onto fire briesterday for ce has been nmission Inpractices in

n. living ta was arrested

caving com-

on the night

25 in Richand dangerarmy. The h have been . The plot sples delivweek Can-0.000, Austates 2,000. that, in a box of was whipge station the Police ace of the her adminie case iz of the On-

T. D. Jarand Mr. he profeseen offered of the Or-ocious. sh Post at atch from ne details rangma killed and al British ribes the at dawn, two solid coops had from the e fortifick to covused to harge, of ns. After WHI CUIL from the ed the mb over, cop-holes even seiz-he attack e ulmost drew, the he Thibet Gyangvas heavis killed.

rotruding

hind kept

tehblock;

Robber to ording to Haban ored man resterday ks he had per. The e Arthur criminal coss the nd into sprang bound him of iself, and obaston. Windsor. intil the of Masis town. ore Mag-. Plended. ttil Mon-rth Geris decidssengers stry to sen shifr-Amerigassen-. where and for mto will og their te Star. I Amerce that to New est Monto Philne of the is statssengers Worn as iich will nk twice be fashays ago nistry of ding to Stionable. omen of and the use his might ordinary rent, but reported lian ladto loden s explato win it, as

Steerage

Min Sul-

Violet's Lover

Moreover, he believed it to be quite | Martin touched his forehead impossible that after the fracas Sir Felix. Owen could continue his business re- "If you could persuade the master lations with himself and his father; to stay at home this morning, you a man might forgive much, but would do him a service, sir," he said. knocking a person down was a ser- "Indeed, my lady," he continued, turnlous matter. So, when the sunshine ing to Lady Chevenix. "Sir Owen came peeping into his room, Felix could hardly manage Bonnie Bess this had quite made up his mind that that morning, his hands are so shaky." would be his last day at the Hall.

that Sir Owen would be glad to see follow you." Mr. Lonsdale in his own room. That, "Never mind," said Felix to himself,

"if I were placed in such circum- for me," she said, pleadingly. stances again, I should do just the "You may be sure that I will," same, and perhaps more." He went immediately to the bar- away. onet's room. As he passed from one He might as well have appealed room to another, he could not help to a rock. All that he said Sir admiring the magnificence and lux- Owen laughed to scorn. ury of the house; it was simply su- "Something happen to me?" perb, and the morning sun shining cried. "Yes, I know what it will be,

He entered Sir Owen's room quite Felix looked attentively at the ing for, his dismissal; but his heart "I was never afraid of a horse has happened; I must send out a was touched when he saw the trem- yet," he said; "but I would not few of the servants." bling figure before him. Sir Owen, ride that one." bad enough; Sir Owen in the morn- did not return, came to see how they will return together soon." ing light, trembling, weak and hag- matters were progressing. She gard, was worse. Felix quietly await- gave a little cry of alarm when Even as he spoke they heard a coned the beginning of the storm; but, to his surprise, Sir Owen held out his hand. The young lawyer would mount him. not see it; he felt that he could never touch a hand that had been raised against a woman. "I am really very sorry, Lonsdale," Sir Owen began. "I am afraid I was too much excited over the tenants' face with his lips. dinner, and forgot myself. I am very sorry. I hope that I was not offensive to you.'

ed," thought Felxi to himself. "I must | me!"

"You were not offensive to me, Sir Ix interposed. Owen," he said, "but you behaved "I should enjoy a gallop this fine with the greatest brutality to Lady morning, Sir Owen," he said. "Shall a rush of terrified servants, and wo-Chevenix. You struck her with such I go with you?" violence that I was compelled to interfere." There was something ruefully comic myself very well indeed."

about the baronet's face.

