INTERNATIONAL LESSON NO. 1. OCTOBER 4, 1904.

Elisha Succeeds Elijah-2 Kings 2: 12-22.

Commentary.-I. The vision (v. 12). Lesson eleven of the third quarter should man whom God has blessed. That very now be reviewed. 12. Elisha saw it- fact is a proof that the person so favored That is, the ascension of Elijah. "Elisha is of singularly pure character and possaw this , however, not with his natural eyes, for it was a scene belonging to the young prophets who met Elisha said: spiritual world, and to behold it he must, like the young man mentioned in sha," and "they bowed themselves to the chapter vi. 17, have his inner senses un-vailed. My father—"This title of affec-him as the chosen successor of the great tion, was given by the younger prophets to an elder. Elijah had been a father to promptly his leadership. Not every him in his care and training, in love and chosen man of God has received so in legacy." "These words should be understood as an exclamation of wonder tion from his brethren. The common and amazement. Rent them-This was a common mode of expressing grief. Elisha looked upon Elijah's departure as a personal bereavement. He had lost the guide of his youth; loneliness came over him, and he acted like a heartbroken

II. Dividing the Jordan (vs. 13, 14) 13. The mantle-This was the same mantle with which he had been called by Elijah to the prophetic office, and by which Elijah divided Jordan. Having the man-the authority of his master.-Clarke. Stood by the bank-"He was the same man and yet not the same; like many another who has gone to the gate of neaven with a departing saint. He could no more lean on Elijah, but he found that acy, 1. Elijah's mantle, 2, Elijah's God. Elijah's spirit, 4, Elijah's office."

14. Smote-Elisha's first miracle was identical with Elijah's last one. "He acts upon the faith that he would receive from God the power which he had desirsired."-Lumby. Where is, etc.,-"This question does not imply doubt of God's presence, but is an entreaty for his power to show itself, and give a foretaste of the spirit of Elijah which had been

III. Searching for Elijah (vs. 15-18). 15. Sons of the prophets—The fifty who had gone to a height to watch Elijah and Elisha as they went across the Jordan (v. 7), and were waiting for his return. They said, etc.-When they saw the miracle wrought by Elisha they were confirmed in the belief that he was divinely appointed successor of Elijah. Bowed themselves—Thus showing that they acknowledged him as their head. "These men were trained up in the schools of the prophets-Elisha at the plow and cart; yet now they stand not upon terms of their worth and his meanness, but meekly fall down before him whom God had honored.

16. Seek thy master - It cannot be supposed after what they had said before to Elisha, that the Lord would take away his master on that day, that they expected to find Elijah somewhere alive. Ye shall not-Elisha was absolutely certain that the body could not be found. 17. Ashamed—To refuse longer to grant their request. He saw that they would not be satisfied until they had made the search. The best way to solve doubts and questionings about religion is by a personal investigation. 18. Did I not say-The search only confirmed the words of Elisha. "Those that would find Elijah, let them aspire to the heavenly paradise. Let them follow the high steps of his sincere faithfulness, strong patience, undrunted courage, fervent zeal, and constant obedience."—Bishop Hall. IV. Healing the waters (vs. 19-22), 19.

Men of the city-Prominent citizens of the place. Perhaps they were the elders of the city who thus applied to Elisha and their action shows that he had their confidence. Is naught—Is bad, harmful: the word "naught" was formerly used in this sense. Ground barren-See R. V. at Regina. "Casteth her fruit."-R. V., margin. The the hurtful water, for the healing of the spring is to bring a remedy for the other 20. A new cruse-A new cup or dish.

Salt therein-"Elisha, in working this miracle, would seem to make use of means just as did desus attending the conference of the Institute when he put spittle on the blad man's of International Law at Edinburgh, eyes" (John ix. 6). "The injurious prowater by the salt poured in; for even if combatted Larwin's theory of the orig. whole spring could not be corrected by a single dish of salt, even for one day, much less for a longer time, or forever. 21, Unto the spring-The fountain bursts forth at the eastern foot of a high double mound, or group of mounds, situated a mile or more in front of the mountain Quarantania, and about thirty five minutes from the modern village of Jericho, Lord ... healed-Not Elisha, Bradstreet's cm Trade.

The sorting trade at Montreal in general staple goods during the past week has been more active. Shipments of goods to the west are being rushed forward in considerable volume to take advantage of the water freights. Crop reports from the Northwest are now more encouraging, and prospects for business generally are considered bright. At Toronto the activity which has characterized trade during the Exhibition has been well maintained. Travellers are out on their routes now and are sending cottons and colored goods, showing reductions from that of last year of about en per cent, all round.

