"For want of a Nail, the Shoe was lost:
For want of a Shoe, the Horse was lost:
For want of a Horse, the Rider was lost:
And all for the want of a horseshoe Nail."

You remember the old jingle? Well, its often so. The great losses are often due to a lack of attention to some small detail.

Darling's Baking Powder

Perhaps some of our best cooks have lost many Cakes and Pastry by the use of inferior Baking Powder. It's easy to cook with Darling's Baking Powder and its use insures success. No soggy cake, no biscuit thrown away, but digestible food at every baking—that causes the smile that won't come off.

PERSONAL MENTION

Mr. T. J. Jordan, Holstein, was in town Tuesday.

Mrs. John Kelly is a guest of Toronto friends this week.

Mr. J. P. Telford took a business trip to Owen Sound last week.

Mrs. John McKechnie and children are in Hanover this week.

Mrs. Bean returned Monday from visiting her sister in Toronto.

Mrs. Bradshaw of Toronto is visiting her daughter Mrs. Dr. Jamieson.

Mrs. Burnett, Mrs. Curran, and Mrs. Russell drove to Mt. Forest on Monday.

Dr. Jamieson went to Toronto on Monday morning returning Tuesday evening.

Miss Violet Blackburn returned to Chicago on Monday to resume nursing after a long holiday at home.

Miss Ross returned to Toronto Tuesday after spending a couple of months at Mrs. McLean's, Upper Town.

Mr. Donald McDonald came home Tuesday from a visit to his daughter in Toronto. Mrs. McDonald is under the doctor's care.

Miss Matheson of Clinton, sister of the groom, and Mr. W. E. Theobald, Mount Forest, are guests at the Matheson-Davidson wedding to-day.

Mr. John and Miss Tena Rose returned Monday from St. Louis. Owing to the serious illness of their father, they came home sooner than at first intended.

Messrs. Rev. Newton, C. McDougall and Thos. McComb, are this week delegates to the great Provincial Baptist Convention in Toronto. Meetings run from Monday to Friday.

Mr. Will Jack, Traverston, brother of Mrs. Neil McKechnie, is being married to-day, Wednesday, to Miss Mary Glencross, who lately returned from Toronto. They will reside on the old Jack homestead. Congratulations.

Miss Mary Gordon left on Monday for Hamilton to take a course in the Ontario Normal College preparatory to taking a teacher's course in Domestic Science at the MacDonald Institute in Guelph. We have not heard who her successor is in Magwood's school, near Hanover, where she was getting $100 a year.

Rev. Jas. Binnie, Tweed, was in Toronto last week on Church business, and took a run home for a few days to see his mother and other relatives. He left Friday morning, attended the great Laurier meeting in Toronto and writes us that "It was great, Laurier is a king among men, head and shoulders above the rest of them."

Amongst the notables at the Baptist Convention in Toronto this week is Rev. J. W. A. Stewart, D. D., Dean of the Theological Seminary of Rochester, well known here and a son of the late Rev. Alex Stewart. Mayor Erquhart of Toronto and Hon. John Dryden are also on the program. Tuesday's News had a cut of Rev. Dr. Stewart.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Carson came home Saturday last, having enjoyed their month's visit at Lauder, Man., with the members of their family there. A peculiar mistake gave them a startling surprise. A telegram reached them from a son expected every day, that "Carson was dead, would arrive Thursday," and investigation showed that a telegraph office had made "dead" out of "delayed."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

To the Editor of the REVIEW,
SIR:

I have regarded with some little amusement the letters and articles in last week's Durham Chronicle written with the purpose of making the electors believe that I or my friends have been endeavoring to make political capital out of the argument that I am a Methodist and a man that does not drink. I have never done anything of the kind nor do I believe that you or anyone else have done so in my behalf. It is, however, perfectly true that an ardent supporter of the Conservative candidate did request voters in Normanby to vote against me because I, he said, am "a Methodist and a temperance man," and the same ardent supporter, who by the way is rather a good fellow and a personal friend of mine, though politically opposed to me, admitted to me that he had used such arguments against me.

I was also told by one of the electors of Neustadt that Mr. McKinnon himself had solicited his vote on the ground that "Miller was a temperance man." Of this I have no evidence further than the elector's word.

If Mr. McKinnon is determined to avoid the discussion on the public platform of the political issues of the day and if his canvas is to be carried on by either himself or his friends going up and down the Concessions and sidereads to make capital out of my church relationship or as to what I do or do not drink or eat, then neither he nor his friends need lash themselves into any fury or excitement if their low methods are discovered and pointed out.