understand how I could have so for- proach themselves in after-days that once saw the cause of the commotion. gotten myself. But I am very unfor- they had not done their best; but A crowd of men stood round a litter, shake hands and be friends?" in the business, Sir Owen; but excuse my shaking hands with you." The baronet laughed uneasily. and then turned the conversation. Felix, despite his disgust, felt a great plty for him; it was not lessened when he saw his valet come to him with a bottle and a glass. "Take less of that, Sir Owen," he sald, "or you will kill yourself." "Well, I have to die, and I may just as well die taking what I like as taking medicine. Some men have more to live for than I have. I am very fond of my wife, but she does the saddle. no child. I really believe, Lonsdale, right," he told her. "I may be rather man if I had a child." Owen. You have your duty to do the groom, "do not leave your mason earth; yet more, you must think ter for one moment. Do what you of a future life," said Felix. "I can pay other men to do my duty ;and, as to a future life-well, I have not been able to decide about that yet." "It is high time you did so," said Felix, gravely; and Sir Owen to-day?

have to be signed this morning." morning, because I do not feel like myself. I am out of spirits; a cloud good gallop, and see if I cannot clear away the heaviness." Felix went to his work, which on this morning was in the library; and before he had been there very long Laddy Chevenix entered. "I did not know that you were here," she said. "Shall I be in the way? I have some letters to write." He placed a chair for her, and much ashamed of himself when he saw the bruise on his wife's face. returned to him anxiously. He took her to the great oriel window, and they stood there for said. "I have told them to keep back some time talking; then Lady Chevenix came back to her place, and Sir Owen went out of the room. The man stood before her, cap in hand. "My lady," he said, "I beg your pardon; I must make bold enough to ask you to interfere. Sir Owen -he will go out riding this morning. That is all good and fair, my lady; but he will ride the new hunter, Plantagenet, and he is no more fit for it than a child. "You had better tell him so, Martin," returned Lady Chevenix. "My lady, I have told him over and over again. The more I tell him, the more he will go."

"Thank you, Martin," she respond-

His ideas were confirmed when a ed; "it was very thoughtful of you servant, tapping at his door, said to come to me. Mr. Lonsdale will When the groom had retired she he believed, was a prelude to his dis- went up to Felix and laid her hand upon his arm. 'I know that you will do your best returned Felix; and then he went through the windows made it more I shall come home cured of the beautiful still. He little guessed what 'blues!' I am going to gallop dull that same sun would see before it care away, and Plantagenet shall help me."

> Lady Chevenix, finding that Felix she saw the great powerful hunter fused noise at the grand entrance and her husband preparing to

"Owen," she cried, "my dear, do not attempt it! Pray, pray do "Good-bye, Violet. Do not make a scene. I have said that I will ride Plantagenet, and I mean to do

"He has forgotten what happen- so; nothing on earth shall prevent She cried aloud in her distress. Fel-

"As my head-nurse, eh, Lonsdale!

No, thank you. I can take care of For more than half an hour the "I ought to be much obliged to you, three-the true friend, the auxious said, "with this noise. Let no one I am sure," he said. "I love my wife, and the faithful servant reas, go near her." tunate when I exceed my usual al- their words were as vain as the beat- and on the litter lay Sir Owen. Felix lowance of wine, Lonsdale. You will ing of tiny wavelets against a pushed them aside. Lady Chevenix could effect was that Then he uttered a little cry of dis-"I am willing to forget my share Plantagenet, and there was an end answer wt "No."

said, "I will do so." He thought him- "What has happened?" she said. can now go about his work as though "You are very particular," he said, "III it will please you, Violet," he his side. self very good-natured in giving "Tell me the worst."

me this once."

He kissed Her, and then got into not care much about me; and I have | "I shall be back to dinner all that I should be quite a different late, for I shall ride round by Parkerly Copse. "You have plenty to live for, Sir | "Martin," said Lady Chevenix to > can. back to his writing. Violet retired to the ring sence. The church clock to her own room, to while the time at Lil ord had chimed hal -past seven. Laredo, Tex., is proof that it is possification freight hauling that has been wrought at Lil ord had chimed hal -past seven. away with a book.

