tables' Asso-

ompously res under oath,

ld and Chief secutive take meh province resent "erude constaof a paper Twiss, of a legislative the associain regard to ing. Every police office minted presinted by the nes shunia befores, it systrying ton." County stables now occupations. big gatherhe servant of the direceting, or the the gathering fter his eme under the consisting of wm attorney instructing an emphatic reprenent of anization of ubles, as to ie next conlawa: Chief count, Chie? Chief Con-Uniet Con-A commitwood, Chief itreal, Dep-Constables ppointed to suggest reter of Susof Parlia-ING.

lated-Sur-District. eport that blementing by bunding soint near

T FROMBAS to the ex-Nors were oute, and ermine the his connece C. P. R.

the localtested are: Bowman-Cabourg.

ARMS. nnipeg of d Griffith. inder the the Street right arm shoulder. ge and now Hospital

d on Main e C. N. R. ne wheels arm. The e came off, CEYLON NATURAL CREEN TEA once and you will never return to the adulterated teas of Japan.

LEAD PACKETS ONLY

40c, 50c. 60c per 1b. A all Grocers HIGHEST AWARD ST. LOUIS, 1904

Won at Last

"What, and leave your fair side all | unguarded, lady."

"Oh, my fair side is accustomed to take care of itself very successfully." | tone "Then may I confess to a low minded hope that your uncle may ask me to did not like to pass your house without dinner?-though, by the way, I am calling to say that I have had no answer scarcely fit to present myself."

have dined." "Great powers. Well, I need not lose decided." this precious chance of speaking to you. I suppose I shall never see you except through a haze of Highland relations.' "No; it is not very likely." "If you knew how anxious I am to ask you a variety of questions, you they?"

would give me some opportunity of a tete-a-tete." "You can ask as many as you like. I have no secrets." "What, does your uncle know you refused Waring.' "How do you know I did?" "Oh. I know how desperately in love he was, and it is currently reported that you did, and that he went to the bad in to return her good offices if necessary, hard expression replacing the smile which had played round on her lips. "You and I. Sir St. John Lisle, have seen enough of the world we live in to know that women seldom have sufficient influence to make or mar any man's life." "I am not so sure. I fancy if any women ever had, you would be one of

He looked sharply at her as he spoke. She laughed naturally and merrily. "Considering the score of women who are most influential, I do not think your opinion flattering." "Why, do you not think good women influence us?"

"Not often, I fancy." "You have grown worldly-wise since

"Does an absence of nearly four years very earnestly of the interview he had make you more familiar with my name just had. than you used to be," she asked coldly. you so often, and called you Mona in had left upon him.

my heart since we parted." an amused expression crept into her could not fathom. As she seemed indifregion you term heart, but pray let your anything for her? Had she fallen lips conform to the usages of this mun- love with any other man? Had she a dane society in which we live and move secret history, which might account for and have our being," she said, careless- her eccentric conduct?

Lisle was silent for a moment "I accept your rebuke," he said, 'and will not again offend." Mona, good-humoredly-"only to

"You have changed enormously," sumed Lisle. "You seem years older." "Thank you. That is a rare compliment."

"I will not be chaffed into retracting and I find, as I always do, that the fruit is more heavenly sweet than even the blossom.'

"Yet, I imagine that anticipation is always better than fruition," said Mona, quite unmoved by the implied compli-They walked a few steps in silence, then Lisle exclaimedto live here with these very excellent gives a lover who comes back with fresh lation of poor Mr. Waring's, and he is be-"On the contrary, I feel quite at home.

I am fond of my uncle, because he is fond of me, and I find life quite endur- ceed-well, I can afford myself even a

"Yes, always."

