PERSONAL MENTION

Mr R MacFarlane, Sr., is still confined to the house, but holding his own and we expect to see him around soon.

Rev Mr Masson is under the weather this week and was unable to take his appointments on Sunday last.

Mrs Brown, of near Hanover, was visiting her mother, Mrs McIntosh, Upper Town, who is recovering from her illness.

Mr and Mrs Alex. Bell, parents of Mr Allan Bell, agent, have given up farming, and are moving into town, having bought a residence on Countess St.

Word has been received from Allister Gordon, Milestone, Assa., that on the 15th inst, it was 40° below zero, while a week later it was ideal June weather.

Principal Allan is working away but not feeling very well following the anxious time he had during the illness of his son Arthur, who is now recovering, though slowly.

Capt. O. M. Snider, of Hampden, was in town Tuesday evening and begins to-day, Wednesday, his big task of assessing Normanby under the New Act. He begins at Mr David McCrie's and goes right to Mt. Forest.

Mr. Hugh McKinnon, Basewood, Man., came home last week and gave us a call on his way to Toronto, where he is to undergo an operation of a simple nature. He returns to the West in the spring and we hope he may go in robust health.

Mr H R Koch, in charge of the Entrance classes in the Public School has sent in his resignation, having secured a position as book-keeper with the Furniture Co. We wish Mr Koch success, though, speaking as a member of the School Board, it is a bad time for the classes.

[The following item, sent by a friend is somewhat outdated but we give it place.—Ed.] Mr Duncan Galbraith, Sterling, Manitoba, will return home on Tuesday after a two months visit among his friends and acquaintances. Mr Galbraith moved to Manitoba about 8 years ago. He visited the Guelph Fair Cattle Show and also took in the Pricedville Scotch Concert and enjoyed it immensely. His many friends here wish him and his daughter Phemie a safe journey home.—Com.

BEFORE THE MAGISTRATE.—The four boys charged with stealing money from the till of Mrs. Beggs' store were, at the brought before Police Magistrate Telford on Friday last. The sum stolen was about $5.00 and $3.50 had been returned, the rest having been spent in cigarettes, candies, &c, before the theft was traced home. All four pleaded guilty and kindly yet firmly Mr Telford pointed out to the boys the gravity of their offence, and the necessity of turning from such practices. The boys are all under 16, likely looking fellows to make good citizens, and it is to be hoped this experience, judiciously used by parents and others will lead to better things. Barrister McCaul appeared for the two Volletts, Fulton and Hartford being unrepresented. He asked that no sentence be imposed on account of their youth. He lamented the example and conduct of even older boys on the street. The magistrate took a lenient view, being a first offence, and they were allowed off on suspended sentence, full restitution to be made to Mrs. Beggs forthwith and payment of costs incurred.

The Evolution of Japan.

This was the title of an address given by Rev. Mr. Farquharson before the Guild on Monday last. The address from beginning to end was full of interesting and instructive matter showing great research into all available authorities, and was worthy of a larger audience than a well-filled basement.

He began by showing that Japan had a corporate existence, centuries before the birth of Christ, that the Royal family of Japan was the oldest in the world, and pointed out parallels to the early history of Britain and Europe while yet the Roman Empire held sway. A species of Feudalism grew up in Japan after centuries of worship of the Emperor as the Son of Heaven, and this held sway till 1603, though before this internal strife comparable to the English "Wars of the Roses" prepared the way for advance.

In 1603 a great leader arose who took the title of Shogun, and the body of men, who under him ruled in the name of the emperor, often a mere child, was called the "Shogunate."

This rule continued for 250 years, and it was part of their deliberate policy to keep Japan free from contamination with all foreigners and trading with other nations strictly prohibited.

Even a coast mariner, blown by contrary winds say to the Korean shores, was looked upon with suspicion when he came back. In 1853 Commodore Perry of the United States with ships and guns called to ask or rather demand an opening for trade. Before his time only 3 Dutch ships once a year were allowed to call. Perry's diplomacy aided by his big guns in the background, secured a treaty, then the other powers wanted similar favors, and there was like to be a revolution over the breaking of the rule of the Shogunate. In 1868 the fall of this body took place and the Emperor was acknowledged head of Japan.

