I have no money, gentlemen, to throw away but if there is a plot in connection with it, I would sooner lose all I have in it than see them succeed and I intend to keep the pencil a-going to the best of my ability if nobody else will.

We have had two reliable men for weeks back at the expense of the town trying to settle this marl question and they find in abundance we naturally thought the question was finally disposed of but they had Mr Farr to deal with and he as usual gave them to understand that the article was not there and your directors who have stand that he was right and there was nobody in the Dominion of Canada knew anything about the stuff but himself.

Now, Gentlemen, I promised you a story. Once upon a time in the city of New York stood a half dozen stock-brokers or money lenders. At the foot of a stairway, coming down the stairs, at the time was the Rev Dr So and so. He slipped and fell amongst them.

Our present directors, so far, are not anything yet, they have been pretty honest, and the stockholders their credit, he is doing their best, to keep them so. The first batch of managers will surely get to the place.

Where the wicked cease from troubling, And the weary are at rest, with the word dishonest stamped upon their foreheads. We must try and keep the present batch from going there with the same mark. The first batch gobbled up $1,000,000 but left something behind them.

"Whereas it has been shown that the marl supply is nearly exhausted we deem it in the best interest of the National Portland Cement Co to search for and find a suitable location for the cement plant where raw material can be found."

In the face of that statement, Mr McKeechie told them it was here in abundance. And they have acted the part of wise men, they would have called in a third party to have settled the point.

Then again, gentleman, may I ask why all this waste on the part of those men. The lake is still open, and they acknowledge themselves there is still two years of it. Would it not have been time enough at the end of the two years to have been money in pocket more ways than one.

Yes, he would say, we are now working upon the best I ever seen come into the world. And he says, once we had it to drop from 1000 barrels a day to 600.

At the Ebenezer on Sunday afternoon and at the hall in the evening Mr Lainsworth of Toronto Junction spoke upon the working of the Act there. He began by singing in fine voice a solo Hymn 335 in the Canadian Hymnal.

Now, gentleman, your annual meeting will soon be on. Don't go away with the impression that the works can't be run without the present management, don't forget the old saying that there is just as good fish in the sea ever came out of it.

I wouldn't give $50 for the whole batch of them and if you take a fool's advice you will turn out every mother's son of you gentlemen is such that to return those men again would be a regular hell on earth.

A lover of fair play, ROBT. COCHRANE.

Edge Hill

Mr and Mrs Joe Little, of Protton, visited last week at their father's, Mr Bob Little. Mrs John Moffat, of Orono, is also visiting at the parents. What's coming we wonder?

Miss Mary Plinder, Mr Forest, spent a few days last week at Messrs D and Thos Greenwood's.

Mr Wm Morrison, we have just learned has been appointed county constable.

Local Option in Egremont

Rev Mr Campbell, who has been preaching a series of sermons on the Lord's Prayer, departed from the usual course on Sunday last, and gave a very able and well received discourse upon local option.

Then again, gentleman, may I ask why all this waste on the part of those men. The lake is still open, and they acknowledge themselves there is still two years of it. Would it not have been time enough at the end of the two years to have been money in pocket more ways than one.