Wholesale circles at Quebec during the past week shows no immediate imprevenent over that of the past. On the whole the outlook is favorable, and storekeepers are preparing for an active win-

In Vancouver, Victoria, etc., business at the Pacific Coast generally is well up to expectations for this time of the year. The demand for winter supplies from the inland mining centres is quite an important factor in the jobbing trade at present. Payments are reported as being fairly satisfactory.

At Winnipeg there is a more cheerful feeling in business circles now that considerably over seventy-five per cent, of tinue without interference, the wheat crop has been cut. High prices, of course, are expected for the season's crop, and altogether the financial results of the season's operations in the wheat belt, no matter what may happen from now on, will be much better than last year's.

At Hamilton this week, according to goods. Orders coming forward are on a liberal scale, and in many cases are calling for a higher class of goods than in previous seasons. Stocks in wholesale trade circles are very complete and attractive now, and the prospects are for a large season's turnover.

In London wholesale circles this week there has been a better inquiry for most all lines of fall goods. The farmers are still busy with harvest operations, but will soon be making larger deliveries of produce at country trade centres, and that will stimulate business generally.

Wholesale trade conditions at Ottawa continue satisfactory, as reported to Bradstreet's this week. Shipments are larger in some important departments of trade, and all indications of trade point to a successful season. Values of staple and imported goods continue firm.

Tax on Commercial Travellers Reduced. Quebec, Sept. 2t. -At a meeting of the By-Laws Committee at the City Hall last night the principal object was to decide whether or not the committee should repeal an act passed two years ago, imposing a tax of $500 on commercial travellers doing business directly with the consumer, and not with the trades. The by-law was repealed, and the $500 tax was reduced to $60.

Berlin, Sept. 26 .- The Russian crusades against the Jews have penetrated to Germany, according to information obtained to-day, which details occurrences in Germany rivaling the deeds of the Jew baiters in Russia. This information has reached the world by channels similar to that through which came the news of the Kishineff slaughter.

There was a riot at Sasnovitch one week ago to-day, it is reported. News of this outbreak evidently has been successfully suppressed by the German officials, the first information concerning it being that received to-day. How this was accomplished in Germany, where the press enjoys a large measure of freedom, is not understood here.

Jews were murdered in the streets of Sasnovitch and blood flowed in the gutters like a stream. The dead are over fifty and the wounded, while not known, reach hundreds. More than 160 were left for dead or believed to have been mortally wounded.

Sasnovitch, where the riot is reported to have occurred, is a small city in the province of Prisen, in Germany, near the Russian border. The population of the place is made up of Jews, Germans and

The riots began at sunrise on Sunday one week ago and continued until the rioters were exhausted. Bodies of victime were dismembered. The rioters used axes and knives to chop off arms and legs, the severed members being tossed to the dogs in the streets.

In one instance, it is reported, the arms of a sexton of a synogogue were twisted from his body by his assailants, and the wounded who were carried to hospitals were maltreated after reachng the institutions.

The bloodthirsty mob fell upon the Jewish quarter after sunrise, and whenever it encountered a Jew pursued him and stabbed him in the back or shot him down as he was making his escape. The bodies of those who were riddled with shot were left to lie in the street until the second mob, carrying knives, would come along. With their sharp blades they severed hands, legs and feet. Fragments of these bodies were hurled

Victims of the slaughter were chopped and dismembered so that identification of the corpses by friends was almost impossible

British M. P. Expected in Canada About End of October.

Toronto, Sept. 26 .- The Right Hon. John Morley, M. P., the author of the blography of Mr. Gladstone, and many other works, and who has held important Cabinet positions in Britain, expects to be in Toronto some time towards the end of October. Such is the purport of a letter which the Hon. Richard Parcourt, Minister of Education, received yesterday from Mr. Morley.

When Mr. Harcourt was about to leave Britain after his recent visit he learned that Mr. Morley was to go to Pittsburg, Pa., to open the great new library Mr. Carnegie is donating to that city. Mr. Harcourt at once wrote urging Mr. Morley to visit Toronto, and in reply Mr. Morley wrote that he would probably visit Toronto before going to Pittsburg, and might spend two days here. It is possible that the university may add to the honorary degrees he has already received from Oxford, Cambridge, Glasgow C 1
