n Manufacturers' Associaorable to the metric sys-

Consumers' Gas Company ts capital by $1,500,000 Laurier may open the Toadne and Indefatigable are o Quebec.

nura, known as the fathnese fleet, died at Tokionan, V. S., of Lyndoch. ghtning while walking in ephail has been appointed C. W. Dill as civie road ench Convention bill was ne in the House of Lords been made for an order Canada Cabinet Co., of ng, Paterson, Sifton and bably form the new Tar-tions have ben suspendaccount of the build-whose mother lives in as drowned while bathn, Man, admitted that one Jew number wounded in rein Russia. arst, of New York, is nt $1,400,00 in his at-Democratic President-t Winnipeg that the C. in several branches of usidering a demand for ser Minerva has arrivforocco, to enforce the elease of a British subinprisoned.

pany are considering at a fleet of steamers connection with the ital Railway.

ary Board of the town cepted plans for a liberected in cement, at The style is modern will be accommodae broken out in the ountainebleu. France. f Fountainebleu and bilized to assist the the flames. The line a distance of more

EDS AGAIN.

be Free From Railway Clerk.

-The Princess Chis Clara Ward, of has on a number ed a sensation by ons, was married ice in London on an to Gugliegmo Riremony the princess. witnesses, gave Rigo, ur. $3,000, upon the signed a paper re-on her. g the princess, who ssed and rouged and ting her fingers at ing down Ricardo's wise fondling him. Was over the left immediately levincon. th past 30 years ife she has had periences. On the Capt. Eber Ward, lest man of his day ncess received an Joseph of Chimay onged to the highin Paris. At the merican and British here were rumors incess had become idler named Rigo, lay in a Paris cafe. tigo followed. The ined a divorce, but igo did not marry, ason that Rigo alince that time the e travelled all over ss, while travelling saw Ricardo at a where he was emme. The princess ide some excuse to urn to the station ing railway clerk. to's sway ended. ally returned to rdo with her. Rigo banishment philo-

HILOSOPHER.

Science Associaory of Matter.

-Mr. Balfour last opening address g of the British vancement of Sciclivered before & audience in the ng those present Devonshire, who is iversity, and disrom all parts of e continent. The our's address was ed by the New me in the history at it has had a s president, Mr. lid tribute to the ge, toward which, pardoned if he disuse it was his own

the meeting of the is larger than that

The Unknown Bridegroom.

here. Who are you, and who is this was not his wife-bound irrevocably girl, who has evidently been trick- to him for all time. . . ed into coming here to plight her This revulsion of feeling which now hand and fortune to a villain and took possession of her was as coma fortune-hunter?"

mind who the girl is!" muttered sented to take such a rash step; she the startled "best man" in a sul- must have been mad to think of such len tone. "I thought there was a thing-to have listened for a mosomething queer about you when ment to Walter's proposals of a secyou first appeared upon the scene. But where in thunder is Leighton! Perhaps," he added, with sudden con- all this time? What could have de- I shall do after this shall be open viction, "you are responsible for his tained him from an event of such and straightforward." non-appearance. But, be that as it | vital importance-at least to him? | may, of course you understand that | Who was the stranger who had so | in restful slumber. She tossed, restthe trick, which you have so clever- mysteriously appeared to take his lessly, upon her pollow, the whole ly played upon us to-night is no place? How had he happened to pre- night through, and when morning marriage - that you are no gain- sent himself so opportunely, and broke she was in a high fever and er by the farce."

take that piece of paper, if you panion.

do you take me for? That, at least, belongs to my friend, if the bride doesn't," was the sneering sponse, as the groomsman deftly slipped away from the clutch upon his shoulder, and backed away to a safe distance. "Give it to mot I say !" hoarsely commanded the other, making second dive at him, But the fellow dodged him, sprang to the door, and the next moment had mounted the carriage box, beside the driver. At a word from him, and the crack of a whip, the horses dashed out into the highway, and the vehicle disappeared in the darkness.

