A. H. JACKSON, Treasurer.

Rev Wm Farquharson on Sunday evening took for his topic "The Christian Soldier," and drew many fine lessons from the life of the great Lord Nelson the centenary of whose death at Trafalgar was on Saturday last.

PIE AND BOX SOCIAL.—On Friday, Nov. 3, 1905 the brethren of 889 L. O. L. Hall at Varney. Good programme in preparation. Admission 10 cts, Ladies bringing pies or boxes free.

To-night, Wednesday, Supt. Wm. Young and his Sunday School workers, will have a social evening in the school-house of section No. 8, to mark the closing of the Union School for the season. We have to acknowledge a kind invitation to be present.

Thanksgiving services will be held in the Presbyterian church on Thursday at 10.30 a. m. All are cordially invited to join in the service of praise and prayer.

"Ye righteous in the Lord rejoice It cometh and is right. That upright men shall thank for He should praise the Lord of might."

A CORRECTION.—Mr C. McInnes-Yeovil, writes: "In your report of the exhibition some mistake has crept in. I was awarded 2nd prize for Berkshire boar, not 1st. Mr John McBeth capturing that. I offer this correction in justice to Mr McBeth, who was the exhibitor of the better hog."

The famous drama, East Lynne, which perhaps is played offener than any other on the stage, was given here last Saturday evening. The Raymond and Poore Co is above the average of the travelling shows that come here from both the public and the exhibitor's standpoint. The hall was comfortably filled. It was very regrettable that the conduct of a few boys made a rebuke from the stage necessary.

Anniversary services in the Presbyterian church will be held on Sabbath, and Monday, the 12th and 13th of November. The Rev Thos Wilson of Walkerton will preach morning and evening on Sabbath and on Monday at 8 p m will give a lecture on "Thirty years with South Sea Cannibals" illustrated by 75 beautifully colored pictures prepared by Professor Weeks of London, England. Special meals supplied at all the services by members of the choir and others. A free will offering for the Manse fund will be presented at both services on Sunday and at the meeting on Monday. All are cordially invited.

CUTTING OUT THE BAR.—The movement was successful to run hotels without the bar attachment is reported to be successful. With out doubt the experiment is being watched with interest over the Province, and is bearing fruit in the way of imitations. Markdale, we understand, is contemplating doing something on this line, and some whippersnappers that even in Durham an attempt may be made to buy or rent one of the down town hotels to conduct it independently of a bar. We have called it an experiment, but this is scarcely correct, for the Lucas House on Louisa St., Toronto has for 18 years been conducted on this principle, and the proprietor has prospered, and guests by thousands will testify that it is both reputable and respectable, and has all the accommodations necessary outside of the drink.

DURHAM LADY HONORED.—A North Bay paper of Sept. 29th, has the following: "Mrs J. A. Thomas, nee Dora Banks was, on the occasion of her marriage, the recipient of a very handsome chair which was presented to her by the Methodist choir of which she has long been a member. The following is the address which accompanied the chair. Dear Mrs. Thomas.—The members of the choir of the North Bay Methodist church desire on the occasion of your marriage, to express to you in some slight way their congratulations and good wishes. It is also desired that you should accept this gift as further evidence of good will and appreciation of your services to the choir and church during the time you have been a valued member. We desire to extend to you and your husband our warmest and best wishes for the future. Signed on behalf of the choir. O. WITTNER, choir leader."

Norfolk Union Fair.

We are indebted to Mr Geo Binnie for the following fine account of the "Model Fair," at Simcoe to which he and Mr A Davidson were delegates last week.—Ed.

This fair is held in Simcoe County. Town of Norfolk and it is a union between the North and South Ridings. Simcoe is a town of some 3000 inhabitants prettily situated, about 8 miles from the shores of Lake Erie. It is comparatively an old town, and seems to be placed in the middle of a dense wood; trees growing in nearly every street and in private grounds, giving it the appearance. The surrounding country is good agricultural section, and yet it was a surprise to see so much broken land in that section. The soil is light and sandy and grows good wheat, corn and pumpkins. On every farm could be seen a field or more of the same field sown broadcast with yellow pumpkins. It has been the home entirely fenced with wire stamps, and the fields have even to be made small to use up all the material.

