cominate, and certain well-known establishments have furnished models that will bravely bear comparison with the imported garments on the opposite side of the

than a new dress binding.

Dressmakers, imposing and humble, fat and thin, old and young, are taking notes and comparing impressions, and through the feminine crowd is scattered a surpristagly large element of masculinity, for this is the season when the town is full of western buyers, and, almost to a man, they have drifted to the Fashion Show, The show will last for two weeks and many exhibits not ready for the opening will be added later.
