For Want of a Nail

For want of a Nail, the Shoe was lost:
For want of a Shoe, the Horse was lost:
For want of a Horse, the Rider was lost:
And all for the want of a horseshoe Nail.

You remember the old jingle? Well, its often so. The great losses are often due to a lack of attention to some small detail.

HYMENEAL

A quiet but pretty wedding took place at the home of the Misses McLarty, Victoria St., at 7 o'clock on Wednesday evening, when Isabelle McLarty, youngest daughter of the late Archibald McLarty of Durham, and until recently a valued member of the Sun staff, became the wife of Mr. Hewston Young, head upholsterer at the North American Bent Chair Co.'s factory, and eldest son of Mr. Truman Young, Stephen St. Only a few of the immediate relatives of the contracting parties were present at the interesting ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Dr. Somerville, pastor of Division St. Presbyterian Church. A bank of ferns and plants before which the parties stood made a pleasing effect. The bride who was unattended was prettily gowned in cream voile trimmed with seed pearls and French embroidery, and carried a shower bouquet of carnations and maiden hair fern. At the conclusion of the ceremony a supper and other services served in the adjoining dining-room and the dainty table decorations were of pink and white. The magnificent array of wedding gifts testified in some measure to the regard in which the bride is held by her many friends. Mr. and Mrs. Young will reside in their new home on Sutherland St. The management and staff of the Sun join in extending to them their best wishes for a life full of happiness and prosperity.—Con.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

EDITOR REVIEW.

Dear Sir,
The management of South Grey Fair has been criticised through the columns of the local papers by one signing himself "Farmer" and the other signing "Member." The writers seem not to have the courage to come to any meetings to offer their advice or ask for information.

The "Farmer" complains about the small display of potatoes. Now if the growers die out of the market, the potatoes you can't blame the management as the prizes were offered.
In reply to the member we may say that if he come to the Secretary's office he will have full liberty to examine the accounts or if he be manly enough to attend the meetings and ask for information he will be furnished with it.

The annual meeting is always well advertised in the local papers and he should—if he read them—see the date. South Grey Fair is now acknowledged to be the best in the North-Western portion of the Province, and excepting the writers, every visitor to the Fair of 1903 was well satisfied.

Now we do not object to you offering criticism, but we do object to the manner in which you offer it. Would it not be more manly to come to the directors and offer advice? Now Mr. Farmer if you will become a member we shall be pleased to have you on the board and shall be pleased to adopt any suggestion you may make on "How to increase the potato exhibit," and Mr. Member make yourself known and do doubt you shall be made a director so that the board may profit by your ability as a financier.
Signed on behalf of the Board
by a DIRECTOR.

Mr. Miller at Chatsworth.

Editor DURHAM REVIEW:
Dear Sir—As one of the listeners at Mr. H. H. Miller's meeting at Chatsworth last night, I cannot refrain from expressing my satisfaction with the Liberal candidate for South Grey. The Liberals of the riding are certainly to be congratulated on having placed so competent a standard bearer in the field. The speech was admitted on all hands to be one of the ablest ever delivered in our Town Hall, and we have had some of the best speakers in the Dominion here. This may seem an exaggeration but it certainly is not. Mr. Miller has the rare faculty of making his arguments and descriptions stand out so clearly that his hearers can see and understand them so distinctly as if they were printed in bright colors before their eyes. This I repeat is a rare natural gift. His description and explanation of the Transcontinental Railway, the tariff question, the development of the Dominion under Liberal rule, and many of the other great issues before the country were of a masterly character, and were enjoyed by all present, friends as well as opponents as a rare treat. The people of this part will await with interest the appearance of his opponent on the same platform. A man of Mr. Miller's ability and powers of exposition could not fail if elected to have a marked influence in the House of Commons and to be of great advantage to the constituency he would represent. For these reasons as well as for the grand record of progress and prosperity which the Dominion can show for the past eight years, surely it will be in the interest of South Grey to elect Mr. Miller on the 3rd of November.
ONE WHO WAS PRESENT.
Chatsworth, Oct. 21, 1904.

SOME REASONS

Why Miller should be Elected.