"Except in poor Waring's case." "That was the exception which proves the rule. Probably I should have been wiser had I conformed to your sound advice," turning to him with a frank, whose existence would explain much? I old general asked for my address, and oweet smile, but I cannot say I repent wonder if that word of counsel I ven- said he would come and see me some my rejection of it."

no longer consider me a friend, as you; the subject. Well, I know women pretty to welcome such a friend, after his long such a hold on my heart-no, my fancy, uncle to come up to town for a little øbsence." "Thank you," and Lisle walked beside her in silence for a few minutes. "I see Lady Finistoun has not been leng in Craigdarroch. Mona found Mary a very out thinking twice,' but I will not. Matfinding you out," he resumed. " I met pleasant companion-a quiet, kindly, sen- rimony is a tremendous experiment, and her just before I overtook you; she sible girl, whose hearty admiration and I'll not venture to recommend it. God was accompanied by that fearful female, profound faith was a gratifying tribute | bless you, my own dear. My best res-Miss Morton; have you ever met ber be- to her new friend. Uncle Sandy's uneasy | peets to your uncle. Ever your loving first person the first when I reached Kirktoun. I neth was more inflexible than formerly. wonder Lady Finistoun lets her make It was a great relief to Mona to have even a temporary settlement at the a partner in her readings and writings

A few more unimportant sentences over, Mary had learned to play chess brought them to the house, where they with her father, the schoolmaster, and alfound Uncle Sandy enjoying forty winks lowed herself to be beaten with much while waiting till the darkness had deep- tact-occasionally winning to keep up the ened sufficiently to render the lamp illusion.

"Sir St. John Lisle has come to see "What's his wull?" in an irritated

"I am very sorry to disturb you; but I as yet to my letter, so we will keep well "A hope I must nip in the bud. We this side of the supposed boundary, and get into no trouble, till the matter is

> "Weel, it canna be helpit." "No, certainly not. May I leave you a couple of brace of grouse, Mr. Craig? They are good plump birds." fine and digestible good. Where are not pleased. The other girl has a sweet "The gillie is just outside with my

"Mona, ca' Phemie to tak' them!" "Then I will not trespass on you any longer. Pray, young ladies, do you not feel disposed to put me on my way? The moon is rising, and the walk back would be charming?" Mary looked at Mona, evidently ready but the other laughed, and said they "Nonsense," returned Mona, a grave, could enjoy the view from the window without the trouble of walking. Lisle reproached both for refusing his request, and bidding them a gay good-night, departed on his homeward road "Aweel, I didna want to hear he had rather have my bit doze than a' his you?' Then he began to talk in short birdies!" and settled to his nap again. the letter than brought him here. I am how his eyes and voice seemed familiar Kenneth," said Mona, laughing at Mary's looking at me as if he was going to acevident delight in the discovery she cuse me of murder: thought she had made.

Meanwhile Lisle walked rapidly down hill in the direction of the hotel where he and his friend put up, and thinking

In the new scenes and occupations of "Yes," he returned, looking down in- his life in India, he had lost much of the to her eyes, "because I have thought of impression which the little episode of his

Her breaking with Waring, after hav-Mona met his eyes very steadily, while ing accepted him, had been a mystery he ferent to himself, why did she not marry "Call me what you like in the inner a rich, easy-going fellow, who would do

"However that may be, she was fond beat, but I cannot recall your name." of me once, in a proud, shy, reluctant way," he thought. "I was certain of it called Fielden-Mark Fielden-who wor I till that day when she took my advice the cup at the Ballykillruddery hunt "Oh, I did not mean to rebuke," said about Waring so differently from what races in 253, more than thirty years I expected. By Jove! I am rtight, too! | ago? I have felt her tremble when I put my "Do I not? And I helped to do up re- arm around her in a waltz, and it nearly my cousin Rose Nugent's hair with rib- stood awaiting her commands. made me make a fool of myself. What a bons of his colors for the race ball!

