Making the Fairs Educational,

Three years ago when Mr F W Hod son, Live Stock Commissioner, pointed out to the annual meeting of the Association of Fairs and Exhibitions the utter inefficiency of many of the agricultural societies of Ontario, and unfolded a systematic plan of improvement, he was looked upon by many of the delegates as a dangerous iconoclast. The fact that fairs which received government grants were intended to be educational seemed to be almost fergotten, and the proposal to arrange the fair in convenient circuits and send them experjudges who would give educational addresses in the ring was considered inpracticable by many. Still the project was taken up in an experimental way and the results have been so satisfactory that this year it is expected that about 170 agricultural societies in Ontario will arrange with the provincial Department of Agriculture for the services of expert judges. Last year 152 societies in that province were supplied with judges, while in the other provinces and the Territories many of the fairs had expert judges furnished by the local and Dominion Departments of Agriculture.

From past experience there is reason to believe that had Laurier made this a cry, the opposition would have opposed it. It will be a popular cry, in some places, probably in the West, but the complete turn over of Mr Borden from his patchwork seheme of a tew months ago, will ultimately lead the thoughtful to trust to the bargain just ratified by parliament in which the principle of public