us talk about something more sensible. Are you going to work again a faint wail in the summer wind the fence was too high for any horse, it should be which to the weather-wise heralded even the best in the kingdom, to take. of that border town a fine of from $5 to sought to haul with engines of the old-The work has to be done and I a storm. The shadows lengthened, by lady he pover would listen He would not listen. He would listen He would lis suppose I must do it. The leases and Felix had not left the library; he had partaken of a biscuit and a "I will sign them before I go," glass of sherry there, as he was anxcompletely finished by six o'clock, Plantagenet would not take it. A thorities in this little Texas town be- "Of course the big locomotive is vastly thorities in this little Texas town besaid Sir Owen. "I am going out this lous to get his work done. He had and on going in search of Sir Owen is hanging over me. I shall have a was told that he had not yet returned. Lady Chevenix was in her room. He would have been glad if he could have gone home then; he did not care to remain for the long formal dinner and long formal even-

Still he was unwilling to leave Lady Chevenix until her husband returned.

The first bell rang, and he went to his room. Sir Owen, he was told, the soft cheek was the mark of a had not returned, and her ladyship seemed anxious about him. After a little while Felix went into the "It is not very painful," she said, drawing-room, where Lady Cheven x Presently Sir Owen came in to sat, dressed for dinner, looking susign the papers. He seemed very perby beautiful in a dinner-dress of blue velvet and a suite of pearls. She "Sir Owen has not returned," she the dinner until he comes. He saw that she was terribly anxious, and did his best to cheer her. Violet and Felix went on writing He went to the balcony, where roses in silence, when there came a tap and jasmine grew in wild profusion. at the door. Sir Owen's groom "Come and look at these flow-> could keep her attention engaged un- them for a time, She was very unwilltil Sir Owen returned, how well it ing to do so. spare her. She turned to him suddetily. happened?" she asked. "Ought I swered; and she went away. to send servants out to look for Sir go and try to persuade Sir Owen not! thing that he had missed. In reality to ride that horse? It is a highly the gave directions for four of the method animal, and he has never ridlen it you."

It is a highly the gave directions for four of the members always knew that it would be efficiency of the roads in the hauling of their sway in Asia.—Harold Bolce, in "Part of it," replied the returned solutions for four of the gave directions for four of the members always knew that it would be efficiency of the roads in the hauling of their sway in Asia.—Harold Bolce, in "Part of it," replied the returned solutions for four of the gave directions for four of the gave di and then he returned to Lady Che-"I am growing terribly frightened, Felix," she said. In this hour of supreme anxiety all barriers seemed to have fallen between them. She forgot that he as one in whom she put infinite trust-in whom she had infinite faith. He was once more the Felix on whom she had relied from her childhood upward.

"I do not think you need be alarmed, Lady Chevenix, and for this reason-Martin is with him. If anything had happened to Sir Owen the groom would have hastened back; of that you may be quite sure." The thought, was reassuring, and past, and Felix persuaded Lady to frighten her." to himself, she would be better able | "I begin to have every hope," he lay the old-time locometives a total lead that one great capitary requisite to meet it after dining. She was said; "there is not much the mat- by the old-time locomotives, a total load very unwilling at first, but after a ter, I think. Certainly there are of 600 tons. time she consented, and dinner was neither broken limbs nor bruises. I

Lady Chevenix was relieved.

Felix. "Sir Owen has called in some- bathe his head, and try to get some about 140,000 pounds; or, to put these from shallow or surface wells, yet where, and they have persuaded him brandy between his lips. I do not engine weights in tons, while the old such water is always classified as esems to me not unreasonable." liant—the table where Lady Cheve him; but as he lay there, white, si- loaded cars, and these cars are heavier snow water. Shallow wells are usnix had undergone so many humil- lent, and kelpless, a keen sense of than old-time cars, and are carrying wally placed quite close to the houses lations. It was but a farce; neither | pity and compassion for him awoke of them could eat.

