HILLYDALE.
Well Mr. Editor I thought I would send you in a few lines of interest and add to your paper another correspondent, the Hillydale of Egremont, where there is very little going on but a good deal talked about. This Hillydale is a place situated east of Varney, north of Holstein, and west of Dromore, where everybody is sociable and kind to each other as two doves in a cage.

Mr Jas Mathews took in the Honey, Fruit, and Flower Show in Toronto last week and reports it a very fine place to go for instructions for anyone interested in any one of those branches of industry.

Mr Robert Barbour has gone to work for Mr D McLean, our lumberman. We understand that he has been appointed foreman since he went there. If Bob comes out fat in the spring I think every body will try it next winter.

Mr Bert Willis, of Durham, is out doing the cooking for D McLean's lumber camp crew this winter. Some of the girls would be a little taken back if they only saw Bert at his household duties and running for safety if a tree fell near the shanty.

Mr Jas M Mathews, night watchman on the Neil Gow, had to give over his charge to a young man for a few nights while he was at home nursing the little baby girl which came recently. The young man fell asleep while on duty, the whistle started to blow and alarmed all the neighborhood, but the youth slept on thinking it was the sweet bye & bye on the beautiful shore.

Thanksgiving day passed off quietly. The good people went to thrashings and the other class went hunting, etc.

Mr Palmer Paterson while cutting wood in the bush with Mr A Watson got his thumb split open with an axe which will lay him off work for more than a month.

Mr John McMeekin, of Michigan, U S, but formerly of this part, was united in marriage on Nov. 9 to a young lady of that same State, but we can't give the name at this time. We join in wishing Jack and his bride a happy and prosperous future.

If the Varney people don't get a new sidewalk before the next election I don't think they will ever get it, so Billy Bryans says.

Mrs Wm McMeekin had a quilting bee on Friday. The quilts, I expect, were done up in good style, and I also expect it was a very busy day of conversation.

Mr James Mack, the Corner correspondent of the Chronicle, is somewhat wobbly cropped since the election, but I expect he will be getting pretty well feathered out by this time. I wonder if he will have the hair straightened on his horse in time for the next election.

Mr Wm Lawrence is out collecting taxes at present.

Comr Jas Allen was in Owen Sound last week.

Owing to the cold weather of late we notice that one of the business places at Varney has not enjoyed a fire in their room yet but enjoys to look at their good pile of wood outside.

EDGE HILL.
Mrs Joseph Lindsay and Mrs Adamson of Walkerton, visited at Mrs S Edge's for a few days lately.

Sorry to hear of Mr James McCracken being seriously ill. We hope soon to hear of his recovery.

Mr and Mrs Jas Gowanlock of Paisley, spent Thanksgiving at Mr D McFayden's, of the Avenue.

Miss Annie Aljoe is learning dressmaking with the Misses Huzhes, of town.

A number from this burg attended the pie social in the lower school last Friday and report an excellent time.

A very enjoyable time was spent at the hospitable home of Mrs D Firth last Thursday evening in music, games and dancing till the wee sma' hours.

Mr. W R Edge spent a few days in Toronto last week.

Mr Robt McCracken, of Aberdeen, visited his brother, Mr James McCracken, who is very poorly.

Mr Wm Weir, we understand, has consented to run for the council and has consented. He will be sure to go in and will be a worthy member.