Simcoe has been for some time noted for holding a very successful fair of a purely agricultural nature, and the Ontario Department of Agriculture wishing to encourage such shows all over the Province, invited delegates from all the Societies in Western Ontario—a similar show being held in the Eastern part of the Province—to view the Show in actual operation, to pick up new ideas and to discuss with each other the best methods of conducting agricultural exhibitions.

I may say first that the show was severely handicapped on account of bad weather, yet it was a good one. The first day being dry the inside departments were well filled. In grain there were twelve entries of wheat altogether, oats 18, Peas 8 and very good. Barley 5, Beans 14, Flax 19, and a number of entries of Rye, Clover and Timothy seeds, etc. The quality was very good. In the fine arts, ladies' work classed as such there was an immense display of exhibits from all over Western Ontario. There was a space of 80 feet long by twelve in height closely filled with paintings, drawings, etc., nearly all of considerable merit; and the ladies' work proper is simply beyond description.

In spite of a downpour of rain there was quite a large amount of stock on the horse, a large number of all classes uniform and good quality, were brought under the eye of the judge. In cattle dairy classes predominated, and the beef breeds were poorly represented and had nothing particular to recommend them. Sheep, in all classes, were in evidence. All were in quality it would be difficult to find better in any where. Although this district is in the cheese and corn belt the exhibit of hogs is very disappointing there not being many there and of no extra quality. There was a very good display of all kinds of poultry. On the whole the show was a good one.

There were about 150 delegates present and had the freedom of the Show and came and went as they pleased. On Wednesday evening a meeting was held in a Hall in town, about 300 being present. The Hon Mr Monteith in the chair. It was rather a disappointing affair. It resolved itself too much into a mutual admiration society the delegates admiring the Show and the Show people admiring the delegates, yet there were a few practical speeches especially that of Mr Cowan, Superintendent of Fairs and one or two others.

Two years ago the main building of the Society was burned, afterwards they separated the plan of erecting smaller separate buildings of one story. They are of a light frame with corrugated iron roof and cement floors. They are neat, clean and admirably adapted to their purpose and I think much better than one large building. Another good idea was the display of potatoes in half-bushel crates provided by the Society. Sheep and hog pens were also very complete and conveniently arranged.

The Departments of Agriculture at Ottawa and Toronto had exhibits in different lines; in cheese, good makes, and some spoiled in the making in different ways. In apples showing the difference between sprayed and unsprayed fruit, an exhibit of weeds and weed seeds, a display of grass and clover seeds and impurities found therein. Another exhibit was those of utility feeding crates and methods of packing for market. It was stated that these exhibits could be sent to other fairs if a number could be arranged in a circuit so that it would not entail too much expense. The Society has a number of experimental plots on their grounds containing different kinds of potatoes, corn, turnips, rape, millets, clovers, grasses, etc., but very few seemed to take any interest in the matter. Sixteen years ago the Society adopted the expert single judge system, and has ever since retained it, and they think that no up to date show can have any other. Their organization is complete. Besides the Secretary every department is controlled by a Superintendent over all. Everybody both in town and country seem to do everything possible to make the show a success.

Darling's Drug Store for Pipes—Smokers Sundries—Tobacco & Cigars.
The regular quarterly social evening of the Epworth League will be held next Monday evening. A good time is expected.

If you want the very best of homemade bread, call at Stinson's bakery, and secure it or ask to have the wagon deliver it at your door.
B. Y. P. U.—A rally of this body will be held afternoon and evening of Thanksgiving Day in the Baptist Church here, to which all are invited.

WILL LOSE AN EYE.—Last Saturday Irvine, the little son of Mrs. Arthur Whitmore, was at play in a companion who had an air rifle in his hand. In this was some small shot and the boy discharged, the eye smashed, and we learned beyond wing. We are sorry for the boy, but we don't suppose this incident will entirely remove the carelessness which seems too often to attend the use of firearms.

THE LATE WM SNEEL.—Dromore news this week records the death of this well-known gentleman at the ripe age of 77 years. His family consists of three sons, John and James at home, Joseph, a Professor in Zion College, Michigan, and daughters, Mrs Geo Binnie, Mrs Alfred Tucker, and Miss Susanna at home. He was a native of Devonshire, England, where he was married to his wife, (a sister of Mr. Jas. Isaac) who died about three years ago. Since her death he has never been strong and he passes away full of years and honors. He has been a resident of Egremont for over forty years and was always highly respected.

