C. L. GRANT.

Priceville.

This week we are again called upon to chronicle another of those events, which so often occurs in our midst and no human being can escape or flee from, us warning when it comes for the message is often conveyed to all classes of the human family. Old, middle-aged, the youth and beauty are all alike summoned to obey the call for it is sure and certain no matter how inclement the weather is it will not stay this messenger's progress once it sets out to capture its victim. This messenger's name is "Death." On Thursday morning the 4th inst there passed away from the trials and agonies of this life after a lingering illness, borne with loving patience, Miss Christina Stonehouse, daughter of Martin Stonehouse, Durham Road, Gloneig, at the age of twenty-six years and five months.

This estimable young lady suffered much for the last two years from a complication of troubles and when the time of her departure came she could truly say that she had fought a good fight and that a crown was awaiting her as soon as death relieved her from the sickness of the body, for she suffered much, but only gave her a clearer vision of her future happiness as she testified by her entreaties to father, mother and brothers to be prepared to meet her in the heavenly home, where no separation takes place and no tears are shed.

The Rev Mr Matheson, her pastor, said while preaching the funeral sermon that he was now fifty years attending funerals as a minister and during that time he never met a person on a death bed that had brighter views of her heavenly home than Tena Stonehouse. She selected the pall bearers, all young men some of them schoolmates. She also selected the hymns to be sung at the funeral-- 1st. Asleep in Jesus, 2nd Take Comfort Christians when your friend etc, 3rd Happy Day. These are comforting thoughts to think upon to the aged father and mother and family, who are mourning the loss of a beloved daughter and sister but not without hope.

The funeral on Saturday, the 6th to Ebenezer cemetery (Hoopers) was well attended considering the very inclement weather for the day was certainly the wildest that came this winter. The funeral procession had quite a time getting to cemetery on account of snow blockaders. A sister Mrs --- from Hamilton, just arrived a few minutes before the funeral was to late and was grief stricken at her arrival.

Mr and Mrs Scott, of Durham, attended the funeral. Mrs Scott is Mr Stonehouse's sister.

The new teacher for Top Cliff School Miss Annie Lang of St. Mary's, arrived on Saturday last. She was driven from Durham to Postmaster A McQuig's by Mr Jno McQueen, of Durham. By the short acquaintance we have with Miss Lang we believe she is a lady in every respect that is capable of fulfilling the requirements in connection with her professional duties.

Miss Christina McDonald (Duncan's) on Sunday last to take a course at the Chatham Commercial College.

Miss Mary McAulay, after spending a week with her mother in this village left for Rochester where she is in the hair dressing business.

The roads running north and south are completely blocked and the fields have to be used for some time.

Mr Dan McDonald (curly) of Port Arthur, arrived a week ago and is looking after his interest in the estate of his father, the late Hugh McDonald.

Mr and Mrs Jno McKechnie, of near Owen Sound, are spending a while with friends on the South line, Gleneig.

All those that were home for their holidays returned again last week.

Thos Conkey, of Dundalk, but formerly of this place, died at his home there and was buried on Tuesday the 2nd inst. He was a shoemaker by trade. His nephew, Willie Conkey, of this place, attended the funeral.

We heard some time ago of the death of Mr Archibald McLellan, at Indianapolis. Mr McLellan was teacher in the village some 40 years ago. He turned out a large number of teachers in his time as he held a first class certificate and knew the art of teaching thoroughly.

SAVE THE BOYS.

As a Specimen of Local opti literature we quote the following appeal which was freely circulated with telling effect during the recent campaign in Owen Sound:

"One of the most noteworthy things of our noteworthy town is a crowd of splendid boys. They throng our public schools and colleges, are found by hundreds in our Sunday Schools and Churches, are bright and clever and will one day be qualified to take successfully any position in life they may choose if they get half a chance.

It is said by people who are competent to judge that one out of five of our boys falls a victim to the demon of strong drink so twenty per cent of them are doomed beforehand. Whose shall they be?

Fathers, who are the voters of Owen Sound, are you willing to sacrifice one or more of the boys you love so well, and of whom you are so justly proud?

Some will say, "My boys are safe, for I never drank intoxicating drink myself, and of course, they never will."

Do not be lulled; many a boy has gone down, and become a victim of intemperance whose father was a sober man. There is just one chance of safety for your boy and your neighbor's and that is "Close the bar-room and stop the treating system."

Give them a clean pure atmosphere to grow up in, and so give us a race of men for the future with stalwart bodies, unshaken intellect and unshaken morals to fill the places which time will make vacant sooner or later. The power to do this is within your reach. It is for you to say whether you will strike a blow to save your boy, or whether you will allow some other consideration to come in your way, but for your boy's sake if for no other, vote on January 1st for Local Option Bylaw, and so do your share to save him by banishing the Bar."