The stranger stood looking after it for a moment, with thoughtful air; then he turned back into the church, where he put a question or two to the sexton, after which he hurried, with quick, elastic steps, to the shed back of the church, where he had left his horse. Vaulting into his saddle, he rode swiftly away in the opposite direction to that which the carriage had taken, Meantima Florence had, recovered consciousness, indeed, she began to strangely grave tones. revive almost immediately after the carriage had started, and the cool, damp air from the open window swept into her lungs. Sitting up, she looked about her, with trembling perplexity, and, putting out her hand to find only her maid beside her, she gave ut- that you did not observe anything then burst into violent weeping. Anna strove to reassure and quiet more. The carriage stopped at this moment, and, as the door was opened, both girls speedily alighted, eager their home once more. ing, and the stars were shining brilliantly in the patches of biue could be seen between them.

As the young man assisted Florence to the ground, he remarked, in a low tone; had such a storm, and that you surely you are crazy !" excitedly in- tended to do, ordered a conveyance, market during the months of January, should have been so frightened. Are terposed the girl. you fully recovered?"

his clasp.

not know the man, for she was sure she would always regard him with repulsion, if she was obliged to meet him as an acquaintance after the experiences of that night. Without another word, she sped through the gate, which he opened for her, and hastened toward the house, closely followed by Anna, both girls experiencing a sense of infinite relief as the sound of the wheels died away in the distance. They let themselves into the mannoiselessly up to Florence's room, the night together, Florence insisting that she was too nervous and exhausted to be left alone. "Oh, Anna, what a horrible ex-

Florence, brokenly, remembrance of the storm. "I've blue; his hair was almost black, and ing under a tree, after the storm, by much. The fact that they put children never known such a violent thun- curled about his temples, while Mr. the coachman of the place. derstorm, and I'd have given all my Leighton's is brown and perfectly When Leighton finally came to him- ful. Ask your doctor and he will tell old shoes to have been safe at straight." It was a wild night for a wedding, whether he was nice looking?" were shining brightly. With a groan ing medicines are dangerous. If your views to preserve the independence of the boat, Rocking boats for fun by many a wild night for a wedding, whether he was nice looking?" were shining brightly. With a groan ing medicines are dangerous. If your lives to preserve the independence of the boat, Rocking boats for fun by were shining brightly. With a groan ing medicines are dangerous. If your lives to preserve the independence of the boat, Rocking boats for fun by the boat and the boat ing medicines are dangerous. and I only hope it isn't- a sign queried the maid, eagerly, and be- of pain, for he was sadly bruised life. Was it the fright that made tery of the affair, now that the sitting posture, drew forth his watch, you faint ?" through Florence at this question, for it plainly told her that the girl nervous shiver. was utterly ignorant of the real "And you would never know him cause of her swoon-that she had not | if you should meet him again?"

to a perfect stranger. self, that the other members of the know, and could not identify if you me until this hour." Teved that she had really been made hour." And Florence broke into ner- ing party had passed him about your druggist for this medicine or send hard to estimate because jungle-dwell- eral minutes, often when a single minthe w'fe of Walter Leighton? Should | your weeping again. better to keep the secret to herself, no marriage. The man couldn't hold far enough to one side to escape be- post paid. telegraph Walter to come to her you to it," said Anna, in a comfort- ing run over by their equipage. early in the morning, to explain his ing tone. absence, and consult with him what "Perhaps not; and yet, somehow, himself so stiff and sore in every

to do in her perplexity? legal, they could both keep their own Nevertheless, in spite of the per- ed to know, that he was able to move when ma wants something at the store, counsel, be really married at the ear- plexing predivament in which she at all.

gossip about the affair.

ries pressed themselves upon her; ergy and authority, "you must pro-then a great load seemed suddenly to mise me that you will never reveal With difficulty, he struggled to his roll off her heart. No, she was con- what has occurred to-night,"

"Hush!" commanded the other, with scious of a sense of deep gratitude a glance at the sexton, who had en- a great throb of wild joy and thanktered from rear, with a lantern, to fulness, that almost made her faint put out the light at the altar. "It | again, went pulsing through her is in bad taste to be irreverent heart, in view of the fact that she plete as it was sudden, and she won-"Never mind who I am- never dered how she could ever have con-ret marriage.

