CURES THE MOST EXTREME CASES

Stone in the Kidneys Cannot Stand Before Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Mr. S. A. Cassidy, of Ottawa, Permanently Cured After Years of Suffering by the Great Canadian Kidney Remedy.

Ottawa, Ont., March 26 .- (Special) .-While all Canada knows that Dodd's Kidney Pills are the standard remedy for all Kidney Complaints, it may surprise some people to know they cure such extreme cases as Stone in the Kidneys. Yet that is what they have done right here in Ottawa.

Mr. S. A. Cassidy, the man cured, is the well-known proprietor of the Bijou Hotel on Metcalf street, and in an Interview he says: "My friends all know that I have been a martyr to stone in the Kidneys for years. They know that besides consulting the best doctors in the city and trying every medicine I could think of, I was unable to get better.

"Some time ago a friend told me Dodd's Kidney Pills would cure me. As a last resort I tried them, and they have cured me. "I could not imagine more severe suffering than one endures who has Stone in the Kidneys, and I feel the greatest gratitude to Dodd's Kidney Pills." If the disease is of the Kidneys or from the Kidneys, Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure it.

----Give the Pills Time.

A medical practitioner in the West of Ireland had for a patient a stalwart peasant whose particular ailment he was at a loss to diagnose. When Andrew Carnegie first spoke of taking up golf, he was advised by Baillie Mac-Kenzie, of Edinburgh, to lay out a golf course at Skibo Castle. "If you take to golf," said the baillie, "you will add ten years to your life." "Do you say so?" said Mr. Carnegie. "If you can add ten years to my life I will make you a present of two millions." "Well," replied the canny magistrate, "I can't exactly do that, but I'll play you for the two millions over your own green." This handsome offer was not accepted.

A CHILD'S PATHETIC STORY.

Seven-year-old Boy Tells of the Murder of His Mother.

Rochester, March 22 .- A pathetic scene took place yesterday in the Supreme Court, where Vincent Love is on trial, charged with murder in the first degree for stabbing his young wife, when their seven-year-old son was put on the witness stand and told the story of the tragedy, which occurred in his presence. He did not have a clear idea of the nature of an oath, so was not sworn. He gave a straightforward account of the affair which the cross-examination could not shake.

It made a deep impression on all who heard him. It was on a Saturday night that the woman was killed. The child said she went to the market after supper to get the Sunday meat. When she returned she went into the front room to light the lamp. His father came in from the kitchen and blew out the lamp and stabbed her in the side.

The little fellow took a diagram of the house and showed where the stabbing took place. He said he put some rags on her side and covered her up. His mother told him to go for a doctor. "I told my father,' he continued. "to lift her up and put her on the bed. and he lifted her up and dragged her into the dining-room." The child got a quilt and pillow and covered her up and then went for the doctor. His mother was dead when the doctor ar-

The Fruits of the Rose.

Among the fruits of the rose family are apples, pears, peaches, plums, cherries and quinces, as well as our strawberries, raspberries and blackberries. The apple is a fruit of long descent. Among the ruins of the Swiss lake dwellers are found remains of small seed apples which show the seed valves and the grains of flesh. The crab apple is a native of Britain, and was the stock on which were grafted the choicest varieties when brought from Europe, chiefly France. Apples of some sort were abundant before the Conquest, and had been introduced probably by the Romans. Yet often as Saxon manuscripts speak of apples and cider, there is no mention of named varied before the thirteenth century. Then we read of the pearmain and the costard, Chaucer's "mellow cos-

In the roll of household expenses of Eleanor, wife of Simon de Montford, apples and pears are entered. In the year 1286 the royal fruiterer to Edward I. presents a bill for apples, pears, quinces, medlars and nuts. Pippins believed to be seedlings, hence called from the pips or seeds, are said not to have been known in England before 1525. The exact Drayton, writing of the orchards of Kent at that pariod, can name only the apple, the orange, the russean, the sweeting, the pome water and the reinette.

John Winthrop is usually held responsible for the introduction of the apple into the New World. But as a matter of fact, when Winthrop anchored off Cape Ann the recluse Blackstone already had apple trees growing about his cabin at Shawmut Neck. Some of the best of our American apples were brought over by the Huguenots, who settled in Flushing, L. I., in 1660, and planted there among others, the pomme royale or spice
