daughter, Mrs Marie Anderson, of Niagara Falls to Mr Will Wilkins. Congratulations.

Dornoch

Mr. Editor: It is now some time since any news from our stirring village has appeared in the columns of your valuable paper. We thought No 3 might launch forth and "write up" the burg but, as they are apparently out of business we will endeavor to chronicle a few of the events that have transpired during the past fortnight.

Miss R. M. Dorsey, the popular teacher of the Separate School is holidaying this week at her home in Seaford. She was accompanied by Miss Lila McKnight who is visiting her aunt, in Sebringville.

A winsome lady is Miss Maggie Shewell of the Queen City who is spending the Easter vacation at the old homestead in Bendinck.

There was a happy re-union at the home of Wm Vasey Saturday of last week, Miss Eliza arriving home from the Queen city and Miss Nellie from Owen Sound where she had been attending the Collegiate Institute.

After spending a fortnight with her parents in the village, Miss Alice Smith left on Monday morning for an extended visit with her sister Mrs Jas. Grant of the Prairie Province. Her winning manner and jolly disposition is much missed in the burg.

Miss Maggie McKenna and Mr John Johnston are holidaying at their respective homes after spending the winter months at the Northern Business College, Owen Sound.

Mr Wm O'Mara, the genial proprietor of the Bull's Head, Dornoch's popular tourist resort, has renovated the "bar" treating it to a fresh coat of paint and artistic paper thereby giving it a very homelike appearance. Billy's famous whiskey will taste all the better under such favorable conditions.

Miss Maggie McKenzie of Ye Editor's town, spent a few pleasant days with her sister, Mrs. Dr. Smith.

Miss Maggie Hughes is enjoying the Easter vacation at her home in Sullivan after spending the winter months in S. S. No. 1, Sydenham, teaching the young idea how to shoot.

We were much grieved on Saturday last to hear that an old schoolmate, Mr Angus McKechnie of Glenelg had passed to the Great Beyond. Deceased had battled with consumption during the past four years, but the great white plague seems irremediable and at last has numbered among its thousands of victims, the beloved son above mentioned. The remains were interred in the Rocky cemetery on Monday Rev N. A. McDonald officiating at the house and grave. We extend our sincere condolence to the bereaved ones.

Who sigh for the touch of a vanished hand, And the sound of a voice that is still.

Rocky Saugeen.

Mrs John McKinnon has moved into town.

Miss Amy Edge is home from Owen Sound for the holidays.

Miss Marion Searf spent a few days with Toronto friends last week.

Messrs Geo. Leggette and Elias Edge purchased new horses lately.

Mr Will Newell visited at Mr Sandy Hobkirk's, Crawford, on Easter Sunday.

The funeral of Mr James Campbell took place on Thursday last to the Rocky cemetery. Rev Wm Patquharson officiated in the absence of Rev N. A. McDonald.

Mrs A'lan McKinnon is spending a couple of weeks with her parents, Mr and Mrs Geo. Newell, before her departure for Port Arthur.

Mr James Watson and his brother-in-law, Mr Harris, both of Toronto, are visiting the former's parents, Mr and Mrs Robt. Watson.

Mr Frank Collinson spent Easter at his uncle's, Mr Archie McKechnie.

MODEL SCHOOL STATISTICS.—1200 students attended Model Schools in Ontario in 1905 and 1180 of them were given certificates to teach. Of the 23 failures to obtain certificates 5 attended Brampton, 2 in Chatham, 1 in Cornwall, 1 in Ingersoll, 1 in Kincardine, 2 in Newmarket, 3 in Norwood, 5 in Owen Sound, 1 in Orangeville, 1 in Prescott and 1 in Simcoe.

Miss Dick

McIntyre Block, Lambton Street

Priceville.

It is our intention to visit all we can this week between here and Top Cliff, for the purpose of finding out what progress the farmers are making by way of making preparations for the approaching seeding, and to begin we made a call on as big and fine a looking man as we have in the place. Hector McDonald, and found him away selling implements for the Noxon Company and doing a fairly good business.

Next we called on Donald Gillies and found him not very well with gripe or something else but nevertheless he is preparing his patch of ground already. So the season is advancing.