But where could Walter have been how had he dared to personate the raving in delirium. shold she ever umeet him again, she and perhaps not even then. doubted that she would recognize? She did not believe the ceremony ed his tickets and state-rooms, and felt as if she were irrevocably pledged to this mysterious stranger. Surely, no girl was ever placed in such a strange predicament before; but upon one thing she was resolved groom. -no one should be allowed to believe her the wife of Walter Leighton, for whom, she now k.ew, she had never entertained one particle of real affection. "Oh!" she gratefully breathed to herself. 'I have barely escaped committing the greatest mistake of my life! I see it now-and Walter was riage and going for his bride-elect self sh, cowardly and unprincipled to at the hour appointed. urge me to such a step, against my inclinations."

All these thoughts had flashed through her mind with almost lightning-like rapidity, during a brief interval of fesitation, before answering Anna's question. "No, Anna," she said at length, "i citement," said the girl, wondering somewhat at her young mistress "Possibly that may have had something to do with it, but it was chiefly owing to a terrible shock that I received. "A shock!" From the lightning queried simple Anna "No, indeed. Is it possible, Anna, terance to a long sigh of relief, peculiar about the ceremony tonight ?" "No, I'm sure I didn't; only that her, but with little encouragement, it was the most uncanny affair of for her sobs did not cease until the kind that it was ever my luck she was too exhausted to weep to be mixed up in," said the girl.

"Did you not notice anything strange about Mr.-Mr. Leighton? "No; only I thought he might, at least, have turned down the collar of to get safely within the shelter of his mackintosh; it concealed his face so that one could scarcely see a bit The clouds were rapidly dispers- of it. But I suppose, in the hurry and confusion of being late at his own wedding, he didn't think of it."

"the man had a good reason for keeping his face concealed-he wasn't Mr.

Leighton at all--"

capade as this. But the man who stood beside me to-night, and went through that ceremony, was an the road, thus nearly overturning the conversation turned to berries, and the road, thus nearly overturning the conversation turned to berries, and the road, thus nearly overturning the conversation turned to berries, and the road, thus nearly overturning the conversation turned to berries, and the road, thus nearly overturning the conversation turned to berries, and the road, thus nearly overturning the conversation turned to berries, and the road, thus nearly overturning the conversation turned to berries, and the road, thus nearly overturning the conversation turned to berries, and the road, thus nearly overturning the conversation turned to berries, and the conversation turned to be convers through that ceremony, was an utter stranger to me, and it was the buggy several times.

I clighton was extremely irritated the conversation turned to bernes, and independent to-day as ever it was and it was the buggy several times.

I clighton was extremely irritated small, but there were plants to be proud to bernes, and independent to-day as ever it was and it was the buggy several times. the discovery of this lact that gave | Leighton was extremely irritated curiously. perience this has been !" murmured see his face distinctly, for his col- the uninjured buggy clattering at his lar came up so high that it concealed heels, and finally dashed into the "Indeed it has, Miss Florence," the lower portion. But his eyes spacious grounds of an elegant resthe girl returned, shivering at the were dark, and Mr. Leighton's are idence, where he was found, stand- but they are still used altogether too first shock had passed. great shock went quivering "No; I only know that he was not dial. Walter," responded Florence, with a a suspicion that she had been wedded "I am sure I should not. Oh, it is Could it be possible, she asked her- been married to a man you do not course, they would never wait for lous change in her appearance, and she empire, Johore deserves to be more and pushing down with widely extended

I feel as if I had given myself joint he was obliged to settle back If the marrage ceremony was not away," said the fair girl, dejectedly. again; yet he was greatly comfortliest opportunity, and thus save all found herself, she experienced more "Thank goodness, no bones are and more relief over the fact that broken," he breathed, with a sigh of I'm lots and lots too old, at least, But-did she really want to be re- she was not the wife of Walter relief. "It's a wonder, though, that That's what they always say, cognized as Walter Leighton's wite?