they are darker and softer-but steady! with you!" There is a curious look of resolution in | So we shook hands and his brown to start." them when they meet mine. If I were | face softened and glowed while he talkher grandfather, she could not treat me | ed to Rose. He was desperately in love | with more friendly composure; she is with her, and they were engaged. He have plenty of time, I will take you gently, kindly indifferent, or acts it ad- went off to India; she stayed at home- round by Balmuir; the views are splenmirably, while I-I am harder hit than got a wetting out boating, took cold, did nearly all the way." ever! I don't think I have myself so and went off in a decline. He married. well in hand as I used. I must not be and lost his wife, and now he is wandan ass, but I must and will break down, ering about in indifferent health. I that barrier of profound reserve she should not have mentioned all this if it masks so cleverly behind her sweet, care- had not been for a bit that will interest less frankness. Does she resent the part | you. In the course of conversation, it fire after a short estrangement. I don't "Do, you always love those who love be to much hampered with her after the quite understand her-I must be careful. She is a most dainty morsel, and if I sucwife according to my fancy now! and not blom is off the grape! How in Heaven's name did she came to have such an uncle? She looks thoroughbred, if ever a woman did! There is a sort of conscious power about her smile that stings a fellow's pride. I wonder if she is thinking not let on that I knew anything about his age, plus seven. of me? or of that other possible loved, it, and the subject dropped. Then my tured to offer still rankles? Dare I ex- | Sunday-which. I told him was my only fear," said Lisle, gravely, 'that you plain it away? No. I dare not approach | free day-but I don't fancy he will. well-give me time, and I think I shall enough, and I must stop. When shall I

CHAPTER XX.

It was, on the whole, a bright time at pride had perhaps never before been so friend, satisfactorily fed, and, like all things that you have not. She thus satisted, was lulled to sleep for the ubiquitous. She was the present. If at any time the currents of that I recognized when his temper flowed from the east, it was Bombay, and one of against Kenneth they chafed; and Kenand general care of Uncle Sandy. More-necessary. Mary was seated on the steps leading to the garden, reading by the fast-fading light.

Amid this temporary tranquility and clear after yesterday of storm and kind Deb; not that Deb would care for a life of inactivity and seclusion—busy bandy, rousing up confusedly:

Amid this temporary tranquility and clear after yesterday of storm and rain.

Lady Finistoun had offered to drive over after luncheon and fetch her, so soirces, where she might display a dainty and becoming cap, this was the existence which suited her. But by her own heart Mona knew what a blank her absence left in the warm-hearted, bright-spirited woman's life. She was therefore a most steady and satisfactory correspondent, giving a weekly picture of her days, and lescriptions of her readings and musing. She made, however, very slight mention of Lisle; but slight as it was, it sufficed to set Mme. Debrisay off. "Your letter, as usual, reached me on Saturday. I can't tell you how I look have far better weather than we have in London; it is warm and damp, and the streets as greasy as if all the tallowchandlers in town had poured grease over them. People are coming back, and my days are getting filled up, so I feel less lonely than I did at first. Is it not a queer turn, your meeting that nice, elegant Captain Lisle away there in the wilds? I always thought, and always will think, that he was a great admirer of yours; and if he nad not been sent off to India just when your poor grandmother died, there's no knowing what might have happened. I hope, dear, you will not turn up your nose at him as you generally do-Lady Liste would look well and suit you well. How does your uncle put up with a such a thorough-gong aristocrat? I hope you are keeping him (Uncle Sandy) well in hand; you must always remember the old lines, 'Tenderhearted stroke the nettle," etc., etc.; and a Scotch thistle requires a firmer grip than anything else! I am not sure] like all you tell me about your new friend Miss Black. Don't let her, or Kenneth, either, get too strong a hold on the old gentleman. The Scotch are deep and deceitful, I have always heard. Now for some of my own news. I have some new pupils-two daughters of a Mrs. Rivers, who has lately come from India, and is giving these girls finishing lessons before taking them back with her. Lady ney disorders and restores the female | Anything draws a crowd. The exhibi-Hayter recommended me. One of then (Miss Rivers, I mean) has as much par Dear Mrs. Pinkham :and as much voice as a crow. I told her mother it was robbery to take her money "I am much obliged to you. They are for I could do her no good, and she was little pipe enough, so I go on with both of them. This, however, is a twist in the stream of my narrative. A few days ago, I had stayed over my time and Mrs. Rivers asked me to come into luncheo I was starving-talking and singing make one fearfully hungry-so I went in. They were very pleasant and had a announced, and a very grand old warrior marched in "A great tall, thin man-a bag of bones you might say-with big black Mass., and her advice free. eyebrows, and angry-looking eyes; but his hair was white and his face brown and he had an empty sleeve. He was named to me and gave me a stare, as nae letter," murmured Uncle Sandy. "I'd much as to say, 'Who the deuce are sentences, and with what we might term "Ah!" whispered Mary Black, "it's not a 'staccato fortiss:mo' manner. Someafraid but you are a hard-hearted lassie, to me, only I could not find a clear place Mona. He is a handsome, grand-looking for him in my memory. When he had eaten some curry-and abused it-and "He is not nearly as good-looking as taken a glass of hock and seltzer, he said,

