A PAINFUL ACCIDENT.—Last week Mr. And. Lindsay while attending to a thrashing engine, got his right hand jammed by the piston shaft and will lose part of the hand as a result. Dr. Hutton is in attendance and we hope the sufferer may make a speedy recovery.

PEACHES.—Mr. Robt. Ewan, Bentinck, was in town, Monday, and displayed to us 14 peaches of respectable size which were matured in his garden last week. They were of the late Crawford variety and this is the second year the tree has borne. Our climate is all right.

PUBLIC LIBRARY OPEN.—A number may not know that the Library is now opened again for issue of books and the Reading Room in shape, at least will be when electric lights are going again next week. A change has been made in the shelving which it is hoped will benefit librarians and public. Regular monthly meeting Friday, Nov. 6th.

A MAYOR HONORED.—Meaford papers tell with much pride of the action of the citizens of the lakeside town in presenting their Mayor, J. D. Hamill, with an illuminated address and a purse containing $500. He was elected in 1897 and has been continuously kept there by acclamation since. "During his tenure of office Meaford has become one of the leading grain ports on the Georgian Bay, and numerous manufacturing industries have been established in the town. It was in recognition of his services as Mayor that the presentation was made."

RE TEACHERS' SALARIES.—The following item outlines a system much in advance of what is found in most graded schools, yet seems dreary enough. To toil for 15 long years before increasing $100 may be better than a good many actually get, but they don't know it, and there is little food for ambition for the beginner to say that in 1918 she will be earning $400. "Salaries in the Clinton Public School will be based in the future upon the following schedule: $300, increased $15 for second year, $315 for third year, and $5 additional each year for next five years, the maximum salary being fixed at $350 until a teacher has completed 12 years of service, when the salary is to be $375 for the next three years. After completing 15 years, the maximum will be $400."

PROSPEROUS DURHAM BOY.—Some in Durham will yet remember as a boy James Austin, who got his early education here and "went west." He graduated as a Presbyterian Minister and is now in Hannah, N. Dak., with a wife and child, as we learn from a look at some correspondence lately received by old friends, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Watson, Varney, and in addition to his ministerial duties has a large farm, and handles fancy stock of all kinds from Percherons to pups and Plymouth Rocks, of course keeping several men as overseers. From late issues of the Dakota papers he appears as an abundant prize winner, especially in hogs, cattle and horses. This year he has 6000 bushels of wheat and had shipped 5 carloads at 85c a bushel. He had 2500 bush. of barley and 100 acres of flax yet to thresh! Western with a vengeance! He is popular as a pastor, too, the life of all Scotch gatherings, and his wife is a brilliant musician and daughter of a famous Presbyterian clergyman of Leavenworth, Kansas. Success to "Jimmy," Austin who has "Worked and Won."

SUCCESSFUL SOCIAL.—McGirr's School house was crowded in every part on Friday evening last, the occasion being a social evening planned and prepared by friends of the Sabbath School held their this summer. Superintendent Wm. Young was in the chair, and conducted an excellent program to a successful close, the order being of the very best. There was opening and closing choruses by the school, an inspiring chairman's address, and a satisfactory Treasurer's report. Of $14.00 collected, $5 had gone for expenses and $9 donated to the sick children's hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Ritchie gave two instrumental selections, Miss Ida Wilson sang two solos, and recitations were given by Willie Atkinson, Alex. Aljoe, May Scott, Arthur Weir, Samuel Scott and Fred Ritchie. Rev'd. Smith and Farquharson and Mr. Wm. Ritchie gave addresses. An interesting feature was the moving of Rev. Mr. Smith to the chair and the moving, by Mr. T. McGirr of a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Young for his interest and energy in connection with the Sunday School just closed. The large audience of parents and pupils concurred very heartily. A closing hymn by the audience brought a most agreeable meeting to a close.

A spirited poem by Mr. Jas. Watson, Varney, appears in this issue. He has it set to appropriate music and it makes a worthy addition to his former efforts.

THE NEW BRIDGE.—This is now in position and the opinion of our competent to judge is that the council has got good value for their money. It is a handsome, substantial structure, and we wish there was another like it on Garrafraxa St. Teams are now crossing.

CONCERT AT PRICEVILLE.—On Tuesday evening next a concert will be held in Watson's Hall, Priceville, at 8 p. m., by Mrs. Newton, Mr. Drysdale, and Durham Baptist choir. Proceeds in aid of the organ fund. The well-known ability of the entertainers promises a good night.

SALE REGISTER.—Credit Auction Sale of Farm Stock, Implements and Household Furniture will be held at lot 46, con. 3, S. D. B. Bentinck on Friday Nov. 6, 10 mos. credit. See bills for particulars. Farm will be offered for sale at same time. R. BRIGHAM, A. BRIGGS, Auctioneer.

Remember the "Organ Recital" this Thursday in the Baptist Church at 8 o'clock, p. m. Frank S. Davidson, of Detroit, Mich., a star Vocalist, will assist. Mrs. Newton and Mr. Drysdale will sing the duet "Keep on Believing." Admission 5c. Those who love to listen to good music, invited.

A very successful temperance concert was held in Calder's Hall, Tuesday evening. Rev'd. Bell, of Varney, Smith, Newton and Farquharson assisting with pleasing addresses. The singing, accompanied by Mrs. Newton, was good, Misses Stewart and Vickers, Mrs. Newton, A. Bell and Mr. Drysdale taking part. "The Holy City" was especially well rendered.