Eight o'clock chimed, and no other sound broke the summer silence. "I can not sit here any longer doing nothing," said Lady Chevenix. "I am quite sure now that something

"I have done that," Felix told her. "All that is possible has been done; His words were prophetically true.

cries of women, and the deep voices Felix never forgot Violet. She rose Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, but I feel it But, while such highly economical from her seat, and stood hesitating my duty to do so." These are the cars have now come into use, the great for one moment, pale as death. Then words which Mr. Edmund Lavoie, of St. majority of the cars running throughout evident anxiety, and touched her she turned to the door. But Felix was Jerome, Que., lately addressed to the the country have not yet been brought ing in the hall was most assuredly lating the story of his cure. Mr. Latake the cars as you actually find them something which she must not see. voie is well known in St. Jerome, and running to-day you would find them to "Sit down, Lady Chevenix," he said. what he says carries weight among average a length of about thirty-five feet be little better than cesspools. From "You must not go out there. Let me those who know him. For a consider and a weight of fifteen tons, as against 100 to 200 samples a year are ansee what is wrong." She did not seem to understand him; but he placed her in a chair, and then opened the door. There was oh, my lady!" He held up his hand with an imperative gesture. "You will kill Lady Chevenix," he He took one step forward, and at sturdy rock. Sir Owen would ride | "Is he dead?" ne asked; and the citement, Martin forced his way the bowels and sets the whole digestive freight weight carried to the dead sonous character, is the very ma-fore Lady Chevenix and Felix. he is brought home so.'

"Tell Lady Chevenix how it harrened," directed Felix, hastily. "Sir Owen rode nearly all the time! Brockville, Ont. my lady, and I rode by his side. We went all round Lilford, Haberiy and "I will, my lady," he replied; "but Rirdale. He stopped at Ripdale, and With a heavy heart Lady Chevenix home by the woods, and the horse Texas Town Shows it Possible to set down at eighty-five to ninety. I misdoubt me it will end badly." | took some refreshment. Then he came He turned to me and said, 'Mar- ble to rid a town of mosquitoes. In or- with the aid of the modern freight loco- we can detect. Yours very truly, refused. He whipped it and spurred germs of yellow jack are carried by mos- many trains on the roads that they put the horse at the fence, and it ! be put it at the fence again. But Plantagenet would not take it. A Thereties in this little Towns that I be practically blocked. third time he used the whip and spur lieve that both can be avoided by enforc- more economical. It costs twice as much third time he went at the fence. The The people of Larede have learned that horse tried his best, but his forefeet caught the top, and he fell over, the propogation of messagitoes but that carried him home." "How long will it take you," he obvious advice is: Get rid of the watsaid, "to ride to Lilford, and bring er or cover it with a screen. back two doctors '?'

half," replied Martin. no time .You, John, go to Oldstone danger. In Laredo there would be no station, and send a telegram to Sir crusade against mosquoties were it not William Daly, the great London phy- for the fact that the health authorities sician. The address is Hyde Park and the people generally are convinced Gardens. Say what has happened, that the insects transmit the germs of wanted to know if he might speak ers, Lady Chevenix," he said. "I read ask him to come at once. You, yellow fever. to her ladyship for a few minutes. a beautiful legend about the jas | Stephen, go for Mrs. Haye. Take | It has been declared by the city country hade him come in ... Lady Chevenix bade him come in. | mine the other day." And while she the carriage, so that she can return | cil of Loreda that all wells, cisterns, would be-how much pain it would I ought to be with him, Felix," she said; "I ought, indeed." "Do you think anything can have is right to send for you," he an- is true in several other Texas towns al-

They carried the baronet into a was his mother's nurse, sir," she added, speaking to Felix, "and I nursed him until he was three years old. He never would listen-never-and it has come at last." The men took off his clothes, and placed him between the fine linen sheets. Felix examined him attendeceived. She thought of him only tively; he could discover no bruise, easily with many times the load hauled no wound. But for the pallor of his face he might have been asleep. "I begin to hope, Horton," he said to the butler, "that there is not much the matter. I cannot see a wound. He is stunned with the fall." "I am afraid, sir, that it is more [000 to 60,000 pounds. In those days the farms, cheese factories and cream-