Did she wish to marry him now, under any circumstances?

She shivered slightly, as these questressed themselves upon her;

ries pressed themselves upon her;

Leighton. Fresently she restrained again to her her tears, and turned again to her nasty fall. Gad! but I must get up and find my way to some place of refuge—I cannot stay here in this slough all night."

To hy a kite, or have a sing or ever do most everything nasty fall. Gad! but I must get up and find my way to some place of refuge—I cannot stay here in this slough all night."

On ever do most everything nasty fall. Gad! but I must get up and find my way to some place of refuge—I cannot stay here in this slough all night."

"Of course, I will never tell any- he would soon come to some dwelone about it, Miss Florence," the ling, where he could seek shelter for girl emphatically asserted : "wild the night.

pose they will keep the secret?" "Anna., I do not believe they suspect the truth-I am sure they think that I was married to Mr. Leigh- his accident, and begged a ride back ton," answered Florence. "But they are sure to know it turned the girl, quickly. "True, I did not think of that; but and, an hour later, left him in his I feel sure that he will bind them jown room, where, lame, sore-a sorry also to secrecy. Oh, why did I ever looking object indeed, and in an unallow him to persuade me into such enviable frame of mind-he crept to a step? I should be mortified, be- enviable frame of mind-he crept dejectedly. pose Mr. Leighton was to-night? lety and suspence, when his friendly breeding scheme, as outlined by the Ad- pecially in the vicinity of Mount Ophir, What kept him?" queried the maid, "best man" made his appearance, to visory Committee and approved by the on the Malaccan border. Mount Ophir curiously.

"That is a mystery; the storm, "Do you imagine that-anything dale chapel.

could have happened to him?" with a quick catch in her breath. continued, with a shudder; "but it beside himself with rage and jeal- put to his stallion. The mares selected forest. But apart from that which lies has taught me a lesson-whatever ousy.

She did not once close her eyes

"Where is the certificate? I will missing bridegroom? Was she really Of course, this unlooked-for conmarried to him? Would the ceremony | tretemps necessitated the abanplease," said the stranger, utter- be regarded as binding, from a legal donment-at least temporarily -of ly ignorng the remarks of his com- point of view? Could it be possible the European trip, for the physician "Not if I know, myself! What whom, until that moment at the alloy you take me for? That, at least, tar, she had never seen, and whom, Accordingly, Mr. Seaver surrender-> could be legal, and yet, somehow, she indefinitely postponed the voyage. CHAPTER IV. Meantime, let us ascertain what had happened to the missing bride-It will be remembered that he had observed to Florence, on taking leave of her in the arbor, that he had much to attend to before even-

His first act was to seek out a couple of cronies, and charge them with the mission of procuring a car-

"Here is the license, Ted," he observed to one of them, as he handed to him the important document,"and I have already sent worl to a certain clergyman to be sure and be on hand. But, to save time, if you arrive at the church first, as you probably will, hand it to him, that he may see it is all right, and there will be nothwas not fright that made me faint." ing to delay the ceremony when I "Then it must have been the excome, I will join you at the earliest moment-by nine-thirty, sure. Now, I must be off, for every moment is > precious.' He had an important commission to execute out of town, and, hastening to his train, he was soon speeding on hist way. If his train had arrived on time, all would have gone well for him; but a local freight, going in the opposite direction, had been derailed, ard the debris of a demolished car lay across the track. The inwardbound train was thus delayed near-

