TOPICS OF THE WEEK

-Hon. A. G. Blair 13 in Minnesota, investigating the working of Railway commissions as a guide for the important Canadian Commission of which he was recently appointed Chairman.

-Retaliation counts. Germany is Mr and Mrs Buchan and family spent asking from Canada favored nation treatment or her export trade here will be lost. It will be remembered that when Canada granted a preference to Britain, Germany was offended, and withdrew tariff favors from Canada. Two could play at this and Canada promptly placed a surtax on German goods. This surtax has hurt Germany so much. she now comes a suppliant for a return to the old conditions.

-Sunday hunting and shooting in the N. West Territories was prohibited until the famous decision of the Privy Council re the Ontario Lord's Day Act set it aside as being outside of provincial jurisdiction. Not to be baffled the government of the Territories introduced an amendment to the Game Act, making Sunday a "Close Season" for all game and birds under its protection throughout the year. Thus the government repaired the breach and both Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. John sides of the House applauded and gave Bradley (Lena Wolfe) on their union unanimous approval. Not so slow.

-Toronto is all excitement over the discovery of trands in the recent municipal election. The surprising vote of an unpopular Controller (an office worth $1000 a year) in one of the wards looked suspicious, and an investigation was entered upon which proved that personation had been largely perpetrated. Man after man has been found Miss Velma Williamson, of the RE- who swears he did not vote, yet his name is on the poll book as having done so, men absent from the city and even dead men voted, and now the cry is who is the criminal, and at least Mr. Don. Robertson left Wednesday one deputy has been arrested for conengaged in it. Then an ex alderman, of high standing, named Burns, has been discovered to have voted at more than one place, and he blames the officers, for making false entries, while they claim they know him well. From Mayor Urquhart downwards there is a cry for punishment and Judge Winchester has the situation in charge. The absence of a numbered ballot is regretted at this juncture, for by its means a sure hand would have been placed on the criminals.

> -A decided sigh of relief has been given by politicians at the announcement of a session, thus precluding the distasteful idea of a campaign among winter snows and frost. Notwithstanding heavy roads and hard weather Mr. H. H. Miller, the Reform candidate, has been meeting and making many friends in his canvass. He is wanted in several districts where many want to meet and become better acquainted with the man, chosen Liberat representative for the Commons, and in good time he will, without doubt cover the whole ground. His business motto for many years has been "Always prompt, never negligent," and he will certainly try to carry into the campaign the same principles. At present the state of the roads make almost prohibitive "getting around," in most parts of Ontario.

-The Legislature was opened last Thursday with great eclat, Lieut-Gov. Clark having introduced some spectacular features, unused for years. The formalities over, new members introduced, and the speeches of the mover and seconder of the address made, the House adjourned till Monday. Mr. of the progressive men of that new Whitney opened his criticism on the country and does a yery large imple- address in a vigorous speech, which ment business. "Many a good ship with a valuable cargo has come to port with barnacles and his talents freely to many worthy on it, but little is ever expected from a from social circles, concerts, &c., where pirate on board." This sally will not be forgotten for some time.

-A unique Commission is that which met in London for the first time last Friday. It was proposed and projected by Mr. Chamberlain and consists of 68 leading representatives of the trade and commerce of Great Britain. Its purpose is to ascertain facts bearing Priceville before returning. He gives on the wisdom of changing the Free

PARLIAMENT TO MEET.

The long guessing contest of the World and the Mail, as to when the General Elections would be held came to an end for a time on Saturday last when the following announcement appeared in the Globe in a special despatch from Ottawa: "The Government has been engaged for some days in considering certain modifications which have been asked by the Grand Trunk Railway Company to the contract entered into last session. The Government is of the opinion that such Grand Lodge and Priceville Lodge, No. discussed by Parliament, and therefore it is the intention of the Prime Minister Permit me to express my gratitude to advise his Excellency to call a session at an early lay.'

It will be noticed that this call seems for one specific purpose, and no doubt the weight of attention will be given to the railway question. At the same time it takes two to make a bargain, and the desire for a short session may be talked MARTHA A. STEPHENSON. down, if party rancor gets stirred up.
