Retreat of Aberdonian Berry Pickers.

Tune "Dolly Grey." They came out to Aberdeen For half an hour. They saw the people who were mean For half an hour. It was the Gordon clan, With each a salmon can,

To pick berries in the shade They unhitched their shinney horse. For half an hour, A pound of hay to him they toss, For half an hour. Then five minutes in the patch, For they had their daddy's watch, But the crows cawed out the batch

So good-bye Gordons you must leave us, Though it breaks your hearts to go, Your empty jars at home to greet you, On them your berries to bestow. On the fence those crows were sitting Seeing them along the way.

Hark! they hear those crows a cawing.

Good-bye Gordons for to-day.
