HYMENEAL

The marriage of Miss Margaret McGillivray to Mr. William McGiffin, of Wolseley, Assn., was solemnized Aug. 24th at the residence of Mr. John McGillivray, Mulock. Rev. J. C. E. Pincio performing the ceremony.

The bride, who was given away by her father, looked lovely in a dress of white silk organdie, with chenille yoke and long train. She was attended by her three nieces, Miss Jean Long who acted as maid of honor and Miss Muriel McGillivray and Miss Gladys Patterson who were flower girls.

After congratulations the guests repaired to the lawn where tables were spread and all did ample justice to the dainty dishes set before them. After dinner the happy couple, amid showers of rice, drove to Walkerton en route for Niagara Falls. The bride's travelling dress was gray with hat to match. She was the recipient of a number of presents.

Relatives of the bride were present at the wedding from Toronto, Walkerton, Chatsworth, Elmwood and Durham, all of whom joined in wishing Mr. and Mrs. McGiffin a long and happy life in their far off home in Wolseley, Assiniboia.

THE WAR

Port Arthur is not yet captured, though the Japs are on the Parade ground. Stossel reports he can hold out 6 weeks yet, and informs the Czar so, adding, gruesomely, that the stench from dead dodies between the lines is awful.

Kuropatkin has been forced back to Liaoyang and a great battle is in progress. He is far outnumbered, but is on ground of his own choosing, and it is now or never with him. There is still the possibility of him being surrounded and his army captured—or massacred. Such is war.

The ships that escaped from Port Arthur and fled to Chinese ports are dismantled and will figure no more in this war.

TOPICS OF THE WEEK

—Hon. Edward Blake is in Canada for a holiday. As usual he absolutely refuses to be interviewed.

—The question of the next Gov. General of Canada is causing great interest. The Duke of Marlborough has been mentioned, and an uncertainty as to how his American wife would please or otherwise Ottawa society, may hinder his appointment. Earl Grey is another name which has been thrown out as a feeler, and it seems probable he will be chosen. County Grey should hold up both hands for its namesake, though 'tother man, in spite of or with his wife could loyally and easily perform the duties.

—Lord Minto and suite are at present making a farewell run through Canada, before he lays down his high office next month. The royal party were entertained in O. Sound for a few hours on Friday last, while on their way by boat to the West.

—Sir Chas. Tupper sailed from Liverpool for Canada on Saturday making the proud boast that it was his 58th trip across the Atlantic.

MORE BLOOD WANTED.

"Monday's despatches have war news which whet the appetite for more." What a debasing thing is war! All Christendom is watching the struggle, and the general gratification at Japan's success, coupled with the meagre information Japan gives of her movements leads to the overlooking of the gloomy side: strong young lives sacrificed, dear to some home, bodies torn asunder by shot and shell, wounded lying and dying in agony, or living to be maimed for life, the hideous stirring up of every evil human passion in the breasts of men unknown to each other and having no personal quarrel, the legacy of hate that is left—after war being, and never can be, compensated by the momentary flash of brave or humane exploits which occasionally lighten the gloom. More power to the principles of the "Friends" whose Convention met in Toronto recently, for their consistent effort to lead the nations to settle disputes in accordance with the methods of the "Peace of Amity" rather than submit to the arbitrament of the "Demon of War."

THE ARCHBISHOP OF CANTERBURY

One of the striking features of the week has been the arrival on this continent of an Archbishop of Canterbury, coming in all the dignity of his high office on an official visit to the churches of the Anglican communion. His first official act was to preach at the Centenary celebration of Holy Trinity Cathedral in Quebec and the effort to be on time became sensational. He arrived in New York on Saturday, and a special train rushed him to Montreal then to Quebec, where he arrived on Sunday forenoon a few hours before the opening of the Cathedral service, but on time.

A very warm welcome was extended to him by Bishop Dunn and his reply in part was as follows: "From my heart I thank you for this warm and inspiring welcome. I am happy to know that my first official act in this Western world will be in humble thankfulness for the work carried on for a hundred years within the walls of the cathedral, the results of which we see and which are yet to come."

After the lessons and celebration of the Holy Communion, the Archbishop preached from Romans 5:4; "and patience, experience and hope." We give merely a brief extract from Monday's papers: "These words might stand as the motto and watchword, and not the least as the religious watchword of our colonial Empire and our colonial churches. "Of that," he said, "we had a magnificent object lesson to-day, it is assuredly with some diffidence that I stand here this morning to speak to you about that object lesson. Sixty hours only have passed since, in the happy fulfilment of the hope of my first years, I set eyes on Canada for the first time, and I might well perhaps have shrunk abashed from the presumptuous endeavor to give expression at such a moment to the feelings with which on this centenary day, your hearts are rightly full. Yet I cannot, I dare not gainsay, what has been eloquently urged upon me by those best qualified to speak.

They said there was a singular appropriateness in the opportunity so strangely—some would say accidentally—given to the man who occupies the position assigned to him in the Anglican church, of opportunity of taking part in the first centenary of the first Anglican cathedral erected in any colony of the Empire. It was an occasion of deepest meaning and only, not for Canada only, but for the Church of Christ throughout the world, and he esteemed it a very high privilege as together they thanked God and took courage. The text, he said, was one which linked in an unbroken chain the past, the present, and the future, and his Grace proceeded to speak eloquently of the history of the English church and its associations.