Felix took out his watch. "It is just a quarter past nine," maximum load carried to a car was ten he replied. "It will take two hours and a half to a train was 25 or 30.

to stay. Try to imagine that; it think there is very much the matter. Lady Chevenix went up to her hus-Ing-table, where the silver plate and band, and knelt down by his side. weighs about 173 tons, and this giant water is ground water, derived by the richly-cut glass looked so bril- She had never professed any love for locomotive can haul on a level road 100 seepage through soil of the rain or > in her heart. She took his hands in her own and rubbed them. "Owen," she said-"my dear, try to They brought brandy; Felix gave for example, is 40 feet long, and weighs sooner or later carried by seepage speak to me." it to him himself with a spoon-and nineteen tons.

(To be Continued.) DYSPEPSIA CURED.

A Severe Sufferer Tells How He Overcame the Trouble.

"Not only do I not hesitate to de- results, to increase the car capacity in clare the benefit I have received from proportion to the weight of the car. dyspepsia, which caused severe head- freight car. aches, pains in the stomach and some- "As to the load now carried, it is and when the headaches attacked him time total of twenty tons, he had to quit work. For six months, mentally more than can be imagined. to-day of sixty loaded cars, which is far nell mentioned that out of a dozen through the group, and stood be- system in a healthy, vigorous state. weight is larger still.

WAR ON MOSQUITOES

The sunny hours of the beautiful tin, I shall take that fence der to do this concerted action is neces- motive. all that the parsons say is true. Let day worn on; no cloud came over us talk about something more sensitive smiling heavens; yet there was I prayed him not. I told him is a thing heavens; yet there was I prayed him not. I told him is a thing heavens; yet there was I prayed him not.

master being underneath him, my the insects are betched in a thousand and lady. When I went to raise him, I the insects are hatched in a thousand and "The big engine can be run by the was afraid he had been crushed inwas arraid he had been crushed in-to a shapeless mass, but he was not; If your next-door neighbor throws a little one, and with power brakes on the nor was he killed, for I felt his heart tin can into the back yard, and rain watbeating. I had a flask of brandy in er accumulates in the can and remains ger train. Labor costs much more than but Baby's Own Tablets is the best I beating. I had a mask of brandy in there for even a few hours, the result it for Ay did, and the big engine burns have ever used. I have been giving them by pocket and I put it to his lips— there for even a few hours, the result it for Ay did, and the big engine burns have ever used. I have been giving them my pocket and I put it to his hip to be a small swarm of mos- more fuel and, of course, the cost of he could not swallow it. I had to is likely to be a small swarm of mos- more fuel and, of course, the cost of he could not swallow it. I gail de quitoes on your premises within a surther while I galloped off quitoes on your premises within a surther supplies needed for the running of to the nearest cottage and gave the prisingly short time. Cisterns and barthe big train is greater and so is the alarm. Then we made a litter, and rels of water, pools or rain water standing in gutters or in flower-pots are favorite places for mosquitoes to breed. The

The difficulty is, of course, that it is "I can do it in two hours and a impossible to secure concerted action to fight mosquitoes according to this meth-"Go at once," said Felix, "and lose od, except under stress of great public

Moreover, the law is being enforced. The result is that mosquitoes are practicully unknown in that town. The same

GIANTS OF THE RAILROAD

Locomotives Are Far More Powerful Than in Early Days.

(New York Sun.) "The giant freight locomotive of today," said a railroad man, "walks away by the freight engine of 25 years ago, The Farm Well-The Cheese and it has simply revolutionized the freight traffic business.

