

PHILADELPHIA MOB OF THREE THOUSAND

Parades the Streets and Denounces the Grafter's After Listening to Street Orators.

A Fierce Howling Mob Threatens the Residences of Several of the "Machine" Men.

Durham and Senator M'Nicholl Denounced as Thieves and Mob Ready for Mischief.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 23.—Under the influence of impassioned speeches directed against the organization leaders, a crowd of several thousand men angrily marched from in front of the Academy of Music to the homes of Israel W. Durham and Senator M'Nicholl last night following the reception of Governor Folk. For two hours the crowds had stood in the streets while city party craters rehearsed the inequities of the machine, and then someone shouted: "Let's move on Durham."

As the Academy poured out its throngs, there was a rush down Broad street to the home of Mr. Durham, No. 1410 Spruce street, singing "Let's Hang Durham to the Sour Apple Tree" and similar songs, the mob became more dense and more terrible.

Fully 2000 strong, men and women, some of whom had rushed from the hotels and the Academy, crowded into Spruce street while the leaders of the mob denounced Durham.

Never in the annals of Philadelphia politics was such an aroused public opinion shown as was hurled at the leader of the organization at the threshold of his own home. The street was packed from curb to curb with a howling mob that would have done violence had the occasion offered. The police were powerless to restrain their denunciation, and when they saw the temper of the leaders they contented themselves with keeping order as best they could.

Men and women rushed to the windows of the Spruce home and listened to the hoofs and cries of disapproval hurled against Durham.

The leader of the marching army, Charles Moore, standing upon a soap box, harangued the crowd and poured invectives upon the heads of the machine.

"You hypocrite!" he cried. "We, an outraged people, have come to your very home to show you that we disapprove almost to revolution your thieving and prostitution of the public weal. We have come to you to say that there is just God, and that you have to repent of your evil gains."

The hoofs of the mob rose above the words of the speaker and menacing cries were continually heard. Charles Holme, of the 24th Ward, another of the leaders, ascending the impromptu rostrum, surrounded by an ever increasing throng, continued to stir up the feelings of the aroused citizens.

"Here lives a man in splendour and luxury," said he. "How did he make his money, I ask? I see you all know, as the crowd shouted, 'By robbery.'" ever growing, surged east in Race street bound for the Inquirer office, at 12th and Market streets. The leaders apparently were inspired by the proportions of the spirit they following assumed, sent the transparent down a side street. But the crowd marched on.

Instead of thinning out it formed in solid marching order on Broad street, and pressed on the Inquirer office building until the megaphone man was jammed up against the big front office window. From this place of vantage he led the cheers for Mayor Weaver, Governor Folk and all the City Party candidates.

REMEDY FOR THE SCALE.

Mixture of Lime and Sulphur Recommended.

Guelph reports: At the forty-second annual meeting of the Entomological Society of Ontario, which opened here today, an important discussion took place upon the subject of the San Jose scale. The question was introduced in a paper by Prof. Sherman, of North Carolina, who has recently been appointed professor of biology in the Agricultural College in this city. After the close of his paper a general discussion took place on the subject of controlling the scale.

The general opinion expressed was that the scale could be controlled by the use of a lime and sulphur mixture applied to the trees in winter. The method of treatment varies in different localities, and in some cases it is recommended to spray as early as practicable in the autumn, while in other cases it is recommended that the spraying should take place shortly before the buds open at the end of March or the beginning of April.

In the debate Mr. G. A. Fisher strongly advised that the lime and sulphur mixture should be boiled for two hours, and he claimed that salt was unnecessary. He said that without salt the mixture destroyed the scale better, and he preferred a half-washed one pound of lime to half a pound of sulphur to make a gallon of wash.

Prof. Sherman said that he used twenty pounds of lime to seventeen pounds of sulphur, and ten pounds of salt to make fifty gallons.

Prof. Loebner reported good results with uncooked material, and he advised that this was important, as small growers would not go to the trouble and expense of cooking.

Prof. F. E. Smith's experience was that the results in no two places were quite the same. In New Jersey the effect of spraying with lime and sulphur was slow and cumulative, and in Georgia he found that the lime and sulphur without the salt did not adhere so long and was not as effective. With regard to the lime and sulphur wash, he used one pound of lime and one pound of sulphur, and he found that this made a thin wash, which penetrated better.