It was nearly eight o'clock when the impatient lover finally reached the city, and he was obliged to take erop of fruit. The indications in Enganother line, in order to reach the | land, France, Germany, Holland and suburb where Mr. Seaver's summer residence was located, and where he also had taken up his abode in order to be near Florence. It was after nine when he arrived Irritated beyond measure at being so delayed, and hungry, too, from "Anna," said Florence, impressively, long fasting-for he had partaken of to a livery stable, without even go-"Good heavens! Miss Florence, in his clothing, as he had fully in- stock of apples suitable for the British and lashed the frightened animal to children, when they are picking, to carry Indian Ocean, embracing Lingga, the me the shock and caused me to because he was so far behind time, "Good gracious. I don't wonder. his to-most speed. He was within a along some little sticks, pieces of laths, Rhio group and many other islands, How came he there? How did he half mile of his destination, when and when they find an extra strong plant lead the home of the ever dare do such a bold thing? there came a blinding flash, follow- with a good fruit stem and plenty of Johore was indeed the home of the And where could Mr. Leighton have ed by a terrific crash, which caus- berries, to put a stick down alongside orange laut—the fierce men of the sea.

not answer one of your questions. At that instant, one of the traces ners in all directions. In the spring he student of empire, for while, to all instruck the hour of eleven, and stole I, too, wonder how he dared at- snapped in twain, the buggy swayed has some fine plants to set, and his ber- tents and purposes, it is an independent tempt such an audacious act, and out of its course, and ran over a ries are improving every year." Yours where they spent the remainder of what his motive could have been." boulder on the side of the road, pitch- very truly, W. A. Clemons, Publication "And you haven't the slightest ing the unfortunate driver out into Clerk. idea who he was?" inquired Anna, the mire, where, stunned by the fall, he lay, unconscious, while his reckless "Not the faintest. I could not steed galloped onward, unchecked, self, the tempest was over, the clouds struck a match, and looked at the

He attempted to rise, but found cognized as Walter Leighton's wife? Leighton. Presently she restrained my neck was not dislocated by that To fly a kite, or have a sling horses couldn't drag it from me. But | But, presently, the welcome sound | To Horse Breeding-An Outline how about these men who went of wheels fell upon his eager ears, with us to the church? Do you sup- and, a market wagon appeared in sight, and going in the direction from which he had come.

He hailed the driver, told him of to town. The man was kind-hearted, helped when they see Mr. Leighton," re- him up to the seat beside him, making him as comfortable as possible, your measure, to become the tar- into his bed, from which he did not get for a scandal," said Florence, rise for a week or more. He was in a high fever the next types. morning, and almost wild from anx- Horse Breeding Scheme-The base gold is to be found in many parts, es-Leighton's state of mind may be Florence started at the question. imagined as he listened to the ac-"Oh, I hope not!" she exclaimed, count of that mysterious marriage. "Who was he-who was that con-

(To he Continued.)

FRUIT CROP.

The Report for July for the Dominion.

Department of Agriculture,

Commissioner's Branch, fruit, that will come into direct competition with our fall varieties, and may slightly affect the market for winter fruit; but up to the present time European fruit has not competed seriously with our best keeping winter varities. The apple crop in Canada appears to be singularly free this year from the attacks of insects and fungus diseases. It is quite probable that the codling moth will not be a serious pest, but there are indications that the spot may yet de-those will be good. Peaches and Plums. - Peaches and plums are almost an absolute failure. Grapes.—The grape crop will be fairly shown to a serious extent and it is imthe crop will be curtailed by this pest .

Small Fruits.-Strawberries have been very uneven. Where they were not winter kileld the crop has been good, but the winter killing was so general that the yield has been a small one. Raspberries were also a light crop.