"The old-time freight engines weighed from 60,000 to 90,000 pounds, exclusive of the tender, which weighed from 45, than that. What time is it now?" f. eight cars were from 26 to 28 feet long, their average weight was ten tons, the tons, and the average number of cars to bring the doctors here; that will "Call the number of cars to a train ing distributed by Mr. J. A. Rudmake it a quarter to twelve. My lady thirty, for the sake of illustration, and dick, chief of the dairy division, Ot-Seven o'clock struck and then half- might come in, sir. There is nothing say that each car was loaded to its maximum capacity, and you have a train of of theese factories and creameries, cars weighing 300 tons, carrying a load Dr. Connell, bacteriologist at the

"The big modern freight locomotive neither broken limbs nor bruises. I weighs from 195,000 to 220,000 pounds, deep wells, springs, treeks and riv-"I know what I think myself," said has been stunned by the fall. We will exclusive of the tender, which weighs modern engine, with its tender complete, reason for this simply is that such much heavier loads.

"There are now made box cars of a ply, and thus the soil in their neighcapacity of forty tons, and on some borhood is apt to become contamroads of fifty tons. The forty-ton car, inated, and this contamination is

"Observe that the capacity of this car is an excellent filtering and cleansswallowed It. Felix looked at Violet, is more than double the weight of the ing agent, but it is hardly able to car itself, while in the old-time car, while dispose of a certain amount of conthe capacity and the weight of the car taminating material. Such disposal equal, there was as much dead weight hauled as freight. In all modern carbuilding by better and more scientific construction a constant effort has been niade, and with increasingly successful before her. That which was happen- editor of L'Avenir du Nord, when re- up to as high a standard. If you should able time he was a great sufferer from the old-time twenty-eight foot, ten-ton alyzed at the chemical laboratory of times nausea. Sometimes he felt as pretty difficult to strike an average, but though he would suffocate, he would be- that could probably be set down at come dizzy, and experienced ringing twenty-five tons, as against the old-time noises in the ears. His appetite became maximum ten-ton load, making the prespoor, and his general health so bad that he found it almost impossible to work, the found it almost impossible to work, ther weigh forty tons, against the old-"And now if you will take a train of

During this time he took medicine from below the average for level roads, you factory waters sent him last sumseveral doctors, but found no help. Then will find a big engine hauling a train of mer not one was found fit for use, one day he read of the cure of a similar twice as many cars as were hauled in All were badly contaminated, and for case through the use of Dr. William's an old-time train, and these loaded cars drinking purposes would be imme-Pink Pills, and decided to try them. He weighing twice as much, or sixty cars of diately condemned. used the pills for a couple of months a total load of forty tons each, as

"And don't forget that while in the The digestive organs—like all the oth- 600-ton load more than 50 per cent. was afterward that she went up to him his horse; and Martin says the er organs of the body—get their strength dead weight, in the 2,400-ton load the horse fell on him " cried a dozen and nourishment from the blood. Dr. dead weight is only about 38 per cent. Williams' Pink Pills actually make new and the revenue weight about 92 per face washings flowing in. As Prof. And then, his eyes dim with tears, blood. This new blood strengthens the cent. And, as we have seen, in the most this mad idea—anything. Do please his whole frame trembling with ex-

"My lady," he said, "I wish I had health. That is why Dr. William's Pink a train of sixty average cars. But, as I barnyard, privy, etc., is always loadbeen dead before this day came round. Pills always bring good health to those have said, that would be far below the led with countless millions of bac-You sent me to take care of him, and who use them. You can get these pills average of the number of cars hauled teria. It is impossible to turn out who use them. You can get these pills average of the number of cars hauled the products where such from your medicine dealer or by mail at by great trunk lines running through first-class dairy products where such 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by level regions. On such lines they have water is used, so even from the dolwriting The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., trains of 100 loaded cars, making the lars-and-cents standpoint, improveweight hauled, say, 4,000 tons; and ment in this respect is imperative. trains of ninety-five loaded cars are not uncommon, and the average number of cars to a train on such roads might be

"These figures are largely approxi-

"The great locomotives have increased the efficiency of the railroads in many It is pretty well established that the have now to handle, there would be so creased expense is spread over so much freight hauled that the actual cost of hauling has been reduced and freight is now hauled cheaper than ever.