I challenge anyone to show that I have at any time or to any person endeavored to make any political capital out of Mr. McKinnon's personal habits or practices. I have endeavored and will endeavor to carry on the campaign on a higher plane. In fact I do not think that any insinuations have been made as to Mr. McKinnon's habits and it does seem strange that his friends should be so fearful lest any such references should be made.

The gentleman (?) who writes to the Chronicle under the heading "Corner Concerns" was particularly funny and particularly untruthful in his last week's letter. He refers to my nationality as if that had anything to do with the matter in hand. I claim to be a Canadian and that is good enough for me, but when "Corner Concerns" says that a daughter of the late Colonel Munro was my step-grandmother, he is wrong as I never had a step-grandmother, and when he says that my father was bred and born in Coboes, New York State, he is again wrong as my father was born in Cooksville, sixteen miles from Toronto, and was raised in our good Province of Ontario; when he states that my mother was born of English parents he is again wrong as my mother's people were Irish when he intimates that in 1891 I tried to improperly influence voters he is a base slanderer, and if he will make any definite statement I will gladly give him an opportunity to prove it at his cost or mine.

It is just as silly for these small fry among my opponents to try to make capital out of my nationality, church, &c., as it is for some of their bigger friends to continually cry against Mr. Laurier because that he is a Frenchman and a catholic, and yet I suppose that such tactics will continue to be pursued and that my opponent will continue to refuse to publicly discuss such questions as the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, the Tariff, &c., &c.

I am Sir,
Yours Truly,
H. H. MILLER.

Office of R. B. Miller,
Division St.
Owen Sound, Oct. 17th, 1904

Editor of the DURHAM REVIEW:

Dear Sir:—My attention has been called to a slanderous article in the Durham Chronicle against my son H. H. Miller, said article professing to give an authoritative record of his family history, and with your permission I beg to point out a few inaccuracies in said article. In the first place the writer says that all the Scotch blood in H. H. Miller, he got from his step-grandmother. Now I wish to say that the gentleman in question never had a step-grandmother. My mother (not my step-mother) was the fourth daughter of the late Col. Hugh and Grace Munro (Scotch of the Scotch.) Again he says that I am a natural born and bred Yankee, born at Coboes, New York State. He is getting my history down line but I must say not very authoritative, for I never was in or saw Coboes, but was born not 100 miles from Durham, 16 miles from Toronto, and with the exception of 18 months have spent my whole life in Canada. As to my wife being of English parentage this is another falsehood, not a drop of English blood in her veins and she is not a Yankee either.

Now Mr. Editor I do not know who wrote this piece of scandal but it looks very much like as if the Editor of the Durham Chronicle might at least be its step-father. But in any case the writer has a right to rank alongside the late Ananias as an economizer of the truth. As to the things he said about my son's private character, I pass over as beneath my contempt. Thanking you for space in your paper. I remain yours,
R. B. MILLER,
Father of H. H. MILLER.

The Editor REVIEW:

Sir:—There may not be much in a name but there is frequently deep significance in a nick name. The individual who writes the "Corner Concerns" for the Chronicle is known as the "Gander." Just how apt this name is we will see on consulting the authorities. Webster's definition is "a biped, male for goose." That he is a biped belonging to the goose family is self-evident: the rest is on record.
Yours,
OBSERVER.

Editor REVIEW:

Dear Sir:—Only two weeks to Election Day, therefore there should be no slackness. Don't throw your votes away nor heed the seductions of any away cox for Mr. McKinnon because that "Laurier is safe." Decide now that when you enter the polls on Nov. 3 you will vote straight for Laurier, for the British preference, for a growing Canada, for progress, and you can do that only by voting for Miller.

An honest voter is the safeguard of a nation: the man who prizes his franchise to the extent that it is part of himself, and hence unpurchasable, has the heart-beat of the true patriot. When the Political Fibroch sounds and Political parties line up in battle array, he is not carried off his feet by the first blast. Quietly he weighs the great principles at stake, asks himself which are false, which true, decision resolves itself into action, he girds himself and enters the ranks not only willing to fight but also to encourage his comrades in the contest.

Therefore voters think of the prosperity and the growth of Canadian nationhood under Laurier; you put a check on present prosperity unless you mark your ballot for Miller, who by talent natural and acquired is a fitting person to send to Ottawa to represent us.
Thanks for space

When at length the doors of the great warehouse opened the men who were assembling there many faces that were common run, was an all but impalpable look.

Who granted the goods, the goods were not the first occasion of Sir Willard Miller's appearance before a Toronto audience. The first time he appeared in the city was in 1891, when he came to the city to see the great exhibition. He was then a young man, and he was then a young man, and he was then a young man.