The subject of the pea weevil was also discussed, and the weevil was reported to be much less prevalent than last year.

CALVES AND BABY BEEF

Baby beef is the highly finished product that sells for the highest figure because the muscles, tendons and tissues are not hardened by age and use.

It is tender and juicy, like a sappy, young tree. It costs, on the average, about 3c to make 1 lb. of gain at one year, and about 7c. at two years, and so on, because the digestive powers are more energetic in younger than in older stock. There should be no let up in feeding the 365 days of the year.

Clydesdale Stock Food

can be fed with the greatest benefit to calves, especially with Separator Milk, as it takes the place of the extracted butter fat.

It prevents "scours," therefore, there is no "let up" in growth. It has the bone and muscle producing ingredients that helps to build a frame on which to put the tender flesh quickly, and, at a profit, and nothing injurious in it, and can stop feeding without harmful effects. Human beings can take it with benefit. We take it every day. Your money cheerfully refunded by the dealer if any Clydesdale Preparations do not give satisfaction.

WITZHOFF CONFESSES TO HAVING THIRTY-TWO WIVES.

He Tells How He Began His Criminal Career and Speaks of His Many Marriages.

New York, Oct. 23.—The Evening Journal publishes to-day the first instalment of the most remarkable criminal autobiography ever written, the confessions of Arch-bigamist Dr. Geo. A. Witzhoff.

The autobiography was sent by Witzhoff to Miss Alice Bell, a young girl whom he deceived and deserted in New Cross, a suburb of London, England, and was obtained from her by the London Evening News, the newspaper owned by Sir Alfred Harmsworth.

In the letter which accompanied the amazing human document which he sent to Miss Bell, he announced his intention of repenting and living quietly on a Roumanian estate.

In Roumania, Witzhoff is known as F. A. Shutz, and he signs those initials to the preface of his confession. Besides the preface, which is given below without change, he wrote the following heading for his story: "Bluebeard's True Life Story. The American arch-bigamist. The man with 30 names and 32 (married) wives. Written and told by himself."

POTATO ROT

The November, 1904, crop bulletin of the Ontario Bureau of Industries states that considerable rot had appeared on potatoes, especially where the crop was grown on heavy soils or on low lying land. The extent of the loss was variously estimated at from 25 to 50 per cent. This "rot" or "wet rot" is quite distinct from the "black rot" which is caused by a fungus, and is due to a bacterial disease. It is characterized by a soft, watery, and sometimes astringent, and sometimes a putrefactive odor. Finally, the potato becomes a mass of black soft pulp.

One morning, at 5 in the morning, a knock came to my door and I grabbed my revolver. I opened the door, and there stood my friend, Badillo, whom I knew, but I could not remember his name. "Albert, I am your friend, and I will tell you how to pay me the money back. As your name is not Colly, I don't matter. I know a widow who has plenty of money and you must marry her and get the money and pay your debt to me."

I introduced me the same evening to Mrs. Russell, and we got married. Ten days after we went to Niagara Falls on our honeymoon trip.

There, one night after indulging in plenty of wine, she confessed she had an illegitimate child in Pittsburg. I left her, telling her I was going to bring her child, which was nine years old. Instead I went to New York with my money ($4,000) and paid my friend part of his money, and started a practice as a dentist in Fourteenth street as Dr. A. R. Houser.

I went to see a watchmaker. He introduced me to a widow of means. We got married in two weeks at the city hall, New York.

She had all her money loaned, so I was compelled to seek another one, as Sig. Badillo was hard after his balance of $1,000. I went to Philadelphia and got a Jewish watchmaker again on Fifteenth street and Fairmont avenue, and he introduced me to a Miss Jucker as Dr. Houser.

I got $800 from her. I paid Badillo $500 and left for Springfield, Mass., where a woman answered one of my "ads." I had about 12 answers to this "ad," and I picked out an "ad" as a house mistress and ten days after she was Mrs. Westfield, and as she was a vulgar woman, I left her in two days. She had given me $500.

I returned to New York with wife No. 2, and a week after I went to St. Louis, and inserted an "ad" as previously, and got 15 answers. There I selected a farmer's daughter and married her as Dr. Doosser. I married and lived all within a week.

I went to Detroit with her money, $350, and started a dentist practice as A. Houser. In answer to her advertisement in a German paper, Mrs. Fluor came. I went to Toledo, O., five
