South Grey Teachers.

Mr T J Tolchard gave an admirable talk on Writing, which should be heard—and seen—to be appreciated. He favored the Spencerian, and insisted on the teaching of principles, and even claimed the penmanship was a valuable aid to moral training. He found the best time to take the lesson was before the forenoon recess. He gave excellent illustrations of movement drill, counting &c.

A resolution was passed supporting the idea of organizing the Trusteeship of the country into Conventions on lines similar to that of the Teachers as introduced at the last meeting of the Trustees section of the O. E. A. and warmly supported by the Inspector. A copy to be sent to the Dept. and to Secy. of the O. E. A.

The new officers are: Pres.—Alex. Reid; 1st Vice—Miss Forfar; 2nd Vice—Miss Beattie; Secy.—Treas.—Thos. Allan; Managing Com.—Messrs. Burns and Carmichael, and Misses Small, Neilly and Dale. Auditors: Misses M. McKenzie and Meredith.

2ND DAY.

The second day's programme of the Teachers' Association consisted of aural College at Guelph. The purpose of the trip was to give the teachers a better understanding of the work of Nature Study, and to equip them, so far as a hurried acquaintance could do, for the harder work of teaching the subject in the public schools. The enterprise and enthusiasm of the teachers in thus willingly spending their hard-earned money are to be commended.

At 7:30 a. m. about sixty excursionists boarded the train at Durham. About twenty more at Hanover and about twelve more at Mt Forest, making a total of nearly one hundred visitors to O. A. G. The morning appeared dull but before the train reached its destination at 10.10 a. m. the clouds cleared and the day proved an ideal one for the visit. The brightening day seemed to agreeably affect the people for a happier, merrier lot would be hard to find.

Arriving at Guelph, the party proceeded by car to the College. A splendid pile of buildings. Two of these buildings, the Macdonald Institute and the Guelph Institute, are of particular interest. The Macdonald Institute is for the instruction of farmers' daughters and others in the different branches of Home Economics and for equipping teachers in Nature Study, Manual Training and Home Economics. In the spacious auditorium of the Institute the party was received and welcomed by the College professor. On the day previous the staff had charge of a similar body of teachers from West Grey. Many of our teachers were glad to have a handshake for the sake of Auld Lang Syne with Mr. Burrows, Public School Inspector of North Grey, and Messrs Packman and Murray of the Owen Sound Collegiate Institute.

Professor Creelman, president of the College, in his address of welcome outlined the programme to be followed for the day, and introduced the professors who should conduct the party through the different departments. The notable remark he made was that it was ridiculous to him that our public schools teach everything to girls except what they most need to know—cooking and sewing, and everything to boys except what country boys most require—agriculture. "The first thing many a new married lady teacher does now-a-days is to buy a cook-book and try to learn what she should have known thoroughly by constant practice."

Prof McCready conducted the party through the Museum where a splendid collection of animals, minerals and relics are found. One might easily spend a week here profitably under his lucid instruction. But now luncheon had arrived and the spacious and well

Another old resident of P.oton has departed this life in the person of Mrs Dortha Coulter, wife of George Coulter, who was many years a resident of P.oton, on the 15th con. Her death was on Friday 13th in the Hamilton Asylum where she went about a year ago for some mental ailment. At the same time Mr Coulter had sold his farm and he and his sons had taken up land in the North West and moved there one son, Joseph, remaining here. He and Mrs Coulter's brothers had her body brought to Dundalk arriving with Saturday night train. She was buried on Sunday 15th at the Dundalk cemetery and the funeral was very large, the Church of England minister officiating. Mrs Coulter was the oldest daughter of the late Wm B McDonald, one of the pioneers of P.oton, and was reeve of the township for many years. Mrs Coulter leaves to mourn her departure, her husband and ten children all in the north West only Joseph, her mother, four brothers and one sister, the latter all at the funeral only one brother in the North West.

Ebenezer Harvest Home.

The church at Ebenezer was well filled on Monday evening last the occasion being the celebration of their Anniversary and Harvest Home Festival. The building was tastefully decorated the abundance and variety of the fruits of the Earth standing as a tangible evidence of the good things our land produces. The church was graciously filled by Mr Stephenson the young minister in charge, and music was supplied by the ghostly gramophone under the care of Mr. A. and by real living men and women of the Durham Methodist choir. The sounds of applause told that the gramophone soul with its varied notes and the sepihal echo of the dead past. The choir was in good form and with anthems, solos and quartets charmed and delighted the auditory. Recitations were happily rendered by Mr Dezelle and a very pleasing number was given in the form of a drill by six boys and girls under the care of Miss Vickers.

The speakers of the evening were Mr. Miller, M. P. from Hanover and Mr. N. Campbell, Rev Wm Farquharson, from Durham. Mr Campbell led the way chiming an acquaintance with boy life in the neighborhood for the last 19 years. He gave a practical address on church life and work under the striking title of "How to Nail up the Church Door." Next in order came Mr. H. H. Miller. After the usual compliments of which the ladies got a good amount, he gave an interesting and helpful address on "How to make the Most of Life," drawing happy illustrations from the illustrious careers of the late Dr. Bernardo and sir Wm Mulock who has just retired from the sphere of politics to accept an important position on the bench. In bringing up the rear Mr. Farquharson spoke on "Scottish Characteristics" showing the need of thrift, patience and perseverance in securing personal or national progress. The interest of the audience from the opening of the meeting to the closing word at eleven o'clock was well sustained and in every way Mr Stephenson and his co-workers at Ebenezer are to be congratulated on the success of their entertainment.—Coun.

equipped Gymnasium was filled up with tables to receive us. We had brought our own eatables and the College kindly supplied tea and coffee. After doing justice to the lunch no time was wasted. The party was led through the different departments of the Macdonald Institute, the Professor briefly explaining the purpose of each as he passed. Here was the Manual Training department where boys are taught to use their hands in all classes of wood-work. Here again was the kitchen where the girls learn to cook by cooking and the sewing room where sewing is taught. Here was the dining room for lessons on table setting and waitressing work, a class laundry, a pantry and apartments for practice work in house-keeping. An amusing feature was the way the party chatted after the Professor through the doors and along the corridors.

Then Professor Zavitz led us through the farm and flower departments. He explained how the experimental plots were laid out, how the grain were sowed and garnered. We passed through the butter and cheesemaking rooms where students were at work under supervision. It was now about four o'clock, so the party proceeded to the Consulate school to see the pupils entering vans to be conducted to their various homes. This is the first school of its kind in Ontario and it means it furnishes all the advantages of a graded school at a very slight increase of expense.

Our party so far had a very pretty party, but was now completely tired out with the almost continuous tramping from place to place; and it broke into small groups. They went their way at various times into the city for supper and other purposes. At about six o'clock the train for Durham left Guelph carrying a load of weary yet enthusiastic passengers, and reached its destination shortly after nine o'clock.