"The great modern freight locomotive couldn't be used on roads as they used to build them, and so they lay nowadays far heavier rails than formerly, where and shrines and sustaining ancient cerethey used to put down rails of fifty or sixty pounds to the yard they now lay 100-pound rails to sustain the added weight of the great engine. these great engines to run on, very difin handling them when off the road. In stood by his side he related it to her.

The anxious look fell from her face, and her eyes lost their strained, intended expression. He thought, if he herged of Lady Chevenix to leave tent expression. He thought, if he herged of Lady Chevenix to leave tent expression. He thought, if he herged of Lady Chevenix to leave tent expression. He thought, if he herged of Lady Chevenix to leave tent expression. tent expression. He thought, if he could keep her attention engaged un-

"And as to the roads, again, besides a faith—oriental in origin—which the haul its heavy load on the rails. being relaid with far heavier rails they Orient has finally outgrown. have been further improved, and the Believing, therefore, that Japan has hauling of far heavier loads over them developed philosophically far beyond made possible by far better canstruc- Christian powers, and that it is that "So," sobbed Illma Vaselineovitch, tion and by the straightening out of country's duty to bring rational salvawouldn't count for much without the modern freight locomotive, the giant engine that walks away across the country easily hauling a hundred loaded freight cars."

THE WATER SUPPLY.

Factory and Creamery

Some rather startling facts in regard to the water supply of our eries, were brought out at the conference of dairy instructors and experts held in Ottawa last fall, the official freport of which is now bewells, only a few using water from ers. Good water can be secured far into the earth below the purifying layer, and thus soak unchanged into the wells. If a large amount of this contaminating material finds its way into the soil, the earth becomes "soured," and can no longer dispose of or purify the waste, which tends to soak into and mix with the ground water. Some Tests.-Prof. Shutt's chemical analyses of farm well water have shown the majority of the wells to not one-fifth of these can be passed as safe and wholesome. By far the greater number are utterly condemned, while others are reported as suspicious, putting them in the category of those that are unsafe to use. The bacteriological examinations of Dr. Connell and Prof. Harrison, of the Ontario Agricultural College, show similar results. Dr. Con-particularly heavy rain, the con-taminating matter may be carried Improvement Necessary.-A factory he should take the groom with him. may, for Lady Chevenix stood by person. He is no longer troubled with making the total load hauled now four so long as the drainage and whey supply from the ordinary well is good drainage. Next is the proper 'construction of the well, including its covering, so as not to permit sur-Good blood is the true secret of good "We have used as a basis for figuring live, and water polluted from the

It is not the smell or appearance of water that denotes its condition. Many samples of water, which to the sense of smell or sight or taste are perfect, yet simply reek with filth. The bacteria which we canmate, but they show the revolution in not detect by our senses are far

NATURE'S CURE FOR CHILDREN.

Soothing medicines, opiates and strong drugs should never be given to little children. Any doctor will tell you this. Baby's Own Tablets should be used, because they cannot harm the smallest, weakest infant. These tablets instantly relieve and promptly cure all stomach and bowel troubles, break up colds, destroy worms, and allay the irritation accompanying the cutting of teeth. Thousands of mothers say they are the best medicine in the world; one of these, Mrs. R. Sculland, Calabogie, Ont., writes: "J have tried many remedies for children, months old. They have always kept him well, and he is a big, healthy baby." All medicine dealers sell these tablets, or you can get them post paid at 25 cents a box by writing to The Dr. Williams

Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. PROSPECTING FOR A RELIGION.

Although Japan is building temples monials, they are more an expression of estheticism than religion. Pilgrimages to altars, instead of assuming the gloom "And as far heavier rails are laid for of funeral tanaticism, take on the merriment of holiday affairs. It is a pious easily as the great engine itself will not because it conflicts with the ancient

"Mr. Lonsdale," she said, "will you under the pretext of finding some"Mr. Lonsdale," she said, "will you under the pretext of finding somethe bed of down, and the faithful thing that he had missed. In reality you say he uttered my name as he was all these improvements have of course they will be justified in establishing contributed greatly to the present day