WORLD'S FAIR.—Next Tuesday Holstein will be in town on the occasion of the Ag. Society's Annual Fair. As we often have had occasion to say this is one of the snugest and best Township shows in the neighborhood. Everything seems to be in clockwork and next Tuesday, Oct. 3rd, will be no exception if the weather man favors. Wm. Allan is President and A. Seim, Secy.

SOMETHING NEW.—Owen Sound capitalists are trying a new move on the lines of temperance sentiment. They have purchased the Seltzer House for $40,000, and the Queen's Hotel for $100,000, and intend to run both of these leading hotels without a bar. Wm. Legate is the chief promoter, the "Owen Sound Hotel Co." has been formed and incorporation applied for. The experiment will be watched with hopeful interest.

SERIOUS CASE.—Wilfrid, the 11-year-old son of Wm. Calder, took alarmingly ill on Sunday evening, and medical experts pronounced it a serious case of appendicitis. Dr. Groves of Fergus was brought here Monday afternoon and an operation performed. It was found that the perforation had taken place but the resources of medicine and science are wonderful and at the time of writing, Tuesday p. m., the little patient is doing well. We hope to see him bravely through it.

Priceville Show will be held on Thursday and Friday, Oct. 5 and 6, the Friday of course being the big day. Don McMillan is President, Neil McKinnon, Secy-Treas. and with two such capable officers, a wide awake bunch of Directors, and a good Prize List behind them there is no question of success. Rush in the entries early as the Secy. is an over-worked man on Show Days. As usual one of their fine concerts is planned for in the evening.

A LITTLE CHURN WONDER.—Monday last, on invitation of Insp. Campbell we joined a group of five, consisting of Drs. Jamieson and Rogers, Messrs Lewis, T. Livingston and the Inspector, to witness at Mr. Allan McKinnon's a churn in operation that has a habit of getting butter in any where from 11 to 7 minutes. This utensil has been brought to the notice of Dr. Rogers near Ingersoll, it is an American invention and the result of several tests here seems to bear out its reputation. This was the smallest size, holds about 3 1/2 gallons and public simplicity itself. It consists of a tin-plated vessel, cost 40 cts, on the inside of which are soldered two strips of tin, reaching from top to bottom and projecting inwards, in this can-pail is placed the dasher, fixed on an upright rod turning in a socket at the bottom and connected at the top with a cog-wheeled arm reaching from the standard at the side on which are the cogwheels that supply the power. Mrs. McKinnon kindly supplied the cream and on the first test, butter beautifully granulated, "was got" in 2 minutes. The second lot, from the bottom of the crock, took nearly 7 minutes, but of the same fine quality. It is said to be capable of getting butter from sweet milk in 10 minutes. In common with the rest of the party we enjoyed the test—and the buttermilk.

Millinery Apprentices wanted. Apply to S. F. MORLOCK.

Over $200.00 is being offered in prizes for horses and a gold medal valued at $15 for best single driver. Bicycle races and other attractions and a high class concert in the evening, give promise of a delightful day. And. Schenk is President, M. B. Flynn, Secy.

The Harvest Home Anniversary Services of the Methodist church, Varney, will be held on the 31st and 9th of Oct. Rev. J. Smith, of Elmwood, will preach anniversary sermons. On Monday evening our Harvest Home entertainment will be given consisting of vocal and instrumental music, readings, recitations, speeches, etc. A rare treat is expected. All are welcome. Adults 15 cts, and children 10.

The Baptist congregation had charge of this and made a great success of it. The star of the evening was Mr. Frank Slater Davidson, Detroit, who has maintained his high reputation as a vocalist and delighted the audience with a rendering of one of Will Carleton's farm ballads. The program was also honored by selections by Dr. Brown, Holstein, of the piano attachment to the piano. Our brilliant local artists did themselves credit; Miss Margaret Hunter as a reciter is hard to beat, and Miss B. Crawford and Mrs. A. W. Lauder, are both sweet queens of the song. Mrs. Newton's instrumental selections never grow old. Encores were numerous. The hall was filled and a nice collection must have resulted.

The same body had charge of the refreshments in the Town Hall and netted we hear about $85.

Rev. Mr. Aitchison's Farewell.

The congregations of Dornoch and Rocky Saugeen had good-bye to their Pastor, Rev. Mr. Aitchison on Sunday last, amid many evidences of genuine love and respect for him and for Mrs. Aitchison. During his pastorate of over three years he has shown himself a true servant of his Master and the flock to which he ministered will long bear kindly remembrance of his piety, his faithfulness and his Christian spirit.

The Church at the Rocky was crowded to the door, a number being present from Durham and other points. It was Communion Day and a very impressive sermon was preached from Eph. 4: 20 and 21. In a few personal remarks he acknowledged the many kindnesses shown them by the Rocky people, who sincerely regret that considerations of health have caused the separation.

They left on Tuesday morning, their ultimate destination being a point 300 miles west of Winnipeg.