Mr. Miller is a resident of Hanover. There is no rivalry between the two towns. The great need of both is a cross country railway running from some point on the C. P. R. Westward through Durham and Hanover. Mr. Miller has always been active in supporting such a proposition and when, recently, a charter was applied for, for a C. P. R. branch from Hanover to Teeswater he advocated strongly in a public meeting the extension of the road. Elected through Durham to a point on the C. P. R. Owen Sound branch, stating that it would be a greatly increased convenience to the public and a source of greatly increased profit to the Railway Company. The prosperity of the industries of either Durham or Hanover will provide increased freight to such a road and help to obtain its construction so that the prosperity of either town will help the other.

The principal industries of both Durham and Hanover are furniture and cement factories. Mr. Miller has several thousand dollars invested in furniture and cement factories in Hanover and any legislation that will assist the furniture and cement industries of Hanover, in which Mr. Miller is so largely personally interested cannot fail to be to the same extent, an advantage to the same branches of manufacture in Durham. Mr. Miller is interested as a small stock holder in the Durham Cream Separator Factory.

Mr. Miller is much more like a citizen of Durham than most men of the riding who do not now live in Durham. For over four years he lived here. He learned his business in Durham and since leaving us has kept up a business connection and retained many warm friendships. Many Durham Liberals have supported Dr. Jamieson and we think that it will be no injury to Durham, any more than to any other part of the riding should Mr. Miller be elected as representative from South Grey to the House of Commons. We believe, too, that he will be. All signs point that way.

Where is Mr. McKinnon? His name appears as one of the speakers on the posters advertising his meetings but he does not appear on some platforms. Why? Is it because he has no opinions or ideas to express, or is it because he is unable or afraid to express them? In either case is he a fit man to represent South Grey in the House of Commons? What use would such a man be to us if elected? Really we think that the first time in the history of South Grey that a political candidate, upon either side, failed to make full use of the platform to state his own case.

Beware of roorbacks and news-papers election yarns that may appear just before Election day when there will be no opportunity to deny or contradict them. Do not be influenced by any such stories which are just as likely to be untrue as the stories that have appeared about Mr. Miller's lineage.

ABOUT MEETINGS.

The Conservative candidate and his friends allowed a week or 10 days to go by after announcement of election date before they made their minds up as to whether or no they should have meetings. It was Mr. Miller's desire to have Union Meetings and on Monday Oct. 3, he wrote Mr. McKinnon, posting and registering the letter in Durham that day asking him to agree to such meetings and requesting an answer by noon of Wednesday, Oct. 5, so that there would be time to announce them in that week's papers.

Mr. McKinnon informed us in the Post office Wednesday afternoon about 3 p. m. that he had written a reply. We called at his residence and got it. It stated that the question of union meetings would be decided by the executive, which was to meet in a few days: it didn't say no, it didn't say yes.

Evidently the decision of the executive has been against such meetings for nothing more has been heard of them. Mr. Miller went on, advertised his own meetings by paper and poster, and ultimately his opponents followed suit on the same lines.

But what do the electors of South Grey, of Egremont any way, think of the situation? Was it ever before seen that a candidate did not attend his own meetings? Mr. McKinnon was conspicuous by his absence at the meetings called in his interest at Robertson's school house, Dromore and Holstein last week. It was not claimed he was holding meetings elsewhere, but it was explained that not knowing the election was coming on so soon he had neglected his canvas, and was now trying to overtake it!!

Surely the public have a right to expect a man trying for public position to make public appearances: one sagacious Egremont farmer said "if McKinnon could take Richardson and Lucas to Ottawa with him, it might do." Mr. Laidlaw at Holstein pointed out the value of Mr. McKinnon's municipal experience: surely its value should be seen in the proper discussion of public questions. Mr. McKinnon on several occasions has shown he could discuss Co. Council questions, and that he does not now discuss national questions is either because he can't or he won't.

To avoid union meetings, to absent himself from his own meetings and have his cause upheld by others is surely evidence enough that Parliament is not Mr. McKinnon's sphere, and South Grey will honor itself next week by electing him to stay at home, a result at this writing almost a certainty.