"'What did you say this lady's name sound of a carriage driving up, "'Madame Debrisay,' said Mrs. Riv

"'Humph!' said he; 'are you a French-"'No,' said I: 'but I am next door to one—I am Irish!'

country, may I ask?' more politely. "'From Ballykillruddery.'

"'Ah, I thought so!' "And he was silent for a bit; then he said, with a pleasanter smile than thought his grim face could put on: "I see you have no recollection o

"Your voice and face are not strange to me,' I said, my heart beginning to "Have you quite forgotten a gunner charming figure she has. Her eyes too, know you now, and I must shake hands said, smiling. "If you do not mind tak-awfully vexed with him. It seems he has gone to America. A friend of the gener- fore thirty. al's saw him breaking horses last spring in California. I said I had met him, and what good fellow I thought him. Then the general said he was an ass, and had had let himself be knocked out of the running because he could not get a girl he wanted to marry him. Of course I did

"Now, my darling, I have prosed long O'Rell.

"On the contrary, 1 3m very pleased win this puzzling girl. No one ever took | see you again. Can't you persuade your more physic. You make him too happy and comfortable. I was going to write, 'Don't refuse Sir St. John Lisle with

"Geraldine Debrisay." The remembrance of his pained expression and quivering lips when he left her-after she had broken with himhaunted her for some time, as it always did, after it had been roused by any allusion to her rejected lover. But her housekeeping cares, the demands of Uncle Sandy, the pleasure of a ramble with Mary, helped to banish these un-

The Thursday on which Mona was to have a peep once more at the world she

Diseases of Woman's Organism Cured and Consequent Pain Stopped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Venetable Compoun

"It seems as though my back would oreak." Women utter these words over and over again, but continue to drag along and suffer with aches in the small forward to it; and it's like you, dear, to of the back, pain low down in the side, be so faithful in writing. You seem to "bearing-down" pains, nervousness and and quickly indicates by aching a diskidneys, and that the aches and pains Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been for many years the one and only effective remedy in such cases. It speedily cures female organs and kid- children to do but swelter. organs to a healthy condition.

suffered a long time with female trouble, having intense pains in the back and abdomen and very sick headaches every month. I was tired and nervous all the time and life looked very dreary to me and I had no desire to live until I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and to get some relief. My recovery was slow but it was sure, and I never regretted the money spent for the Compound as it brought me back to good health. "It seems to be a medicine especially to say a good word for it."-Mrs. Albert Mann, 154 Gore Vale Ave., Toronto, Ont. "Presently a General something was "No other person can give such helpful advice to women who are sick as can ers who bend over sewing machines, and culosis, and we hope that in a few years phony. And far down the borders of Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia they know just what the continuous the registry of cases will show a falling the river of oGd lies the land of our E. Pinkham. Her address is Lynn, coughing and hawking mean. Their in off."-New York Sun.

adapted to the ills of our sex and I am glad Mona-relieved from the necessity of taking out Uncle Sandy's ramshackle is the careless consumptive." conveyance, dressed, and having put up a carefully arranged dinner dress and in time, but usualy not otherwise." change of raiment, waited quietly for Fresh air, rest, food. These give you her ladyship's appearance. Uncle Sandy had driven away early mother, who was old and weak.

by Mme. Debrisay, when she heard the there is a way to escape, and that cleanli-"She is earlier than I expected," was the disease that kills so many. her mental comment as she glanced at They watch the succession of pictures. the clock. "It is barely half past three."

