Railway Horror near Sudbury.

The failure of the air brakes to work on the east-bound express of the C. P. R. near Sudbury, caused a pitch-in to a standing train of harvester excursionists, resulting in 13 dead and twice as many injured. The train was waiting as the brakeman turned the switch to allow of it going on the siding out of the way and before this was done the express came on, almost full tilt into the standing train. Then there was "a tremendous crash, a rendering of metal and wood, hissing of steam, and the air filled with the cries, shrieks and groans of passengers of both trains."

The express passengers were shaken up but no serious injury. All the dead and wounded were in one coach and amongst the latter were two well-known Hanover men, Jacob Messinger and Geo Ries, who were going west. Messenger had arms and head injured but not seriously, while Ries was worse as will be seen. The despatch to the Globe has this to say of Ries' spirit: "Geo Ries, of Hanover, a man well up in years, gave an exhibition of endurance which surprised even the doctors. With seven ribs broken, head cut and shoulder dislocated, he insisted on walking up two flights of stairs in the hospital to the ward assigned him, talking and laughing all the time." They didn't know our George. He is reported going well.

Fortunately fire did not break out. A searching investigation is to be made as to why and how the "angle cock" of the air brake had been closed well.

Furniture Factory Frolics.

Friday afternoon last the Directors management and employees of the Furniture factory took half a day off to spend in fun and frolic at a picnic which is intended to be an annual affair. Arrangements had been made for a special train to Holstein and at one p. m. there were two coaches crowded with excursionists and a few more came down on the regular. Lenahan, Whelan, Cochrane, Furneaux, McFarlane and Clerk Vollett, of the town council were present, the two editors and a large number of the factory and others.

The chilly morning gave place to a splendid afternoon, admirably adapted for out-door enjoyment. The committee had the sports well in hand; there was an exciting and closely fought game of lacrosse, the goal umpires being Manager Catton and Secy Koch, and the score 7 to 6 in favor of the machine men against the finishers.

The sport of the day however was the baseball match between the Directors and Town council on one side and Factory men on the other the former winning safely. Every one voted lacrosse was not "in it" with this game, and if we had had an expert to keep count of the three baggers, the flys and the fouls and the falls, we could make that Toronto team green with envy. J. C. Telford is a hot pitcher as some of the bats felt. Bob McFarlane, Bert Moore and Billy Lauder were great rooters and runners, while Bob Adlam to convince the baseman he got there picked up the base. Ed Glass was umpire and wasn't mobbed. Catton after several failures found the ball with a long infelder. And so on; it was great.

Then there were quoits, boating, a swimming race on the pond between Barney Hartford and Percy Daniels in which the latter barely won, followed by a tug of war pull between married and single men in which we think the beneficiaries won. To crown all was a sumptuous tea and abundance of good things followed by a gap in which was to be a football match with the village, but the time was taken up in 'doing' the village and calling on friends before train time.

The first annual picnic went off with an éclat that will help the next, and no small part of the success was the presence of Durham Brass Band which rendered fine music.

A farmer states that he rid his farm of rats in the following manner: On a number of pieces of shingles I put about half a spoonful of molasses and on this a small quantity of concentrated lyre and then put the shingles around under the cribs. Next morning I found about forty rats and the rest left for parts unknown. I have cleared several farms of the pests in the same way and I never knew it to fail.

Railway Notes.

Nothing to report this week except surprising progress in grading westward. Every bit of good weather is being used and almost every man and team offering.

Mr Harris is having a busy time of it, flying east and west. He has now bought the right of way into the corporation from the east as far as Lambton St. on the Webber lot where Mrs Gadd lives. There is general satisfaction expressed at the honorable way the Company are making settlements, being generous, where as in some cases, old homes are destroyed, and fine farms mutilated. Such things are bound to be where a great permanent steel roadway has to be made to last unknown generations.

Last Saturday was pay day and no doubt many got good fat envelopes.

A CHAT WITH THE SCRYPHORS.—A representative of the Post had a chat yesterday with a bunch of C. P. R. surveyors who were enjoying an after dinner smoke in front of the Reid House. They are engaged at present laying out work in this vicinity for Contractor Cook to commence building up the embankments. Some people who have not considered the matter seriously will doubtless have imagined that the work of laying the track will soon be commenced. One end, but such is not the case. That is one of the very easiest and shortest features connected with building a road.

"Why," said one of the surveyors to the reporter in answer to a query of this kind, "the rails for the entire 40 miles between Proton and Walkerton will be laid in a month." It is the cuts that take time, and the building of bridges, though the surveyors say that the new road is comparatively light in this respect, there being only three or four serious cuts and a like number of bridges. The new road, therefore, should be comparatively cheap of construction, that is so far as railroads go. There are in all about two hundred men on the new road all together, but this number will be greatly increased as soon as possible. The company is just as anxious as the public are to have the road in operation as soon as possible, in order to get returns. The work of construction will be proceeded with during the entire winter, the steam shovel being put at the big cuts in the severe weather. "In view of your experience in like contracts when do you think the C. P. R. will be carrying passengers along the new route," queried the newspaper man. "Well," said a suborned fellow after a little cogitation "the C. P. R. ought to be doing business in from 12 to 14 months."

The first annual picnic went off with an éclat that will help the next, and no small part of the success was the presence of Durham Brass Band which rendered fine music.