Many flattering notices have appeared in the press where Mr Wilson has given the lecture. The following from the London Free Press may be taken as a sample: "Rev Thos Wilson delivered for the second time in the Adelaide St. Baptist church his illustrated lecture on 'Dr Paton's work among the Cannibals of the South Sea.' Thursday night. The church was filled, and the audience young and old, was spellbound for nearly an hour and a half as he told this thrilling story. This is the twenty-third time that Mr Wilson has given this lecture in London and the interest in it increases."—Mr Wilson will give this lecture in the Presbyterian church at the Anniversary Services on Monday evening, 13th November.

Nelson Centennial.
Durham Celebrates.

The world-wide interest in the centennial of the death of Nelson at Trafalgar, had its counterpart in Durham on a small scale. It took the form of a massing of the pupils of the public school in the Town Hall on Monday afternoon last.

About half-past two the classes in Calder's Hall and Public Library marched to join their comrades at the "big school" (which is no longer big enough however to contain the youth of Durham). They were lined up and an imposing array they best with small flags flying over their nearly 400 heads. A large flag kindly loaned by Postmaster Smith was carried at the head of the procession, and the large school flag being draped in the Hall.

The problem of seating the youngsters was a matter of packing and though extra seats were procured some of the visitors, who must have numbered 40 or 50, had small comfort.

In the absence of Mayor Hunter, who was intended for Chairman, that position was taken by Mr C. Ramage, Secy. of the School Board, who very briefly explained the steps taken in getting up the demonstration and the informal character of the gathering, intended to show that Durham had hearts and heads appreciative of heroism as well as other places.

Rev Messrs Newton, Bice, Colling and Farquharson and Mr Wm. Irwin in the order named, touched on various features of the hero's life and character, drawing therefrom lessons of patriotism, devotion to duty, etc., and applying them to modern conditions. The changes in material condition in the 100 years were noted, and incidents in the life of the great duty lover were interestingly told.

Between the speeches were most agreeable and appropriate selections. Miss Meredith and her pupils furnished "Heroes and Gentlemen" in splendid style. Miss N. Meredith presiding at the piano. At the close they gave "Men of the North," a loyal patriotic Canadian piece: their performance added greatly to the day's proceedings. Mr J. F. Telford was right in line with the spirit of the day and gave "The Death of Nelson" as a solo. Mrs Newton accompanying; Miss M. Gordon of the High School Staff, recited the poet Campbell's classic "Ye Mariners of England," while Mrs Newton and Mr A. W. H. Lander both gave solos on patriotic lines.

The school flag was displayed at the back of the platform, a large map of British Empire was hung out, and on the curtain was attached prominently Nelson's inspiring signal: "England Expects Every Man Will Do His Duty." The little talks kept very good order, but had their own ideas as to how long applause should last.

The inadequacy of our Town Hall for School concerts was plainly shown, for, with the scholars there, there is no room for an audience. The massing of the children occasionally is a desirable thing, and it is regrettable that there is no hall in town large enough to admit them and a reasonable proportion of the parents.

Cement Directors Meet.

A meeting of the Directors of the Cement Co. was held in Stratford on Monday. The good work of reducing the debt still goes on, a payment made on Tuesday leaving the amount $35,000. When it is remembered that at the beginning of 1903 the debt stood at over $120,000 it will be realized what a profitable business has been done. It is the intention of the Directors to run for two months more before shutting down, by which time the debt will be of small proportions. This excellent showing, however, is not satisfactory to the board who have decided that much greater profits can be made by manufacturing from the rock and will lay before shareholders at next annual meeting, a proposition to move the plant to the Niagara District where a suitable rock deposit, it is alleged, exists.

Should this carry, the profits of next year's make here will be used to construct foundations there, to which the movable parts of the great plant will be taken, leaving to Durham in 1907 a scrap iron heap and some picturesque ruins as a reminder of fairy tales, broken promises and vanishing dividends.

What does Durham think of it?

The Ingersoll Chronicle of recent date, records the death of Mrs. Geo. Ingham, on the 10th of October. She was Elizabeth Jane Jacques, whose family is well-known here. She was buried on Friday, 13th inst. The paper adds: "Mrs. Ingham was, for a number of years a respected and consistent member of Charles street Methodist church, and long affliction was borne with Christian resignation. She leaves a husband and five children who sincerely mourn a faithful, and loving wife and mother."
