Flowers and Vegetables Mature Quickly Under Effects of Ether.

Flowers and vegetables are drugged with ether nowadays. They are put in airtight dens and fed on ether for twenty-four or thirty-six hours until they become so permeated with the fumes that they mature in about half the time it takes them to develop naturally. Statehours have put forth magnificent blooms with the help of warm acetylene light at night, and marcissus plants have donbled the size of their flowers after spending a day and a half in the den. This remarkable method of forcing both flowers and vegetables to maturity

"When, in addition to being kept in the sunlight during the day time, they weer exposed at night to the light from scetylene burners, which seem to have spectrum similar in effect to the real sunshine, they grew almost riotously.

"Lilaes, for instance, will be in bloom at least ten days sooner under this treator by the ordinary means of forcing, as will also azaleas and rhododendrons. When putting the roots into the ether the greatest care should be taken not to leave them in the stimulating atmossite effect, and istead of being forced to mature they will die as soon as removed."

The first of these was a hand." This trouble is evidenced by the trigonometrical survey made by Dr. John Hall, Nestor of the New York State Geological Survey. At the suggestion of Sir Charles Lyell, who visited the falls with him, monuments were erected at the points at which the angles were taken in order that some later surveyor would be able to find with accuracy the exact extent of the changes. The second survey was made in 1886 by R. S. Woodward, of the United States Geological Survey, now director of the Carnegie Institute at Washington. The result surprised the world. * * Woodward's survey showed that the falls had moved 220 feet since 1842! the rate at the centre had been, therefore, five feet per annum; Woodward proved that the tremendous area of five acres of rock had been precipitated from the face of the fall in the half century.-From "The Migration of Niagara Falls,55 by Archer Butler Hulbert, in Four-Track News for April.