CLUBBING TERMS.—This week we send out circulars to a large number of our subscribers containing clubbing terms, renewal envelopes, &c. We hope these will receive careful attention. A sample copy of the Montreal Herald has also been sent, containing very special clubbing terms. Those who have already renewed and taken advantage of these clubbing rates, will oblige by handing the circular and envelope to some one who might profit by the combination.

GIVE US AN ARC.—The town council in preparing for street lighting are putting in four arc lights and a number of incandescent ones at various points on front and back streets. We think a great mistake is made in not putting an arc at the intersection of Garrafraxa and Durham road. The light would benefit in four directions as in few other places in town, and we hope the council have not finally decided against it. Not only the unanimous voice of the residents but many in all parts of the town would urge that this corner be supplied with an arc light.

"VISIT OF AN OLD CLACK."—Under this heading a recent issue of the "Highland News" published in Inverness, Scotland, refers as below to Mr. Jno. Cameron, who, with Mrs. Cameron, returned recently from their old country trip: "Mr. Jno. Cameron, representing the McLean Trade Journals, Toronto, is at present in Inverness with Mrs. Cameron on a visit to Mr. Cameron's native town. Mr. Cameron some fifty years ago received his early business training in Mr. McCullough's drapery establishment which at that time was situated on High Street. Mr. Cameron afterwards emigrated to Canada, and for a long period of years has travelled from the Atlantic to the Pacific on behalf of the newspapers he represents, which are recognized as the trade journals of the Dominion. Mrs. Cameron is a Nottingham lady. Mr. and Mrs. Cameron return to Canada in about seven days."

Presbyterian Anniversary Services.

The very best of weather prevailed on Sunday and the large church was taxed in the morning to accommodate the worshippers. An announcement by Rev. E. A. Henry, of Knox Church, Hamilton, conducted the service. In the nearly 10 years since he ministered here he has lost none of his earnestness or eloquence, and his western and other experiences have furnished him with a wealth of illustration which he puts to good advantage.

He preached from Acts 20: 28, "The Church of God, which he hath purchased with his own blood," which furnished him with three topics: it was a Divine church. Speaking to the first he said it was Divine in its ideals, it had not been promulgated by great men or under brilliant surroundings for often the slave and the serf had borne it afar in spite of the opposition of Kings. It was divine in its history and aspirations.

It was a purchased church, i. e., a reserved church, and should be a storehouse of good and Godlike ideas. The great end of the church was to influence home, school, shop, &c. so as to turn out men of character, who would not bend to base influences in politics or elsewhere. Too many Christians were simply on the roll, silent partners, contributing little or nothing to the great work. The church humanly speaking, was God's speciality and it was great strength to everyone to realize that he was part of a divine plan.

Then it was costly: "his blood" being the price. Everything worth having, costs; it costs to love and to lift. Life is measured by its lifting power. The dominant thought should not be to reach heaven ourselves, but to lift others. The germ of Christianity is to give to others. While it "costs" to be a Christian, the speaker earnestly pointed out that it costs also not to be a Christian, and he closed an able sermon by an appeal to the sinner as well as to the saint.

At the evening service the church was more crowded. An inspiring sermon was preached from John 6: 68, "To whom can we go but unto thee, thou hast the words of eternal life." The response to the pathetic enquiry of Jesus "Will ye also go away?" was at some time or other the persistent attitude of every searching soul. Some don't want theology, nor churches, but all want Christ. Texas a persistent question, couldn't be downed nor killed even by atheists. Men go to nature, but nature has a repellent as well as a benign side. Skeptics say go to humanity, but this is frail. Some say go to culture, but this is as a mocking voice to a suffering man. To go to philosophy, to theology, to history, was to discover some weakness; to go to modern materialism, to Eastern religion, was still unsatisfying, but every true heart searching leads to Christ and in him is found peace. We go to Christ for motive power, for love, for spiritual help, for spiritual rest. The question must be decided by all as it comes to all. "To whom can we go but unto thee."

THE MONDAY MEETING. The church was again crowded Monday evening. Mr. Farquharson occupied the chair and made an appropriate opening address reviewing the changes in the past years and the progress made to the present time, hopeful indications for the future. While the wide and sympathy of every man and woman were needed, they looked with confidence towards the boys and girls for the successes of the future.

Mr. Farquharson in introducing the speaker gave praise to the Durham people for their facility in not forgetting the typical specimen of humanity as viewed from all sides, under all conditions, from abnormal manifestations of physical, mental, and moral attributes. His weakness and worth, his trials and treatment, the respect he got and didn't get, &c. &c. were all humorously depicted, but with a serious undertone of earnestness. The speaker, the inquisitive boy, the unscrupulously irreverent boy, &c. A few of many good points were: "Have faith in him, you are dealing with soul and not with a body"; "Above all, have faith in him, faith in the boy and sympathy between parents and son, one of the greatest elements of success, and the most powerful thing in dealing with him was pure and wholesome love"; "A boy, asked under whose preaching he was converted, replied he was converted under his mother's preaching and no preaching. To demand obedience will make the boy rise and call you baseless. Without discipline, he will accomplish nothing. The boy should be prepared for his last trip as you would for any other journey. The problem of church and state is the boy. Very earnestly he closed by asking, "Are the boys in? From temptation? From sin? Are you and I helping him in?"

The lecture had many lessons, made a deep impression, and the vote of thanks was warmly concurred in. The vote of thanks to the choir was also well deserved for both Sunday and Monday their selections excellent, appropriate and inspiring. Mr. H. McDougall, now of Mr. Forest, the vocalist of the occasion, sang sweetly in solo and duet and his fine articulation.

The collections on Sunday were well up to $200, and the Monday evening voluntary amounted to $22.00 which paid expenses.
