THE DELINEATOR FOR SEPTEMBER.

To those who follow the movements of fashion, the Delineator for September is an exceptionally interesting number, containing advance information upon the end-of-the-year styles, and illustrating in colors and in black and white some of the latest developments of the seasons modes. Not less attractive is the literary section, in which the first place is given to a timely article on "The Women of Russia" by Volt von Schieberbrand. Rebecca Williams is the subject of an interesting biographical sketch in the "Pioneer Women" series, and the delightful series of pictures and letters of travel is brought to an end. Dr. Grace Peckham Murray writes on "Bodily Symmetry," Lillie Hamilton French has another of the enjoyable "Joy of Living" papers, and there are well-illustrated short stories by Alden Arthur Knipe, Albert Bigelow Paine and Francis Lynde. For the young folks are stories and pastimes of an entertaining and helpful character including the continuation of "Little Garden Calendar" and further adventures of "Little Tommy Post Office" as well as an instructive paper by Lina Beard on the houses and domestic arts of the Philippines. The interests of the home are treated thoroughly and practically in the various departments, which are in charge of experts.

A WHIFF OF SCOTLAND.

As we intimated last week we had an interesting interview with Mr. Geo. Turnbull, lately returned from Scotland, and we have pleasure in producing a few of his notes that may prove of more than passing interest.

"Scottish railway travel is behind the times. To one used to the comforts and conveniences of Canadian trains the change is very unpleasant, not even a drink of water to be had, no conveniences, never a sight of conductor, locked in narrow compartments, sitting knee to knee with fellow travelers whom you may not be agreeable, often a most disagreeable experience for ladies especially. They have much to learn from the new world.

I was greatly struck to find them washing sheep when I arrived, and they were astonished when I told them ours were clipped and the wool sold before I left Canada. The climate, to one accustomed to sunny Canadian skies, is miserable, rain and more rain. At one time in my district considerable wheat used to be grown, but now oats is the principal crop, the wet seasons hindering ripening.

I had the privilege of having dinner with the Duke's factor in Dunrobin Castle and greatly admired the beautiful grounds and other adornments with which wealth can surround itself. It is near Golspie, on the right between the railway and the sea and surrounded by large and finely wooded grounds. It stands on a terrace about 80 feet above the level of the sea, which ripples but a very short distance from its walls. The greater part of it is modern but some portions, including the old keep, were founded as early as 1097. It is a noble looking building, worthy of the rank, position and great opulence of its owner. Visitors are always made welcome to visit both the mansion and the policies when the family are non-resident, and generally even when they are at home. There are several monuments about the grounds, one fine full-length statue of the second Duke standing at the side of the Public road.

I found in most places a prevailing ignorance of Canada that is surprising. It is hard to drive them off the notion of 8 or 9 months winter. I was advised to come over there and spend my "American" money, and I replied them on the use of "American" instead of Canadian. Still of recent years and since the South African war, knowledge is spreading of the colonies, and Canada is better known, and it needs to be. Our long distances they can't understand. A lady in Inverness wondered if I could deliver a parcel to her son in Manitoba!! An overcoat!

I spent a week in Inverness the capital of the Highlands, and enjoyed the old historic associations of the place and the district near it. 5 miles away is Coluden Moor, the scene of the last fight for the Stuarts, and the last battle fought in Britain. The tourists are so numerous here that the heather can hardly get growing so much of it piled up as mementos. The churches are fine and many of them. Four Established Church, 6 United Free, 1 Free, 4 Episcopal, 1 R. C. Chapel, 1 Wesleyan Chapel. McTavish who came here from Woodstock, Ont., is dead. Gayin Lang, of old Kirk fame, preaches here but is no popular. I did not go to hear him.

We are again held up for space and must close here this week. Ed.

THE PROVINCIAL WINTER FAIR.

The prize list of the Ontario Provincial Winter Fair, which will be held at Guelph from December 5th to 24th, 1904, has just been received. After a careful review of the rules and regulations as embodied in the prize list, we notice that the only important change is with reference to the Dairy Test. In former years the test was started on Monday of the week of the Show and ended on Wednesday. This necessitated the closing of the Dairy Department to the public until the Fair was half over and owing to the large amount of clerical work involved, the results of the test could not be posted earlier than Friday. The Management has acted in the interest of both exhibitors and visitors by having the test begin on Saturday and end on Monday. Visitors will have access to the Dairy Department during the full time of the Show and the complete results of the test can be posted not later than Wednesday. Arrangements are being made to have individual results posted in front of each cow, so that complete information will be available to visitors at the time they are examining the competing animals.