Voices were heard speaking in the hall and then a pair affected by the disease. and Mona rose, intending to go out and Pictures illustrating the treatment of meet her friend, when the door opened, patients and of all the devices for preand Lisle entered unannounced, his hat venting infection or contagion follow. "From what part of that unfortunate in his hand, looking bright and brown. Mona colored in spite of herself.

"Good morning," he cried, cheerily. "I Lady Finistoun finds she must drive in | don't cure.' to Kirktoun to meet Major and Mrs. Menteith- Finistoun's sister, you know to convey you to the Lodge. I hope you will forgive the change.' Mona was silent for an instant, while alcoholic drinks in disguise. she took a rapid view of the situation. That she was annoyed at being caught for persons suffering from consumption. in such a trap, need not be said. She did They do not cure-they kill." not, however, see any way out of it, and her first care was to hide any symptom

"Oh, I have nothing to forgive," she ing me and my dress basket, I am ready

"Well, said," cried Lisle, exultingly "As it is a fine clear afternoon, and we

(To be Continued.) ----

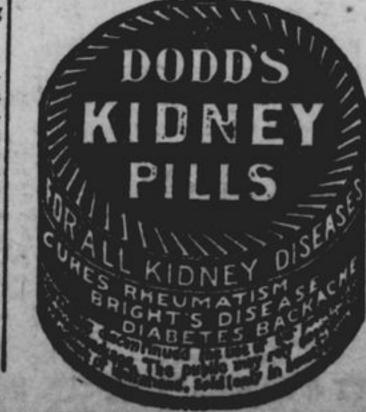

The Age to Marry. And, you will say, at what age should a man marry? Well, at all events, never

When this indispenseble condition got through a heap of money, and has satisfied, I shall say never, or seldom, be-

Never try matrimony as an experiment -that is to say, never before you are ab- for the Prevention and Cure of Tubersolutely certain you will prefer it to all culosis, in Washington. The plan was the rest. I heard the other day a very brought up and discussed, and the New good piece of advice, which I should like York physicians decided that as the city to repeat here, as I endorse it thorough- had been the foremost in fighting the ly: A man should marry a woman half disease the plan should be tried here.

Time to Feel Grateful.

Nervous Johnny-I love the smell of ary taste! Why do you like it? N. J.—Because when you smell it you | lectures. know the danger's past.

Stereopticon War On Germs

Free Object Lessons on Fighting the White Plaque.

The stereopticon machine, once the can be done everywhere. There is no dechief attraction at church entertainments | nying that the views make a very strong and later the medium for announcing appeal in an effective way.

educational and medical. The Health Department of the city has gistering their patients readily, and that mapped out an itinerary for a stereopticon to go about throwing on screens in the parks and public places pictures and getting keener in their diagnosis of epigrammatic sentences which warn and cases. There are about 55,000 cases re-advise people about tuberculosis. There have been only a few exhibitions thus far by the machine, but it seems to draw as and confessed object is amusement. are inclined to look on the use of the stereopticon as only a trivial incident of their general campaign to prevent the spread of tuberculosis in the Borough of Manhattan. Compared with some the really hard efforts made by them in their ten years' struggle against the pretty a means of waging war that to say much about it is to give it too much At the same time they acknowledge that the scheme is doing and is going to da a whole lot of good. The apparatus is set up in some park, say on the East Side. It is a warm night, and there is little for the bench sitters, women and disease, they are inclined to think it so tor starts off with a picture of sor tenement house, the lake of which is known to all of them. He says nothing. "We would have to use megaphones and then we could not make them all hear," explained one of the doctors.

