Cement.

The stockholders of the National Portland Cement Co will, no doubt, be interested in the result of the annual meeting held in Toronto last week. The outstanding facts are that there is no dividend yet, that Pres Cowham has resigned and is entirely out of the company, and that the mill in Durham proved itself a money maker last year, about $50,000 being the profit on the year's operations, which has gone to reduce the loan.

The shareholders, says the Globe report, were greatly pleased by the showing of 1904 and congratulated the Directors on their creditable management. They also expressed regret at the withdrawal of Mr Whitton, of Hamilton, and of Mr Cowham and a vote of thanks to last year's Board was unanimously adopted.

Between two and three hundred shareholders were present and were pleased at the optimistic turn affairs have taken. With the price of cement promising to be higher this year there is every prospect of the stock becoming more valuable, a result greatly desired by those who placed faith and funds in the institution, which is at present the largest mill operating in Canada.

Active preparations are being made for resumption of work at as early a date as possible under the able management of Mr Farr.

An obituary notice of Mr David Starick, a Proton pioneer, will appear in Hopeville's correspondence next week.

Mr Angus McDonald, a nephew of Donald McQuarrie of Bentinck, met a violent death on Sunday last 5th inst. While walking on the track he in some way fell in front of an approaching train and was killed. Deceased was well-known in Bentinck and about 50 years of age.

The soft, dreamy gliding of the low lonesome away all other sounds and thoughts, and the voice of the violin had the room to itself. There are times when Mr. Fox seems especially inspired, and this last effort was a good instance. Prolonged and eager applause succeeded in recalling once more the popular violinist whose talent is only equalled by his generosity.—London Free Press, December 1904. Will appear in fourth Hall, Durham, Thursday, March 9th, 1905.

In Memoriam.

MR ROBT. MACFARLANE.

We little thought last week when we wrote hopefully of the above gentleman, that the chariots of Death were so near, and that another name was to be added to the long roll of those, who care, he died on Monday morning from a heart weakness following several weeks' suffering from kidney trouble, which his physicians and many friends here hoped he would surmount, but which has proved fatal.

Mr MacFarlane was over the allotted span of human life and, until lately, was healthy and vigorous for one of his years. His wife, for whom he deeply mourned, died about eight years ago, and their six children will always cherish the memory of parents whose example and precept were precious benedictions. His sons are David, Caledon; George, Glenora; Robert, in business here and Archie of Brussels. Mrs. J. P. Hunter and Mrs. A. H. Jackson, of this town, are daughters. On the domestic sphere, where children and grandchildren sincerely mourn, are many who will long remember the kindly qualities of head and heart that characterized the deceased as neighbor and friend.

In public life the deceased was public-spirited to a degree. He sat for many years in the council and no public question, even up to the last, failed to receive his attention or awaken his interest. He took an active part in politics in his younger days and was considerable strength to the Reform party, with which he always identified himself.

But the force of his life was not all spent in temporal affairs. He was a liberal contributor and an earnest and devoted member of the Presbyterian church, for many years he taught in the Sabbath school, took an interest in the cause at all points, and in health and vigor he was seldom or never vacant. He was somewhat suddenly leaves this world, which time will fill and modern times as severed by his death.

Mr MacFarlane was born in Paisley, Scotland and came to this country with his parents when about 10 years old. His youth was spent chiefly in Brantford, where he was married and he moved to Durham in 1862, opening a business as blacksmith and carpenter and succeeded in making for himself a comfortable home.

For some years back his life has been leisurely, but he found spheres for his activity in several congenial ways, and was a well-known figure on our streets. He is to be buried to-day, Wednesday, all his family being present.

Mrs. GEO. LEDINGHAM.
Dornoch and vicinity has lost a well-known resident and one of the worthy pioneers of the district in the death of the above lady, which occurred on Thursday last, March 2, from a stomach trouble. She was an ardent worker in church circles and took special interest in the W F M S of the Dornoch Presbyterian church, her missionary spirit finding its chief exponent in her son Alexander, now at Indore, India. She was married to Mr Ledingham in 1858 and has lived near Dornoch ever since. Her husband, (now the last of his generation) the surviving mourners. The sons are the well-known J B Jackson, Canadian Commissioner in England, James on lot 2, Alex in India, William and Robert in the West, George on the homestead, Archie in business at Williamsford and the daughter is Mrs. Boyle, Glenora.

MISS ANNIE McARTHUR.
Saturday last a large number of relatives and friends paid the last tribute of respect to Miss Annie McArthur, eldest daughter of Mr Chas McArthur, Bunnessan, who died at Niagara Falls, N. Y., three days before. The deceased had been ailing for about a year and when home about six months ago, was very low. Her sisters, Mrs. Anderson and Miss Lizzie, came home with the remains, and the funeral took place from her early home. The sorrowing parents, sisters and brothers have the sympathy of many friends in their grief. We have no other particulars at this writing.

Alymer, the six months old son of Mr and Mrs Percy Lawrence, died on Saturday last at their home here. The sorrowing parents had the remains of their little one buried at Swinton Park on Tuesday, near the home of Mrs. Lawrence, who was Miss Parslow.

DIED.
GORDON.—At Toronto, on Tuesday, 7th inst., Isabel Dun, eldest of the late David Gordon of Carleton Place and mother of A Gordon, Jeweller, aged 90 years.

DEPLORABLE FATALITY.

Monday in Owen Sound, Mrs. H. H. Burgess, wife of Inspector Burgess was killed by being thrown from a sleigh drawn by a runaway horse. Her head came in contact with an iron post, she was carried into a drug store, but before reaching it, Fred, her 14 year old son, who was with her escaped unhurt. Mr. Burgess was in Markdale and the appalling news was sent him and he arrived home at 10.40 p. m. Owen Sound is greatly saddened and all who know the popular Inspector will deeply sympathize with him and his family in their inestimable loss. Mr. and Mrs. Inspector Campbell, intimate friends of the family, drove to Owen Sound Monday evening.

Curling.

Three rinks of Durham curlers drove to Walkerton on Monday to try the lads of the broom and stone of that good town. They won a great victory, making 57 points to their 25, as recorded below. Walkerton curlers excelled themselves in every courtesy to the visitors, like true sports, and a return match will be played here this week. The score:
