Sorry to record the death of Mr Neil McFadgen, Sr, of Proton, who died Sept 7th at the age of 65 years. Mr McFadgen was a man of cheerful disposition, a strong constitution and endured the hardships of a pioneer life in common with many others. Brighter days came and for many years deceased had a comfortable home on a farm provided with good buildings and all that goes to show a successful farmer. In faith he was a Presbyterian, in politics a Reformer. His wife, who preceded him seven years ago, and whom ne always deeply mourned, was a miss Janet Brown. triend from town, spent a few days at Tor. He leaves as chief mourners 3 sons and 3 daughters, all of whom were at home and the untiring love and devotion shown by his daughters in his long illness was a credit and an honor to them.

AN INTERESTING BOOK.

Inventors and manufacturers ar frequently puzzled to know just how to proceed to protect their inventions and much valuable time is lost in acquiring information required. There is probably no profession in which technical questions are of such frequent occurrence as in patent soliciting, and there is no field of speculation in which greater care should be exercised before deciding upon a course of action.

A valuable invention, when properly protected by Letters Patent, procured by qualified technical experts, means a fortune to its lucky owner, but the same invention parented by unskilful persons may be practically of no value because of failure to properly protect the essential features of novelty which are of most value. most value.

The reasons for patent monopoly; possibility of secret use of an invention; nature and policy of patents; time required to procure a patent and the course and treatment of an application in the patent office are interestingly discussed in a recent publica-tion issued by Messrs Marion & Marion, Patent Solicitors of Montreal and called "The Inventor's Adviser."

In addition to giving a summary of the law and practice relating to patent matters, the book contains a large number of court decisions relating to patent law both in Canada. the United States and other countries, and much interesting matter not to be found elsewhere.

The book is issued to answer questions of frequent occurrence relating to patents and inventions, and will be of great service to manufacturers and in-

The price of the book is one dollar, but we have made arrangements so that our subscribers will be supplied with copies at 25c each, provided they name this paper when writing to Marion & Marion of Montreal, for copies.