Cherries - Cherries in British Columbia have been a full crop, but a light erop throughout Ontario. Black Currants are a full crop. Red Currants not quite so good but still a large crop. Insects and Fungi.-Only one or two districts report serious depredations of Other Countries.-The reports from the United States, particularly those portions that compete with Canada, indicate a large but not an extraordinary

Belgium point to a crop somewhat above these mares. Yours very truly, W. A. the average. General Comment. - The export trade for Canadian and American fall apples will be somewhat restricted, but owing to the better quality of our apples they will still have the preference in the a very light lunch-he hurried away | European markets. Fall fruit of first class quality will in all probability bring ing to his rooms to make any change | a fair price. The supply of good winter and started for Rosedale chapel to February and March is not excessive. of. His plan is as follows: He tells his of its ruler extended far out into the been?" cried the girl, in great ex- ed the horse to spring into the air, of it. After the berries are picked he And it is on account of the curious with a snort of fear, then plunge takes up these plants and sets them out position in which Johore stands that in a bed, letting them throw out run-

A DANGER TO BABY.

Doctors have preached against the so-called soothing medicines for years, to sleep is no sign that they are helpyou that you have merely drugged your "You couldn't even tell, then, were rapidly dispersing, and the stars little one into insensibility-that soothand I only hope it isn't a sign ginning to enjoy the romantic mys- from his fall, he raised himself to a Baby's Own Tablets and you give it a ate or harmful drug. You can give these government is modelled on any western steamer, never rise in the boat, but set-Tablets just as safely as a new born in- lines the standard adopted is that of the down as close to the bottom as pos-He had lain in the mud nearly two fant as to the well- grown child, and Great Britain, and where any foreign sible, until the water is smooth again hours, and he was drenched to the they will cure all the minor ills of child- language is spoken to any great extent -and don't scream or talk to the oarshood. Mrs. J. M. Gilpin, Bellhaven, Ont., "Too late!" he muttered; "for, of Own Tablets there has been a marvel- southernmost point of the vast Asian mer by drawing the arms up to the sides If he had but known it, the return- me always a friend to the Tablets." Ask of 9,000 square miles and a population water with the feet, may keep up sevtwenty minutes previous, and it was 25c to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., ers are somewhat adverse to census- ute means life; or throwing out the "Nonsense, Miss Floy! That was very fortunate that he had fallen Brockville, Ont., and get a box by mail Johnny's Age. (S. E. Kiser.) I'm just exactly old enough To always have to run Around here to be done.

'Cause they've so much to talk about That I'm to young to know.

GOVERNMENT AID of the Irish System.

Department of Agriculture, Commissioner's Branch, In the year 1900 the Department of It is this jungle, matted thick and Agriculture and Technical Instruction | close over valuable mineral deposits, for Ireland devised a scheme for encour- which jealously guards the treasure aging improvement in the breed of live from human despoilers, but for the stock, particularly of horses and cattle, pioneer who can successfully withstand in htat country. An outline of the Irish | the difficulties which beset his path at system may be of interest to Canadian almost every turn-a most essential horsemen, who have for some time been qualification-who possesses the necesdiscussing the problem of obtaining for sary amount of capital to enable him to service throughout the country a suffi- bear the heavy initial cost of the under-interview him regarding the deling- Agricultural Board, provided for the reg- is held by many to be that wonderful ency of the previous night, and report istration of suitable and sound that mountain often referred to in boly writ the strange occurrence at the Rose- oughbred and agricultural sires, and the as the place whence Solomon drew unselection of a number of the best brood told golden treasure, and for generations stallion is entitled, under the scheme, streams which course down the mounto a fee of £3 for each selected mare tain slope and percolate the surrounding their means of living from farming, face; immense tracts of valuable timber whose valuation did not exceed in the and thousands of acres of soil the most counties £150, and in the more wealthy fertile, capable, after clearing and with