The view changes and the interior of some overcrowded room is shown. The unsanitary conditions are nothing new. Then out, bold and clear, comes a sign, with these words in English and Yiddish: "Consumption causes more deaths than any other disease. Consumption attacks especially those who live in crowded or badly ventilated rooms." The disease is no stranger to the work- is aroused to the real danger from tuber- life are gathered up into one vast sym-terest is aroused and they wait to see the rest. These sentences follow: "The only consumptive to be afraid of "Consumption may be cured if taken your chance to get well of consumption." To some of these people fresh air and with Kenneth to the sale of Highland, rest and food seem pretty hard to obtain. cattle at Kirktoun, and Mary had gone They cannot stop to rest, for work to carry some jelly to the shepherd's means food, and work ras to be done in the close air of the factory. But at any Mona was reading a review sent her rate the stereopticon tells them that ness will do a great deal to ward off No food and no care can do her any

> There is shown a healthy pair of lungs The signs are sandwiched in between sentences like these: "Don't waste time or money on patent hope you will forgive a change of plans. medicines or 'consumptive cures.' They Clark, Arden, Ont., says: "Dr. Williams'

"If you want to know how to protect yourself and your family from consump--so I offered myself and my dogcart tion, take time to read these bulletins." "Patent medicines do not cure consumption; most of them are practically

"Alcoholic drinks are particularly bad

"Rooms which have been occupied by a consumptive should be thoroughly cleanof annoyance from the gay cavalier who ed and then disinfected by the Board of

"Don't live in a room in which there is no fresh air. "Don't sleep in a room in which there is no fresh air." There are forty-five of these precepts that flash across the sheet in succession and the whole series is presented every time the stereopticon is set up. The pictures and everything are thoroughly appropriate to the subject. There is no thought of amusement. It is serious

The views have taken deep hold. Everywhere crowds gather to watch, and "What banishment it must be for you I played? Pooh! A woman always forlive here with these very excellent gives a lover who comes back with fresh time to be the shown and the property of t

> Dr. Bertram H. Waters says that the idea originated about two years ago at a Dr. Williams' Pink Pills we knew where convention of the American Association to look for a cure and after using four

It took some time before the thing rich, red blood, that is why they cure Try it at whatever age you like, and got under way. The board hired J. anaemia, headaches and backaches, indiyou will find it works very well, taking | Lightowler to make the views and pre- gestion, nervous prostration, heart palpifor granted all the while that, after all, pare the slides. Naturally it took a lita man as well as a woman is the age | the while to give a sufficiently minatory | St. Vitus dance and the ailments that that he looks and feels.—The late Max and also sufficiently soothing tone to make the lives of so many women and each sentence to make them sink in. The slides were finished up a while ago | icine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box and it was decided to wait until the wea- or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. ster, which dives down into the depths ther was warm enough to give the views Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont at his approach with uplifted sword; out of doors. There were some present-Hostess-Really? What an extraordin- ed in schools and halls in the winter, as part of the regular Board of Education we do not remove these signs from the and votes the straight ticket. list. I guess they'll stay there, though. The "gallus" is useful; it is graceful. "We are thinking ,too, of having pam- and properly adorned with hand painted election results, has qualified in another "New York has always done a great branch. This time the slide machine is deal for the fighting of the disease. The doctors are beginning to help us by re-

> helps a great deal. "Through familiarity, too, they are gistered in this borough

"The fatalism of persons in thinking of this disease is amazing. For instance, if great a crowd as some shows whose sole | there were 150 cases of typhoid fever in this borough people would be rushing The doctors in the Health Department to get away, yet typhoid is nowhere nearly as bad as this sickness, which takes off its thousands each year. Yet people make no effort against tubercu-

> "When we started this stereopticon on its travels we tried it on the dog by springing it unexpecetdly on a group in Mulberry Bend Park. We held 2,000 persons there thoroughly interested all the "The next exhibition was in Battery

Park and the third in City Hall Park.

