Christ Crucified .- Mark 1:: 22-39.

Commemtary .- I. The journey to Calvary (c. 22), 22. They bring Him-Pilate's sentence is supposed to have been given about eight o'clock in the morning. The Jews must have taken Jesus and started for the cross almost immediately. "In advance was a soldier carrying a white wooden board on which was written the nature of the crime. Next came four soldiers, under a centurion, with the hammer and the nails, guarding Jesus, who bore, as always in such cases, the cross on which He was to suffer. Then came two robbers, each bearing his cross, and guarded by four soldiers. They were followed by

"Amid the most solemn scene of human history, the unconscious actors down to gamble. The legacy in worldly things left by Jesus was very small. 25. Phird hour - Nine o'clock in the morning. They crucified Him-His hands and feet were nailed to the cross (Luke xxiv. 39-40), and then it was lifted and sunk into the ground with a sudden shock, producing great pain. "The feet of the sufferer were only a foot or two

26. Superscription - The tablet nailed upon the cross, above the head of the victim, to declare the crime for which He was crucified "It was a common custom to affix a label to the cross giving a statement of the crime for which the person suffered."-Clarke. Was written -Pilate wrote this superscription evidently in derision (John xix.. 49). It was written in Hebrew for the Jews. In Greek for the foreigners and visiters, in Latin for the Romansi "Power, culture and plety in their noblest forms pay homage at the feet of Jesus." King of the Jews-The words are somewhat different in the different gospels, probably because some of the writers copied from one language and some from another. The truth was proclaimed in jest; Jesus is in fact, a King, with many been open to foless the people, and crowns. 27. PRACTICAL SURVEY. History presents no theme comgreat end of His death.

The Jews who had the light of Moses and the prophets, were exsit Pecting the Saviour. They had heard and seen the teachings and miracles of Christ. Yet because His purity of life and teaching contrasted with their own depravity and sin they hated Him without cause. They refused to acknowledge His righteousness, they clamored for His life, they bore false witness to convict Him, and persevered until He was condemned by Pllate, whom the historian declares was a "base, sor- cided to cut a canal between Sturdid and oppressive ruler." Yet base as he was he endeavored to release Christ from the hands of those who professed to be awaiting His coming. Crucifixion was a Roman punishment which was never inflicted but upon the most debased characacters. It was therefore associated with the deepest infamy, and to this death was the immaculate Saviour consigned by the judicial authority of Plate, as against His judgment, understanding and conscience, simply will erect a new depot and locomoto gratify the carnal hate and envy