Not being able to keep back the tide of foreigners, they set themselves to learn from them in all particulars and that they have done so in the realm of peace and war is very evident. The stimulus of foreign intercourse has nearly doubled since 1853 and they are increasing more rapidly than most nations. Illustrations were given to show that they were surprisingly apt as imitators with a surprising ability to adapt the best of everything to their own use.

Mr F. then entered on an analysis of Japanese character which was feeling the influence of modern civilization is a common bond, yet with individual freedom. Complete subjection to the state was placed before all other claims, a temper of stern obedience to law gained a footing even yet, noticeable. The Japanese mind was naturally suspicious, crookedness was a mark of their character, yet no nation could hide their feelings under an immobility of feature like the Japanese.

Their code of honor led to strange freaks, one of the most gruesome being the practice of self-destruction by disembowelling, "hari-kari," yet even this cultivated a hardness of individual temper which in children was fostered by sending them to sepuiches at ghostly hours.

This temper and training has destroyed all the tenderness which associates itself with lovmaking in western lands, the language has no personal pronoun, but instead has some fantastic salutations, "honorifics" and "humiliatics," a species of depreciation of self and appreciation of others which is purely formal.

The Japs are successful imitators rather than inventors. Buddhism, Confucianism and character writing have been borrowed from the Chinese, but all have been improved. They are lax in morals and ignore what we in some cases would call ordinary decency. One third of all the marriages are followed by divorce, and the Emperor at least has a species of concubinage. This is being thrown off however. The very frequent occurrence of seismic and other natural convulsions in Japan has led to a sort of fatalism, which the speaker hoped would, along with other weaknesses be dispelled by the light of the gospel and the power of the cross.

A hearty vote of thanks was given the lecturer.

Annual Meeting.

The Annual meeting of the Durham Furniture Company, Limited, was held on Friday night last when a goodly number of shareholders were present to listen to the Auditors' report and for the election of officers for the coming year.

The factory has been in operation for the past five years and it is gratifying to see that good progress is being made. Although the Company does not see its way clear to pay a dividend, yet the capital is being materially increased. During the year the net profits were $3138.34, and considering that the factory was closed for over 2 months, this is remarkably good showing. The Net Profits for the year were $3138.34.

The books of the Company were carefully audited by Messrs. McIntosh & Koch and a full report was handed to the Directors and others who wished to have it. Mr McIntosh was present at the meeting and explained the report to the satisfaction of all.

Wm. Calder, who claimed to be the largest stock-holder, seemed to be looking over the statement for some missing link, but his efforts were fruitless as the Directors and Auditors were able and willing to explain everything to him to his satisfaction.

Mr Laidlaw, although not a stockholder, was on hand to give some advice in regard to town loan. As the general feeling of the people seemed to be that they were together as members of a Company, they did not pay much attention to the speaker's remarks, which would have been more appropriate in a meeting of the Town Council than in that of the Furniture Company.

The meeting went along smoothly and everyone seemed to be well pleased with the condition of the Company's affairs, when it came to the election of officers several additional names were added for Directors. However all but the last years' Board and Mr Calder withdrew and then it appeared as if some trouble was on hand. Mr A W H Lauder, not being as anxious as some others for the position, willingly resigned and so the Board for the present year will be composed of the four members of last years' Board, viz: Dr Jamieson, N McIntyre, J W Crawford and Geo Sparling and in addition Mr Wm Calder.

As the Company is, no doubt, in good hands, we may look forward to good results in the future.—Com.

THE LATE NEIL McCALLUM.

Another of the pioneers of this district is numbered with the dead. Mr. Neil McCallum of Mulock, died on Monday morning last, Feb. 27, at the age of 73 years. For about a year the deceased has been failing, and the end came gradually, but we have not heard at this writing if there was any immediate cause. He was a man of principle and integrity and will be sincerely mourned by many besides his own family circle. He leaves as chief mourners, his widow, two sons, John in the North West and Donald at home, four daughters: Mrs Phillips, Owen Sound, Mrs. Chaudeloux, B. C., and Mary and Elizabeth at home. It will be remembered that a little over a year ago a son and brother Hugh, met a sad death by drowning. John McCallum, ex-deputy reeve and well-known in Bentinck is a brother of deceased, another being Dugald, of Cheyenne, Col. The remains will be buried in Latona cemetery on Wednesday.
