CHARLOTTE TURNBULL FRUIT CROP REPORT FOR JULY.

A very full return for July has been obtained by the Fruit Division, Ottawa. with reference to the fruit crop of the Dominion.

Dividing the apple crop into fall and winter varieties, the reports show a medium to full crop of the former. In the apple sections, from which the bulk of the winter fruit will be obtained for export, the crop is not as large as last year but may be classed as light to medium. A very clear distinction must be made between fall apples and good storing stock. The reports from Great Britain and Europe generally show a very large crop of fruit that will come into direct competition with our fall varieties and may slightly affect the market for winter fruit; but up to the present time European truit has not competed seriously with our best keeping winter varieties. The apple crop in Canada appears to be singularly free this year from the attacks of insects and fungons diseases. It is quite probable that the codling moth will not be a serious pest but there are indications that the spot may vet develop to a slight, if not a serious, degree,

Pears, except in British Columbia will be a light crop. There will be very few for export but the quality of those will be good.

Peaches and Flums.

Peaches and plums are almost an Jam in Pails......50c off his share of about 75 tons of hay this fruits and in such orchards the crop will be medium.

> The grape crop will be fairly good, Phone 27. but in the large producing districts of the Niagara Peninsula black rot has possible to predict the extent to which the erop will be curtailed by this pest.

Small Fruits

Strawberries have been very un-There they were not winter killed the crop has been good, but the winter killing was so general that the yield has been a small one. Raspberries were also a light crop.

Cherries.

Cherries in British Columbia have been a full crop, but a light crop throughout Ontario. In the rest of Canada, wherever grown, they have been light to medium.

Black currants are a full crop. Red Currants not quite so good but still a large crop.

Insects and Fungi.

Only one or two districts report Other Countries.

The reports from the United States, particularly those portions that compete with Canada, indicate a large but not an extraordinary crop of fruit. The indications in England. France, Ger-On Sanday, 31st July, at the Hopeville many, Holland and Belgium point to a General Comment.

The export trade for Canadian and American fall apples will be somewhat restricted, but owing to the better quality of our apples they will still have the preference in the European markets. There will be the necessity, however, of rigidly excluding all second quality fruit. Fall fruit of first class quality will in all probability bring a fair price, but it is almost certain that second quality fruit will not bring much, if anything, over the cost of-marketing. The supply of good winter stock of apples suitable for the British market during the months of January, February and March is not excessive, and it seems reasonable to expect that the demand will be almost equal to that of last year.