A substantial increase has been made in the amount of the prizes, the offerings for regular and special prizes making a total value of $8252.50. This amount is apportioned to the different departments as follows,—

Beef Cattle.....$1922.00
Dairy Cattle.....1240.00
Sheep.....1532.00
Swine and Bacon Hogs.....1526.00
Poultry.....1447.50
Pot Stock and Dressed Poultry.....565.00

Total amount of prizes, $8252.00

It will be seen from the above figures that exhibitors who succeed in winning stock, will receive ample reward for their efforts in direct cash returns. Besides this, exhibits at the Winter Fair have attained a standard for quality which gives to exhibitors the maximum amount of advertising value. Those who intend entering stock should now be giving particular attention to the fitting of their animals.

A. P. WESTERVELT, Secy.

MISS DICK.

OBITUARY

"Donald Kennedy died at Hot Lake Sanatorium on August 12." Such was the brief message wired to Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Kennedy announcing the death of their son. Donald had been ill for about a year of diabetes but had improved so much that he was able to assist in the work of the Sanatorium, and intended to come home this fall. But this was not to be for he was suddenly taken much worse and lasted but a day.

Donald was born in Glenelg in March 1874 and so was in his 31st year. He went to Manitoba in 1892 and worked with a lumbering firm for a number of years. He then went with the same Co. to the Crow's Nest Pass and was foreman there for them for a time. He then went mining in British Columbia and finally drifted down to Bourne in Oregon where he worked in a mine until he was no longer able to work. He then joined the Society of the Fraternal Order of Eagles who, when he was not able to care for himself, cared for him in every possible way, and sent him to the Sanatorium where he had the best medical advice, the best nursing and all the comforts of home, except the presence of loved ones. The Eagles watched over him and attended to his every want, and when the end came they, on August 14, laid him to rest in the Cemetery in Baker City, Oregon.

Donald was of a lovable disposition and while here he was liked by all, and seems to have made friends wherever he went. His father and mother with four brothers and four sisters remain and mourn the loss of a son and brother. The whole community extends its sympathy to them in their time of sorrow when they

Sigh for a touch of the vanished hand
And the sound of voice that is still."

"Margaret Veir was born May 30, 1833, near Edinburgh, Scotland. In the year 1854 and at the age of 21 years she came to Canada, and there formed the acquaintance of W. M. Robertson, later known as "The Old Stone Cutter" to whom she was married the following year.

Of this union were born eight children five sons, Alexander, Adam, William, Jennie, Anne and Bessie, all having married except Bessie.

In the year 1888, thirteen years after their marriage, Mrs. Robertson, husband and children came to Brown county, settling on a tract of land two miles north of where Willis now stands. This became her permanent home for the following thirty-six years. The struggle against adverse conditions who can know them? But father and mother were made of heroic stuff—the storms were safely weathered so that at the passing of the husband and after some years ago, the surviving wife and children were left with sufficient means for a comfortable livelihood.

Mrs. Robertson, like her husband, was an earnest loyal Christian, with a knowledge of the Bible far beyond the average. She could give a reason for the faith which she had, and for the many abundant Scripture quotations. She was a splendid neighbor, but more than all else, a good, kind mother, loyal and true, devoted to the welfare of her children, every one of whom has been an honor to her.

The sickness, cancerous in its nature, which led to her death early Tuesday morning, August 2, ran a long course, commencing sometime in the early part of the past winter. The last three or four weeks of the disease was a period of most intense suffering, relieved only by the use of soothing remedies.

The remains were placed in the Claytonville cemetery, Rev. F. C. Hill, of Willis, having charge of the services. Four stalwart sons, a son-in-law, Mr. Kirk, and John Cushnie, to make the required numbers, were the pall bearers of the occasion. A beautiful picture it was, to see those men bearing with their own hands the casket which contained all there was left to them of a once beloved mother."