From now on until the first of October the picture man and his machine will be busy, and every open place and park fit for the purpose from the Battery to Colonial Park will be visited. ing, and is possibly not worth much con- | see beyond. Only from the hilltops sideration. We have been struggling hard with the tuberculosis problem and have got further along than some places. "For instance, in Washington and in Trenton they have not yet been able to be no horizon-we shall find the decide that it is a good thing to register tuberculous patients. They are beginning now what we passed through with a long time ago. We encountered the active with light. The very air is populous opposition of doctors who thought that with the ransomed and the blood-washthere was no need to register tuberculous patients.

the start, but the result of our efforts

A MOTHER'S STORY.

She Tells How Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Saved Her Daughter.

Anaemia is the doctors' name for bloodlessness. It is an ailment that affects almost every girl in her teens. Womanhood makes new demands upon her blood supply that she cannot meet. Month after month her strength, her very very life, are being drained away. good. No common medicine can save her. She needs new blood. New blood is the one thing-the only thing-that can make a healthy woman of her. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make new Thy name upon our hearts. Fill us with blood. That is why they never fail to cure anaemia. That is how they save from an early grave scores of young girls whose health and strength depend upon their blood supply. Mrs. Anson Pink Pills have been a great blessing in but may express itself in deeds. May we my family, as two of my daughters have used them, with marked success. When my eldest daughter was about seventeen she began to fail in health. Her blood seemed to have turned to water. She was troubled with headaches and dizziness; the least exertion would cause her not walk up stairs without stopping to rest. She doctored for upwards of a year, and the doctor said she did not have as much blood in her body as an ordinarily healthy person would have in one arm. The doctor's treatment did not do her a particle of good. She seemed slowly fading away. Then she became afflicted with salt rheum, and her hands were almost raw. About this time a neighbor advised the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and she began taking them. After using the pills for a few weeks we could see an improvement, her appetite began to improve and a trace of color came to her cheeks. She continued taking thepills until she had used thirteen boxes, when she was as well and strong as ever, every trace of both of the business. They did not expect of health. Later on my youngest daughter, aged fifteen, began to lose her health, but thanks to our experience with boxes of pills she was all right again. I have also used the pills myself for ner> yous troubles, with complete success." Rich, red blood is the secret of health -Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is the secret of rich, red blood. They actually make

> > In Defence of the Gallus,

The "gallus" marks the freeman and "There will be slides in other lan- the man of genius, unpretending culture guages presently," said Dr. Waters. and civilization. Your snob and your "They will be written in Italian and Ger- savage abbor it. In Mesopotamia the man. These four languages ought to wild Bashibazouk wears a belt; in Yucatan the Indian wears a girdle of shark's "Those about the patent medicines are | teeth; in Senegambia the shameless acnpretty strong and we have a better case | nibal sports a gunnysack; in Atlantic than the muck rakers in the magazines. City, a few years back, the dudes used Our warnings go to persons who are like- to wear sashes. But find a man who. ly to use the medicines, not to those when he throws his coat off to begin his who like to read horrors to get a shud- daily toil, lays bare a pair of heavy, sky blue galluses, and you'll find a man who "We have a batch of letters from pat pays his way in the world, loves his wife. ent medicine concerns threatening us if rears his children in the fear of the Lord

prevention made up in several languages | To be ashamed of it, to conceal it or to and distributed at the places where the abandon it for a sombre leather belt is will be duplicates of the slides made and and fly in the face of fate.—Baltimore shipped to other cities so that the good furn

The Evening Hymn. The village bells with silver chime Come softened by the distant shore, Though I have heard them many a time, They never sung so sweet before. silence rests upon the hill,

A listening awe pervades the air; The very flowers are shut and still, And bowed as it in prayer. And in this husbed and breathless close, O'er earth and air and sky and sea. That still low voice in silence goes Which speaks alone, great God, of

The whispering leaves, the far-off brook, The linnet's warble fainter grown, The hive-bound bee, the lonely nook-All these their Maker own. -By Thomas Miller, Basket Maker,

> Altitudes of Faith. (J. Marvin Nichols, Texas.)