Directors in Smiles.

South Grey Show scores a record in attendance.

At no moment of last Wednesday and Thursday was there anxiety as to the weather, the all-important factor in a Fall Fair. Rains on Tuesday satisfied Jupiter Pluvius and the two who beamed his brightest yet with moderation. The wind-god on Thursday, seeing that the town fathers had neglected watering the streets, started in for a frolic and raised clouds of dust and choruses of disapproval at the civic neglect.

The crowd came anyway. The old familiar appearance of streetfuls of buggies was seen, the grape and candy and banana stands, were there a display of flags better than usual but amongst these latter being the fine St. Andrew's flag recently purchased by the Sons of Scotland.

Hanover band came over early in day, and were generous with their goods. They are a fine aggregation, well balanced, play under perfect control and as one machine, whether in pianissimo or fortissimo they were equally charming.

The Scotch element were delighted with the piping and dancing of the McGregors, father and son, of the 91st Regiment, Hamilton. "We're a Scotch when there's guid dancin' gann on." The pretty little daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Jno. A. Black, rigged out by the deft fingers of their mother in highland costume, raised hopes they would take the platform, but the girls are not dancers—yet.

The booth did a land-office business all day. A tent containing some monstrosity of a colt was the only thing approaching a fakir on the grounds, and the management are to be congratulated on running a clean show.

Messrs Barclay & Bell had some fine cutters and a buggy on display outside to display their wares. Inside The Farmer's Manufacturing and Supply Co. showed off to good advantage their new Oxford Separators and other goods and no doubt many orders will follow. On the other side of the door there was a similar display including some very fine stoves, ranges, etc. handled by Upstairs baker A W Watson had on exhibition a toothsome collection of his wares "made from Ogilvie's flour" as a ticket announced. It made an attractive "corner" of which there were fewer than usual upstairs.

Mr. Kelsey's exhibit of Photos had many admirers and added greatly to the appearance of the hall.

The Directors deserve credit for the improvement in the means for fine arts display. A little more in the same direction might induce more to try their hand at the aesthetic feature. Inspector Campbell and Jos. Brown were judges and were heard to commend some of the work very highly.

In addition to Mr. Barnett and T. Smith who have exhibited before in this class, there are two ambitious aspirants in the name of J & J Hunter (Miss Jessie we presume) and Albert McClinton, whose wife, (formerly Miss May Leeson) is developing a skill that will yet win more credit.

The last named won many prizes and compliments for her skill it being only recently she began to develop along this aesthetic line. More ambitious attempts will no doubt follow.

The Ladies' work should be classed among the fine arts. The skill and taste displayed in the dainty productions is much as in the handling of color. Good judges say the quality is fully up to the average, quantity a little below.

The ladies' work on the opposite side of the room—bread, pastry, etc.—leads itself better, to mason-line criticism. We had the privilege of sampling some of Mrs. Herd's pies and tarts and can testify to their excellence and they were only a small part of a big show. Mrs. R. Morice once more takes the coveted first prize for home made bread, among 15 entries. W. Scarf's brown bread getting first in 8 entries. There was a uniformity of excellence in most of the lines that must have made judging a difficult task.

In this department as well as in the poultry house we heard complaints of tickets being moved. Surely this contemptible practice should be overcome in some way. It can only be adopted to win glory that day, for the judges' book determines the winner without fail.

The show of field roots was average, fruit below the average, grain we think below also, though there were some good samples. The show of flowers has been larger but scarcely prettier, and the public should feel indebted to the exhibitors for their trouble in making the beautiful display.

The judging by the experts gave satisfaction—generally. The cattle man in one instance—yearling heifers if we remember right—went clean against the crowd. He was asked for his reasons, which he gave, not very clearly, certainly not convincing. The same man in the swine classes seemed more at home. John Eckhardt we noticed as usual being a prominent prizewinner.

The horse classes never please our judges it appears and other experts tell the same story, that round here we have hot the class that attract the great horse buyers, such as Roch Marier. We trust recent importations of fine sires may change this record. We think it would be difficult however to present a better showing in teams than we had, and the judge seemed to have no light task in giving his awards. He ruled out the saddle horses altogether as not entitled to a prize. Mr. Jno. H. Hunter was the proud possessor of the red ticket for his single driver.

The racing as usual was the chief spectacular feature of the afternoon and it seemed to be greatly enjoyed. Last year's track record, the best ever made here, was not quite reached this year. Vicky Klock the well-known Owen Sound horse took first money in the "Free-for-all," though her opponent, John Nolan, was a good second.

The absence of a well or watering place on the ground was again keenly felt. Would it not be possible to have a pipe connection with the waterworks for the two days? No need to dig for this connection.

There still seems to be need for the constable to prevent fence climbing. Constable Myers, we believe collared one anxious to save 20 cts.

Well the show is over: it is a great institution—when the weather is good or is not known, for seldom if ever, in its long history has it met such. There is of necessity a constant sameness in the exhibits but there need
