

SUNDAY HOME

My Lord and I.
I tell Him all my sorrows,
I tell Him all my joys,
I tell Him all that pleases me,
I tell Him what annoys;
He tells me what I ought to do,
He tells me what to try,
And so we talk together,
My Lord and I.

He knows how I am longing
Some weary soul to win;
And so He bids me go and speak
The loving word for Him;
He bids me tell His wondrous love,
And why He came to die;
And so we work together,
My Lord and I.

I have His voice upon me,
And easy 'tis to bear;
In the burden that He carries
I gladly take a share;
For then it is my happiness
To have him always nigh;
We bear the yoke together,
My Lord and I.

—Unknown.

Prayer.
O Lord, Thy will be done. Make us strong enough to bear the doing of it; it may trouble us much; it may blind us when we are looking at beauty; it may deafen us when we are listening to the voice that charms us most; still, Thy will be done. Thou hast shown Thy children great and sore trouble; but each has come out of the cloud and the storm saying: "It was good for me that I was afflicted; before I was afflicted I went astray. Thou hast given some of Thy children great power and honor and means of many kinds; may they realize their stewardship, and set as the trustees of Christ. Bless all noble hearts; prosper all noble purposes; send a blight upon all deceit and vanity, and as for all wickedness do Thou drive it down to hell. Amen.

The Three.
Mary of Nazareth, loving and kind,
The mission of Him she bore defined
Vaguely and dim, with a wondering mind.

Mary of Bethany, gentle and fair,
Gave Him what cheer her home could spare,
And smiled with the peace of quiet prayer.

Soiled with the dust of the gazing street,
Stealing in where He sat at meat,
Mary the Magdalen kissed His feet.

Mary the virgin marvelled with fear,
Mary the listener lent Him her ear,
But Mary the prodigal fathered near—

Thou wonder and loathing filled the place,
And Simon counted her touch disgrace,
She bent o'er the Master her tear-stained face—

And her wealth of warm, dark hair, unbound,
About His feet she wound and wound—
Her sobbing was the only sound.

John Wesley.
His power over other men furnishes a still stronger evidence pointing in the same direction. His preaching was simple, unadorned, unrefined. He had none of the devices of the eloquent. "Whether preaching in St. Mary's at Oxford, or under the open sky at Gwennep in Cornwall, he was always the same quiet, refined, but plain-speaking man." Though his audience was numbered by thousands, he spoke to each individual. "Said John Nelson, when he first heard him, 'He made my heart beat like the pendulum of a clock. I thought he spoke to no one but me. This man can tell the secrets of the heart.'" Nor was it only or chiefly the spiritually cultured who were reached. The lowest of the low often constituted a large element, if not the largest element, in his congregations. Here is a snapshot of some typical hearers: "One day, as he was going to preach on a common near Chouder, twenty or thirty children ran about him like some dumb, hungry animals. They were only just not naked. The eldest, a girl of fifteen, had only a piece of ragged blanket hanging upon her, and a dirty cap upon her head." But he rarely, it would probably be safe to say never, appealed to the lower and meaner motives of his auditors. "It is evident that if Wesley led these tradesmen and cobblers and smuglers' to feel that they were sinners and needed some how to get rid of their sin, he did it not by threats, seldom even by warnings. He preached, rather, the law of love, and because his own heart was filled with a great love and pity for his sinning and suffering fellows."—Outlook.

MAID OF HONOR

There is scarcely a gentleman in England who does not covet the position of maid of honor to Queen Alexandra. It is the post that requires unusual abilities and masses in constant attendance on the Queen. As there are four of them the duties are so divided as not to be arduous.

A maid of honor day commences immediately after the Queen has breakfasted. Through the majesty's private secretary will be sent the bulk of the correspondence the "morning" post has brought, there will be read such letters of a more or less confidential and private nature, through one of the ladies-in-waiting. That, alone, requires a maid of honor to be an accomplished linguist, for almost daily Queen Alexandra requires communications from her numerous relatives in different parts of Europe.

Small Cucumber Pickles.
Pack the washed cucumbers in a stone crock, alternating each layer with a thick one of salt. Pour in enough cold water to cover the contents, then lay a heavy plate on top of the pickles, to keep them from floating. Leave in this brine for a fortnight, stirring up the cucumbers from the bottom every day or two. At the end of a fortnight go carefully through the cucumbers, and throw out all that are soft. Lay the firm ones in a kettle, lined with grape leaves over the top of the cucumbers, and pour over each layer a little alum over each layer of pickles. Cover with water, and put several thick pieces of grape leaves over the top of the cucumbers. Put the top on the kettle, and steam gently for six or eight hours. Drain, and throw the cucumbers into cold water. When cold, pack in jars. Have ready a gallon of vinegar, which has boiled for five minutes with a dozen blades of mace, three dozen black peppercorns, three dozen cloves, 18 allspice, and a cup of sugar. Pour this scalded liquid into the jars, and seal.

LARGEST OF CAMERAS.
The largest camera in the world, three times as large as its nearest competitor, is owned by Professor G. R. Lawrence, of Chicago. With it several noted pictures have been taken, including bird's-eye views of factories and towns. It is also used for enlarging other pictures.

