TORONTO'S GREAT FIRE.

Our brief notice last week gave but a faint idea of the extent of the great disaster which has overtaken the Queen city. The fire is the third largest in the history of this continent, being exceeded only by Chicago and Baltimore fires. The area destroyed is about 15 acres of the best business blocks in the city, the centre of the wholesale trade of the province, stretching from within half a block of King street to the Esplanade and from Lorne St and Queen's Hotel on the west nearly to Yonge St on the east.

The Queen's was not destroyed but was in imminent danger, being on fire at several points, but by dint of private effort, using wet blankets over windows, &c. it escaped. Private effort, too, was largely the means of saving the Telegram building, while the praiseworthy efforts of the brave firemen were largely handicapped by insufficient pressure, not being able to throw higher than the 3rd story.

As far as known no life was lost. The chief of the Fire Brigade got his leg broken early in the fight, and about a dozen are more or less injured. As soon as possible dynamite was used to tear down dangerous walls and several accidents have resulted from that.

The insurance companies have met to adjust losses and are paying promptly. They have decided on an increase in rates amounting to about 75 per cent, and is to apply to other cities as well, so the evil of the fire will be felt outside of Toronto. Indeed the whole province will be affected for already the price of lumber and other building material has advanced.

We quote a piece of a Globe editorial written under the immediate shadow of the disaster: "Indescribable in its terrors, irresistible in its force, and calamitous beyond any disaster that has yet overtaken Toronto, was the great fire that last night swept through the wholesale centre of the city, leaving in its wake acres of smoking ruins, where a few hours before there had been huge warehouses and factories filled with the costliest of merchandise."

"Thank God, the wind blew toward the lake, or the story of Toronto's loss would have been written among the great fires of history. At this writing the fire area probably includes thirty acres, bounded roughly by Lorne St. and the Queen's Hotel on the west, the Esplanade on the south, and midway between King and Wellington on the north. Eastward the fire still rages, in spite of the utmost efforts to stay it, and there is no longer any doubt that a large part of the block between Bay and Yonge, south of Wellington, has been destroyed."

"The wind was a gale from the north-west, but veered at times almost to the northeast. In the main, however, the course of the fire is from the northwest, and the strip blotted out of the heart of Toronto is almost 500 feet wide by a quarter of a mile long."

THE NEW MILITIA BILL.

The new Militia Bill now before Parliament has evidently been prepared by men who are of the opinion that Canada should be patterned after the armed camps of Europe. The Bill provides for increasing the permanent corps from 1,000 to 2,000 men; it makes all men, not exempt or disqualified from 18 to 60 years of age, liable to military service, unmarried men from 18 to 30 being liable to the first call to serve, unmarried men between 30 and 45 coming second, married men between 18 and 45 third, and those 45 to 60 being called fourth. The exemptions include members of Parliament, Deputy Ministers, the Clergy, officers engaged in collecting revenue jail and asylum wardens, telegraph clerks, professors in colleges and teachers in religious orders, only sons of widows, those bodily or mentally infirm, and people whose religious duties prohibit them from taking part in war.

In addition to this all lads between 12 and 18 are liable to enrollment as cadets. If sufficient volunteers are not available, even in time of peace, resort shall be had to ballot, and men so chosen must serve themselves or provide an acceptable substitute.

Rifle clubs shall be liable to call in case of emergency.

The period of drill in each year may be anywhere from 12 to 30 days.

In case of emergency a duly authorized officer may take possession of land for field works, destroy crops, remove stock, tear down buildings, or do whatever else seemeth right. Compensation for such destruction is to be allowed.

Even in time of peace roads, not being mail roads, may be closed during target practice.

Troops may be quartered in private houses provided the buildings are not exclusively occupied by females.

Cold Storage at Creameries.

The Dominion Department of Agriculture calls the attention of creamery owners to the following facts:

1. A large proportion of butter for export is not cooled to a sufficiently low temperature before leaving the creamery. Investigations by this department during the last two years have shown that the temperature of butter on its arrival at the railway stations varied between 40 and 60 degrees F.

2. It is very important that butter be cooled to the centre of the box at a temperature below 38 degrees F. as soon as possible after being manufactured. Every moment that butter is left at a high temperature lessens its keeping qualities. Butter left at a high temperature for some time is SUBJECT TO A RAPID DETERIORATION on its arrival in Great Britain. The Refrigerating compartments of steamers are not intended to cool warm butter and such butter does not get sufficiently chilled before arriving in England.

3. In order to lower the temperature of the butter below 38 degrees it is not sufficient to lower the temperature of the refrigerator one or two days before the shipping of butter. Butter boxes should be exposed to a temperature below 38 degrees for at least five or six days.

4. The way to find out the temperature of the butter is by putting a reliable thermometer into a box of butter. The butter maker should not be guided entirely by the temperature maintained in the cold storage room.

5. Two hours of exposure to the heat of the sun will lessen considerably the keeping qualities of butter. Butter should be protected from the heat of the sun during transport from the creamery to the railway station. The butter maker should find out the hour at which the refrigerator car is to pass so that butter may not have to stand a long time on the station platform or in a warm shed.

6. A well built cold storage room may be kept at a temperature below 38 degrees F. with a mixture of salt and ice. Creamery owners who wish to improve their refrigerators may obtain necessary specifications by applying to this department.

This department will extend the offer of the bonus of $100 for the building and maintenance of Creamery refrigerators for the season of 1904. Creamery owners who build a cold storage room according to satisfactory plans this spring will be entitled to the first instalment of the bonus at the end of the season of 1904, provided that they observe the following conditions meanwhile:

- (1) Manufacture of at least 2000 lbs of butter per month.
- (2) Maintenance of temperature of cold storage room at a sufficiently low degree.
- (3) Forwarding of monthly reports to this department showing temperature maintained, and quantity of butter manufactured.

Plans and specifications for the construction of cold storage rooms and blank form of reports of temperature will be mailed to any address on application to this department.