Right in the midst of life's toilsome ourney we come to heights among whose fastnesses we shut out the world's loud roar. The years of wandering in the desert are forgotten when we reach some Nebo's crest. Sinai's wilderness is lost to view when we sit down on some Pisgah's height. Into such experiences God sometimes lifts us. We shall not always abide in the valley. From these enrapturing summits we survey, with unrestricted vision, our land of promise The outlook cannot be had in the vales "This is, of course, only an outward | that are so long and deep. The very sign of the work that we have been do- hills restrict our vision and we cannot comes the ever-expanding horizon. The higher the summits the more distant the outlook. Some day, thank God, we shall come to heights so lofty that there will med vision. God invites us to sit down in faith's awful altitudes . Life's horizon fades away-the mountains - flame ed. Faith's sight surveys undreamed-of realms. We find ourselves in company "Our work was discouraging enough at | with our loved and lost in the years gone by. The holy hush is broken by rehas been satisfactory. The community demption's song. The very discords of > richer inheritance. Thank God for these heights! They do not lead back to valleys whence we came. They lead out upon high plateaus and bring us again to heights yet more lofty. In life's pilgrimage there are vast and tiresome stretches. Some sweet day

Eternal Father, of whom it has been said that God is love, be pleased to write love divine. May we love the Lord our ourselves. And grant, O God, that our love may be no matter of lip profession prove our love to God whom we have not seen by our love to our breahren whom we see. Help us, as we have opportunity to do good to all. Increase, we pray Thee, the spirit of human brotherhood throughout the world. May men no longheart to palpitate violently and she could good, but may they seek the good of others also. Thus may the kingdom of eve which brings with it peace and joy ome to earth. Amen.

Fantasies of Dreamland.

(By a Banker,) How varied and diverse are those fanmes alarm, sometimes delight probably very child of man; and how real and abstantial do they ever appear. And ow energetically does the "old Adam" combative; though probably the general tenor o fthees shadowy and insubstantial visions closely coincides with his parlover of nature is endowed with the power of flight ,and takes wing through the most entrancing scenery, now alignt flowers, now skimming over the curling waves of the broad ocean, now disporting himself amidst the peaks and pyramids, the wild ravines and savage gorges, or the outspread snowy plateaux and iven ice rivers of the higher Alps But amongst the most entrancing all these reveries of the night globe, and all endowed with life and action and shining in dazzling brilliance, growing girls miserable. Sold by all med. Here is Perseus rescuing the fair weeping Andromeda from the grissly sea-monhere Pegasus the flying horse speeding from horizon to horizon like a fiery omet; and here Orion, clothed in flashg diamonds, attacked on one side by his neighbor the furious Unicorn, and on the other by the searlet eyed Taurus, And then the dreamer finds himself in starry chariot, drawn through the ethr by fiery, prancing horses, and attended by cohorts clad in many hued glitterng robes, midst dazzling pageants of inonceivable grandeur and sublimity, and cintillating in coruscations of vivid elendour. The skies are all aglow in meteoric effulgence, quivering in everchanging, glistering tints of flaming ruby and sapphire and emerald, and the firmament is a vision of glory. And then, dazed with the stately majesty of the scene, wit h the flash of a thought he oblets on the care of the disease and its flowers and brass buckles, it is beautiful. is transported back to earth; and all this flowers and brass buckles, it is beautiful.

ges To be ashamed of it, to conceal at or to less fabric of a vision melts away, and stereoption shows. After a while there to fall in an essential of true manhood once more the trammels of earth are nesumed, though the recollection of such