"Now, that, I believe, has been reasoned out in this way; The original doves were rock doves and they laid white eggs in conformity with the natural law which ordains that color for most species of birds nesting in the dark, so that the female might readily see them when she comes into the gloom.

"You will find traces of this early instinct in the fact that wherever Central New York, is an old man there is a deserted rabbit warren you will find doves taking advantage of it to build their nests in the abandoned burrows. But whether in strange to many of us: "More than holes or trees the nests still con- one pastor has been displaced, more tain white eggs, which nature or- than one ministry sacrificed by dained for their rock dwelling an-

"Owis lay pale eggs for the same reason. They breed in the dark. "On the other hand the ducks, which so far as anybody knows, have aiways frequented the most open places also lay pale eggs without markings. But with them you will flad a greater tendency to revert to olive browns or sandy tints, the very color of the sand and shingles on which the eggs are found. "The egg shells of the plovers and similar beach breeders are exactly ground color, just as the partridge and pheasant eggs are the color of fallen leaves. And grouse, quail and moor fowl have eggs matching exactly in color with the brown stems of heather and the pine tree scales among which they lie.

"But there are blue and white and spotted eggs you can't explain. At least I can't satisfactorily. Anybody may start his own theories on the subject and find the problem endless. Solve it correctly and I think you will solve at the same time half a dozen other mysteries which have puzzled great scientists on this queer problem filled planet."

NEW WAYS IN CHINA.

Even Dowager Empress Rides About in an Automobile Nowadays.

The Boxers did the metropolis of Chi-li a good turn in 1900, when they besieged the foreign settlement, declared war on all the world, and brought down upon it the armies of eight great powers.

The presence of 100,000 foreign troops, with all their surprising activities and methods, waked up Tientsin and sent it spinning in the path of progress.. Local government by foreigners had free sweep in any municipal reforms or public works, and with the old native city laid flat and its walls destroyed, there was every chance to cut, widen and lay out roads as they were needed, to enlarge the French concession, make a Japanese, a German, and Russian settlement, and extend the model British settlement in the heart of the foreign city. Business houses, dwellings, banks and barracks have been built in every quarter, good roads lead in every direction over the mud plain, and Tientsin as it was When Senator Joe Blackburn was thing till I tried your MINARD'S stances would warrant.