ed for registration, of which 298 were gambier, sago, tapioca, coffee, etc. To thoroughbred and 112 of the agricultu- be brief, resources are there in abundral type. From the first it was deemed ance and their development is sadly advisable to spare no pains in making needed. Not that there has ever been a searching examination of the stallions opposition on the part of the powers Dividing the apple crop into fall and offered for registration, and, according that be to pioneering, but the Malay winter varieties, the reports show a medingly, before any of the stallions offered mind is exceedingly slow in its workgeneraly show that a very large crop of 1. As to suitability, and 2, as to the might have gone a very long way tosoundness of the animal. A register was | ward introducing European capital into published in March, 1901, which con- the country, unfortunately the initiatained the names and pedigrees of 97 tive was lacking, and opportunity after thoroughbred and 31 agricultural stal- opportunity was missed in the manner. lions that had been accepted. Upwards of 1,800 free nomination tickets of £3 each were offered at 150 shows of mares held during March and April, and nearly 1,700 of these tickets were issued.

In addition to subsidizing stallions by means of £3 nominations to mares, the velop to a slight, if not a serious, degree, Department offered in a few countries Pears-Pears, except in British Colum- where there was an insufficient numbia, will be a slight crop. There will be ber of stallions for the purpose of the very few for export, but the quality of scheme, premiums varying from £50 to

Loans for the Purchase of Stallions .- ness, heart palpitation, lost appetite. If In order to encourage farmers of small the trouble is not checked and cured, means to provide themselves with a consumption follows; coughing, spitting, registered stallion a sum of money was clammy night sweats, a total breakdown of the Niagara Peninsula, black rot has allotted by the Department for the pur- and death. What the anaemic sufferer pose of granting loans for the purpose needs is more blood-more strength. And posible to predict the extent to which of approved sires. The money was lent there is nothing in the whole wide world at 2½ per cent. interest, payable in five will give new blood and new strength so annual instalments. It was a condition surely and so speedily as Dr. Williams' precedent to those loans that the animal | Pink Pills. Every dose helps to send new, should be insured for its full market rich, red blood coursing through the sys-

Premiums for Female Stock .- As a further means of encouraging improvement in stock breeding the Department adopted the principle of awarding premiums and prizes tot female stock. The Advisory Committee on horse breeding pointed out that that industry in Ireland is, to a great extent, injured by young mares being sold out of the country, thus leaving only second-class animals for breeding purposes, and the Department adopted their recommendation that the prizes and premiums should be mainly confined to young mares from two to six years old, served by a registered sire, in the hope that the farmers would thereby be induced to retain

GUARDED BY THE JUNGLES.

Malay State of Jahore Has Never Been Explored by Whites.

for two centuries and currently believed poor blood, and all are cured by Dr. to possess mineral deposits of great Williams' Pink Pills. You can get these richness, the state of Johore, situated pills from any medicine dealer, or by just at the end of the Malay peninsula | mail post paid at 50 cents a box or six Selection of Strawberry Plants. - and separated from the prosperous Is- boxes for $2.50 by writing the Dr. Wil-"Yes," the fair girl briefly re- I believe, than I have been at any But the sky had grown black with A striking illustration of the value of land of Singapore only by the narrow liams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. sponded, but shivering with repul- time during the last year," gravely the coming storm, and he was not plant and seed selection, as advocated Strait of Selat Tebrau, in places less sion, as she released her hand from responded Florence. "I must have far on his way when it burst, with by Prof. Robertson, is reported in the book areas." I think when I then half a mile in width, has never yet to AVOID ACCIDENTS ON WATER. She felt heartily glad that she did sented to such a clandestine es- Hs horse was timid, and every flash Brunswick correspondent. He says: "A Though its neighbors on all sides are