On our way, we gave Willie Mather a call, as fine a young man as the county can produce, weighs near 200 stands 6 feet, 2 inches on his bare feet. He is a dutiful son to his widowed mother, and is doing well as a farmer.

As our inclination leans more towards the west, we shall defer climbing the Artemesia hills to some future time. So we made a call on Hugh McPhail. Hugh has his own troubles to contend with, his wife not being very well, but we hope as the warm weather comes, she will be alright again. Hugh is making fine improvements on the McNulty farm by way of making preparations for fencing it. We crossed the fence to the McDougall brothers, and on nearing the dwelling, we thought we were entering a wood yard, as the place is well covered with that element.

Across the sideroad is the lonely dwelling house at present, the future residence of Hector McKechnie as he only purchased the Thomson farm a year ago, Hector put a new stove up and Commissioner Neil McCannel got his premises insured. Hector will probably be on the lookout for some one to keep the stove in its proper place.

We took another turn backward and called on Roger McEachern. Mr McEachern wasn't very well of late, he is prospering as a farmer and erected a fine new barn a couple of years ago.

The next on the way is Mr Hugh McKinnon. Hugh is as busy as a nailer at present, attending to his sock, while his good boys are doing the main work of the farm, by way of ploughing and sowing. Hugh is doing well and now is the owner of some 275 acres of land.

We then took a short cut across to Norman McIntyre's. Norman had all his ploughing done in the fall and is ready for cultivating whenever the ground is fit. He is a good all round fellow who is always ready to help those that need his service and a fine specimen of the human family.

We climbed up the hill and called on Bob Fisher. Everybody knows Bob, for ask him of any part of the country and he is either threshing or tumbering there. Bob is living alone but has no one to blame but himself. Across the road we found John A. McDonald at home and as it was dinner time we thought we would have it there. By the pile of wood he has split ready for use the passers by might think he expects a cold summer, but we hope they will be mistaken.

Next we took a stroll to see Donald McDougall No 45—Donald is making preparations for putting in a big crop this year.

Across the line fence is John McMeeken, on the late Hugh McDonald's place. John is paying $150 rent but by attention to business, he is doing well as he is a first class worker.

On Patrick Sullivan's farm we found another tenant and by the appearance of his stock we believe he knows how to farm. His name we think is Mr Fothergill, and, as he is a stranger in a strange land, we hope the neighbors will use him kindly.

On the start we made an omission in passing the residence of Mr Donald McArthur, Townline, Priceville. Mr McArthur of late had the experience that it would be necessary to prepare an "Ark in case of a deluge." "Noah's Ark contained all living creatures under the same roof as he and his family occupied, but in this case Mr McArthur and family were cosy, while all his four footed animals were nearly drowned on account of a heavy flood a few weeks ago, as the stable had no less than from four to five feet of water in it and nothing could be seen in the morning but the cattle's horns, no less but a dog being drowned. The scene to the reader may be more imaginary than real, but nevertheless it is a fact all the same, Mr McArthur can tell the story to perfection.

The next place we came to is Neil McKinnon's. Neil has bought another farm lately, and is making preparations for putting in an extra large crop this season.

Along side McKinnon's is Samuel McDiarmid on a fine 50 acre farm, has a fine brick house and frame barn with basement, doing well. On the corner to the south is Alex McEachern. owns 150 acres, has a large family mostly all daughters. Alex is one of the trustees of Top Cliff school.

Up the hill we arrived at Top Cliff school just in time to attend an entertainment held by the good lady teacher, Miss Laing. The programme was good, but it is too bad that the ratepayers take so little interest in school matters as was shown by the smallness of the crowd. Miss Laing is a good reciter herself, also a good singer. She left for her home at St. Mary's for the Easter vacation.

now we are at Top Cliff, found the obliging Postmaster Mr McCraig, with his big rain coat on just ready to start with the mail. The mail goes regular from Top Cliff and Priceville three times a week. Mr McCraig is possessed with all the facilities required to be a successful farmer.

While so near we took a race down to see how John McLean and his young bride were getting along on the McCannel farm, found them alright, making great preparations for putting in a big crop this season as John bought another horse and has a hired man.

We think we did a good day's travelling and now we will retract our steps backward and put up for the night where we had our dinner. Some other time we intend to visit the good people amongst the Highland hills of Artemesia and report progress.
