Expert Breaks Out of Cell—Game Was Spoiled, However, by Keeper, Who Insisted on Looking at Right Foot.

New York, Sept. 10.—Houdini, the king of the handcuffs, as he is described by his press agent, tried to escape from a locked cell in the Yorkville police court prison to-day and encountered a sharp-eyed keeper, who disarranged his plans.

"None has ever escaped in my time, and I hope none will," responded the commissioner.

The commissioner gave his permission to try the locks in the prison of the Yorkville court. The expert went to the prison one day last week and examined the locks on the cell doors, and announced that he would return today and allow himself to be locked in a cell.

When he got there in the afternoon he found a number of headquarters men, precinct detectives, lawyers, court clerks and others waiting for him.

"I have been locked in the prisons of Germany, France and England, and in some of these countries, and in every case I managed to get out," said he. "I haven't met failure yet, and the prison officials were unable to explain how I did it." He'll have a different story to tell after his experience in the Yorkville prison.

Things were arranged for his attempted escape from the cell. The cell was selected, and he was ready to enter and disrobe, his purpose being to go undressed into the cell from which he was to escape to show he had no key concealed about him.

High noon, a prison keeper, was standing in the cell door to see that nothing was smuggled in. The expert announced that he was ready to enter the cell and he was to be searched, Conroy stepped up and ran his fingers through the expert's bush hair, but found nothing. Then he examined his hands, fingers, and looked under the fingernails for a concealed key. There was none there, so the keeper went to the door and he was ready to enter "Lift your right foot," said the keeper.

nation. THE HOME LIFE INVESTIGATION.

PRESIDENT GORDON CLEARS SOME MATTERS FOR MONARCH LIFE.

Toronto despatch: The evidence of D. A. Gordon, M. P., President of the Monarch Life, yesterday put a somewhat different aspect upon the affairs of the company as disclosed by previous evidence. He had, he said, signed a few stock certificates in ignorance that they were for part of the 1,400 shares in payment for Mr. Ostrom's copyright.

On Getting Out of Bed Thomas Allen, of Revelstoke, Was Astounded to Find Big Animal Close By.

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 10.—A lucky shot in the dark saved Thomas Allen of Revelstoke from becoming food for a bear. Allen was staying with his brother at the latter's ranch at Eagle Pass. About 3 a.m. he was awakened by the house door being opened.

LUCKY SHOT IN DARK SAVED MAN FROM BEAR.

On Getting Out of Bed Thomas Allen, of Revelstoke, Was Astounded to Find Big Animal Close By.

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 10.—A lucky shot in the dark saved Thomas Allen of Revelstoke from becoming food for a bear. Allen was staying with his brother at the latter's ranch at Eagle Pass.

Robert Ewel of Hardy Mountain, near Grant Forks, recently had almost as hair-raising an experience as Allen. He trapped six bears in two weeks.

Prospectors all over the Province report that bears are pretty numerous this season. The crop of bear stories has been unusually large this year as a consequence of the New Zealander named MacAdams recently brought from Lil-loot the fur of a large grizzly which he got after an exciting hunt. It now adorns the wall of the smoking room of the Elks' Club.

each other for places at the teller's window, and women were ruthlessly elbowed aside. The business men of the city who do business with the Sovereign Bank, to inspire confidence, kept depositing money all afternoon.

Many of those who drew out their money took it home with them, while others deposited it in other banks or in the post-office savings department. The post-office savings bank took in two thousand dollars alone this afternoon, which gives some idea of how much money was paid out by the Sovereign Bank to-day.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 10.—The western liner Milwaukee collided with the steamer Nelson Mills in the St. Clair River a short distance below St. Clair to-day. The Mills sank at once. James Barler, of Part Sanilac, wheelman on the Mills, and Mrs. T. J. Moore, wife of the engineer on the Mills, was drowned.

CHOKED TO DEATH.

William Tremmer, of Port Perry, Strangled While Eating Supper.

Port Perry despatch: William Tremmer choked to death here last night on a piece of meat. He was well known, having followed his trade of painter and paperhanger for many years. It appears he had been loafing around for several days, doing more or less drinking, and last evening went to get some supper. Those who were there say that he took a very large piece of meat in his mouth and followed it up immediately with a dry soda biscuit. He began to choke and a doctor was telephoned for. He was quickly at his side, but his efforts could not save him, and he died in a very few minutes. The coroner decided that death was accidental.

Farmer Took Poison and Made Harness Useless.

Charlottetown, P.E.I., Sept. 10.—Angus McAulay, aged 55, a well-to-do farmer, who lived near Cardigan, committed suicide yesterday by taking an ounce of carbolic acid which he purchased in the village. On going home he went upstairs. About noon his wife, on going to his room, found him dead. He was subject to fits of melancholia, arising from brain trouble. Before committing the deed he tied the harness in knots to prevent assistance reaching him in time to rescue him.

LADY WARWICK APPEARS AT BRITISH LABOR CONGRESS.

She Predicts a Revolution—Dressed in Fine Raiment, She Complains of Persecution by the Aristocracy.

London, Sept. 10.—The Countess of Warwick appeared as a prophetic to-day at the session of the Trades Union Congress at Liverpool. Wearing a big Gainsborough hat covered with a mass of black ostrich feathers, she wore a gown of black and white costume, she told the bony-handed delegates that she was persecuted by the aristocracy for her adhesion to the cause of Socialism. Then, stretching out her arms, which were gloved with white kid, she dramatically exclaimed: "Before long the storm will burst. There will be a social revolution, and in a social revolution, I will be more useful than now. Socialism is the only hope of the workers."

McKiel Family Escape From Burning House at St. John.

St. John, N.B., Sept. 10.—Sinclair McKiel's bakery was burned early this morning, and Mrs. McKiel and four children narrowly escaped being burned to death. Mrs. McKiel twice tried to pierce the smoke and flame before she was successful in reaching the air with her children, and all were badly burned about hands and faces. The bakery and stables were destroyed and also Cortell's stables next door. The loss will amount to $5,000.

HONOLULU SHAKEN.

Thousands of Fish Thrown on the Shore Scalded to Death.

Honolulu, Sept. 10.—Two earthquakes shocks are reported from Hilo, on the Island of Hawaii, but it is stated that no damage was done. After one of the shocks hundreds of dead fish were thrown upon the beaches. Apparently they had been scalded to death by a submarine eruption. The earthquakes were not felt on Oahu, the island on which Honolulu is situated.