First-Do not go out in a canoe, rowit affords an interesting study to the it carries enough life-saving buoys or layan sultan, and the manners and customs, religion, laws and internal govprevailed in the land before dream of sorts, that any one can handle a small conquest first led Britons to this little known portion of the globe, Great Britain has the right to determine the foreign policy of Johore. Subject to Great Britain. permit no other power, European or change seats after leaving shore, or to Asiatic, to set foot within its borders. put a foot on the edge or gunwale of For the time being it meets English the boat, to exchange seats, or to rock the state, to acknowldge its rule", but rollicking young people loses many lives where there is external influence in the every year. Where the waters become land such influence is British, where rough from a sudden squall or a passing

Considering the fact that it forms the | Fourth-If overturned, a non-swimtaking, but which may be safely reckon- arms, dog fashion, forward, overhand, ed at 250,000, Johore is one of the few and pulling in, as if reaching for someremaining unexplored lands of the world | thing, may keep one at least afloat and one that offers temptations to ex- until help comes. A woman's skirts, plorer and prospector alike far above held out by her extended arms, while the average. Towns are almost un- she uses her feet as if climbing stairs, known. There are a few unworthy the will often keep her up until rescued .name, and the capital, Johore Bahru, Caspar Whitney in August Outing. would not bear favorable comparison with a third-rate country town in England. Roads, good, hard ones, practically do not exist, nor harbors round the coast, nor docks, wharves nor other trad- it was only last week I gave you a homeing facilities, and the "iron horse" has made pie. almost impenetrable, where the light of nal.

day rarely pierces the prevailing gloom and the only sounds that break the silence, the weird, oppressive silence of the forest, are the harsh roars of beasts of prey, the incessant chattering of jungle apes, and the melodious song of gaudy-plumed birds.

Where Riches Lie.

cient number of the most profitable taking, a sure reward lies in store. In tin the country is wonderfully rich, and mares in each country to be served by Malays living in the neighborhood have these sires. The owner of a registered found gold deposits in the beds of littee slight cultivation, of producing most re-The first year 410 stallions were offer- munerative crops of pineapples, pepper,

ANAEMIA-POOR BLOUD.

Headaches, Dizziness, Heart Palpitation and Consumption Follow.

Anaemia-watery blood-is a treacherous trouble. It steals inamously from slight symptoms to uangerous disease. The thin, watery blood shows itself at first in pale lips, wan face, breathlesstem, bringing strength to weak lungs and all parts of the body. Thousands testify to the truth of these statements, among them Miss Enerine Velandre, St, Germain, Que., who says: "While attending school my health began to give way. The trouble came on gradually and the doctor who attended me said it was due to overstudy and that a rest would put me right. But instead of getting better I grew weaker. I suffered from headaches and dizzziness, and at night I did not sleep well. I was troubled with pains in the back, my appetite left me, and I grew pale as a corpse. Finally I became so weak I was forced to vemain in bed. As the doctor did not help me any, I asked my father to get me Dr. Williams Pink Pills. Before I had used two boxes there was an improvement, and when I had taken a half dozen boxes I was again in perfect health. I believe all weak girls will find new health if they will take the pills." Anaemia, indigestion, heart trouble, rheumatism, kidney trouble, and the spe-Although known to the civilized world cial ailments of women are all due to

So many lives are lost each season or the water by criminal carelessenss and ignorance, that, at the risk of being trite, I am repeating a few timely don'ts for boat or sailboat, small or large, unless of an upset or collision. Second-Do not go out in a sailboat except with a skipper of experience. Many a boatload is upset through the mistaken idea, prevalent at summer re-guilty, incompetent skipper should get ten years' imprisonment at hard labor. Third-In case of a party in a rowboat, be sure you are finally seated before leaving shore, particularly if there It is safe to say that England would are girls. Permit no one to attempt to

A Close Call.

Lady-I'm surprised to see you. Why, not yet entered this Malayan domain. Tramp—Yes'm. I guess you are sur-Nearly the whole of the country is prised. The doctor said it was due to covered with thick virgin jungle, dense. my strong constitution.-Chicago Jour-