THE QUESTION OF BALDNESS.—This is a vital question with hundreds of men who are bald or partially so. How to overcome the disfigurement lent by baldness is a simple matter when you consider the perfection of modern art in the making of wigs and Toupees. The visit of Prof. Dorewend of Toronto to Durham on Wednesday, March 2 when he will be at Middaugh House, renders it possible for any who wish to consult him to do so at his private apartments retained at Middaugh House for this purpose. Descriptions given to show the perfect naturalness of his Wigs and Toupees. Do not miss this opportunity. Remember the day and date, Wednesday, March 2nd.

THE RUSSO-JAPANESE WAR.

Since our last issue no very striking events have occurred. Another Russian ship committed suicide by striking a mine, and the general carelessness or incapacity of the Russians is only equalled by the efficiency of the Japs. Port Arthur and the neighboring seaport of Dalny are both blocked completely by the Japanese fleet, or part of it, and Russian ships, except the few at Vladivostok, are helpless to do harm. The few at Vladivostok are reported to have been seen out, but have left no damage behind them except one merchantman destroyed.

Harbin, the point on the Siberian Ry. where two lines diverge to Port Arthur and Vladivostok respectively, is to be made Russian headquarters. Here will be massed men and supplies for a great movement in spring, and meanwhile, the little is known, Japan is not idle, and not likely to wait till her enemy is ready.

A report that 3000 Russians were drowned crossing Lake Baikal proved untrue. The railway is not completed round the lake which has to be crossed by boats in open weather and on the ice, on a temporary railway in winter. It is true apparently that 600 were frozen to death, and a train at a point near the lake ran into an avalanche causing some deaths.

Russian bitterness towards Britain is becoming more marked and efforts are being made to break the Anglo-French Alliance. The Bear is also smoothing Turkey down and would like to get its Black Sea fleet into the Mediterranean, a move which Britain would certainly resent.

France and Britain are working nicely together trying to keep Turkey and Bulgaria quiet. An ominous report says France is warning Spain that Britain is scheming to seize some of her ports and Spain has sent a force to the Canary Islands. Germany would go with Russia should there be a conflagration, and it is possible we may see the islands of Britain and Japan arrayed against the continents: a little terrier (or terror) on each side and the big bulldog between.

English speaking people so far are being entertained by the big show, but many a home in the two warring countries will soon know, already knows, in the words of the American general that "War is Hell." One may be excused for wishing that our country and our Empire may not be dragged into the flames.

HIGH TARIFF OR LOW TARIFF.

The Toronto "Sun" had the following article under the heading of "Unconverted" referring to the agitation among certain manufacturing interests for an increase in the tariff. The stand taken by Sir Wilfrid at Montreal should commend itself to the great producing classes of this country, notably the farming population. Here is the article:

"Sir Wilfrid Laurier, on Saturday at Montreal, broke his long silence on the question of the tariff. He argued at length against an imitation of the tariff of the United States, which has of late been somewhat skillfully promoted by the Manufacturers' Association and the Daughters of the Empire, and has been aided not a little by fiscal reformers like Mr Charlton, who see in the mere threat of a prohibitive Canadian tariff a means of inducing the United States to come to reciprocity, or some sort of fair trading. Sir Wilfrid said: "They (the Conservatives) want us to be the vile copyists of the fiscal policy of the United States." The Americans were in everything inclined to exaggeration. This exaggeration was to be met everywhere in their literature, in their Parliamentary debates, and, more than all, in their fiscal policy. Their protection pushed to its very limit, had had disastrous effects. Our country was superior to that of our neighbors, our climate productive of strong men, our resources immense, our institutions freer, and our fiscal policy better. This is all in line with Sir Wilfrid's stand of late on the Alaskan decision, the treaty-making power, and the command of the militia, and shows that he has determined to meet all charges of discourtesy or disloyalty to the Empire by appealing to Canadianism. If the Liberal leader's apparent confidence is warranted, Mr Borden may one of these days find himself leading in a forlorn hope the protected manufacturers, the Daughters of the Empire, and the Upper Canada Old Boys.

Hardly a ray of hope was let fall on the manufacturers. "A day," Sir Wilfrid said, "will come when the Government will perhaps be obliged to make some changes in the present tariff, but then I think we will accomplish our task, as we did in 1897, for the general welfare of all classes." After this assurance the tariff reformer will have more hope of a cutting down of duties on the day after never than fear of a rise in the duties in cottons and woolsens. At all events, this timely and clear statement will remove the apprehension of many that in the matter of the tariff, as in some others, parties were going to outbid each other. There will hereafter be a clear issue. It remains to be seen whether the manufacturers will live up to their assurances that they are non-political. They have raised and spent their missionary fund, and the heathen is unconverted. Will they now abstain from vengeance?"

The following from the Toronto World of Feb. 12, is also pregnant with meaning; Under the heading "Liberal Breaks Away," "Can't support Sir Wilfrid Because Protection is needed" it publishes this Montreal despatch:

"Montreal, Que., Feb. 11.—I have supported Sir Wilfrid Laurier since 1896, but I now see that the Premier and his colleagues do not intend to adequately protect the Canadian industries. Therefore, I have come to the conclusion to throw in my lot with Mr Bergeron, the protectionist candidate."

"These words coming from a Liberal manufacturer, J. M. Fortier, will throw consternation amongst the Liberals of St. James' division. Mr Fortier took the chair this evening at a great rally held in the east end in favor of Mr Bergeron. He made a speech as well. He had supported Sir Wilfrid because he was a compatriot. He could do this no longer, and would in future look after his own interests as well as those of his employes and the people generally."

Mr. Tarte, like Mr. Fortier, has left the Reform party to support the Conservatives because he favors higher protection and increased duties.

Mr. Fortier says that as a manufacturer he will in future look after his own interests and vote Conservative to obtain a greater degree of protection and, in consequence, a higher price for his goods.

What are our Canadian farmers going to do? Will they in future look after their own interests, or will they look after the interest of Mr Fortier and other wealthy manufacturers and support a Conservative administration that will increase the burdens of the farmer by imposing heavier duties on agricultural machinery and tools, on hardware, boots and shoes and the many other articles that the comparatively unprotected farmer and working man find necessary to buy?