Exercise for Business Men.
The average city business man with-out physical impediments to fight against can probably get along successfully on such an exercise schedule as the following:

- Five minutes each day of purely muscular exercise, such as can be taken perfectly well in one's room, without any special apparatus.
- Short intervals during the day of fresh air, brisk walking, deep breathing.
- This can all be secured in the regular order of the day's business. A man can easily spend as much as half an hour walking out of doors every day. This is for heart, lungs and digestion.
- The reservation of at least one day a week for rest and recreation, for being out of doors, for playing games, etc. This is an essential. This is for both body and mind. A man who thinks he can get along without at least one vacation time a week simply proves his ignorance.

Not a Horseless Age.
It seems clear from statistics presented in Congress at its last session, while the agricultural bill was under discussion, that notwithstanding the increasing use of automobiles and the substitution of electricity for horse-power in street cars and elsewhere, we are still a long way from the "horseless age." In fact, it appears that the equine tribe is increasing rather than otherwise. The aggregate of horses in the United States on January 1st, 1906, stood at 18,718,878, against 14,364,667 at the corresponding date of 1897. Their total value increased from $452,648,396 in 1897 to $1,610,889,906. This startling rate of increase in value is no more marked than that of mules, according to the same government authorities. There were 2,215,654 mules in 1897 and 3,404,661 in 1906, and the values were respectively $92,202,000 and $334,680,320.—Leslie's Weekly.

The First Bathing Machine.
There does not seem to be much doubt that the first bathing machine was seen at Margate, England, and that it was the invention of a worthy Quaker named Beale, who placed his hopeful invention on the Margate Beach in 1790. But it was the old story; the public became grateful after the inventor had been ruined by his enterprises. His successors have reaped the harvest. Old Benjamin Beale's widow could remember in her last days the first family that resorted to Margate for the purpose of bathing being carried into the sea in a covered cart. In 1803 Beale's machines were one of the institutions of Margate. It was alarmingly claimed for them that "they may be driven to any depth into the sea by careful guides."

The Editor's Lament.
(Clinton, N. C., Democrat.)
When we see so many young men with their hair parted in the middle and hanging down over their foreheads so as to obscure every trace of intellect, and so many young men with their hair all frizzly-frowsy and flopping around over their faces in fifty different directions, we just want to have a say.

THE BEST SHADE TREES.

Hard Maples, Oaks, Sycamores, Avoid Silver Maples and Poplars.
During a severe storm in Washington, D. C., this summer it is stated that probably a thousand trees were badly injured.

The soft or silver maple, says Arboriculture, suffered by far the greatest loss, which the Carolina poplar, or cottonwood, was also badly broken.

Norway maple, sugar maple, all the oaks, Oriental plane, or European sycamore, honey locust, most of the coniferous trees and ginkgo, were among those which were able to withstand the beating and bending which the storm caused for an hour or two.

There are two trees, the silver maple and the cottonwood, which are more popular with the mass of tree-planters than all other shade trees of America. Both have one fatal qualification, that of rapid growth. Losing sight of permanency and many more excellent qualifications these two inferior trees are planted to the exclusion of all other trees.

Both these trees are short lived, very much diseased, attacked by innumerable insects, while both are seriously damaged by windstorms. Both require much water and send their roots into sewers, wells and cisterns, which they frequently destroy.

How to Get Into U. S. Navy.
The new law opening to the sailors the avenues of promotion to the commissioned ranks will have a tendency to attract the better class of our youth who are ambitious, and who are desirous of taking charge of the business of the nation in other directions. In 1901 Congress authorized the Secretary of the Navy to commission each year twelve sailors as warrant officers. To receive this promotion a sailor must be less than thirty years old, must have been in the service seven years, served one year as a first-class petty officer, and pass an examination upon the theoretical part of his calling. This latter requirement is necessary for him to develop his spare time to study. If he succeeds in this test he is given a tentative appointment as gunner, boatswain, carpenter, or warrant mechanic, and this duty being satisfactorily performed for one year, it becomes a warrant officer at $1,200 per year sea pay, with an increase of $100 each year for three years. The fourth year his salary is $1,600, and after twelve years' service reaches $1,900. At sixty-two years of age he is retired on three-fourths pay for life.

If a Cow gave Butter.
mankind would have to invent milk. Milk is Nature's emulsion—butter put in shape for digestion. Cod liver oil is extremely nourishing, but it has to be emulsified before we can digest it.

Scott's Emulsion combines the best oil with the valuable hypophosphites so that it is easy to digest and does far more good than the oil alone could. That makes Scott's Emulsion the most strengthening, nourishing food—medicine in the world.

Another of Roosevelt's Victims.
The English language was sitting in its corner of the ring but conscious. "But fools learn only by their own experience. See what he did to the Northern Pacific merger, the best trust, the coal combine, the Russo-Japanese war, the scrap in Central America, the folks without children and the man who wouldn't eat with a negro. I might have known that he would get me and reform me!"

"Here's a half-dollar, Fred," said his father; "if it rains be sure you take a cab home."
But Fred reached home drenched through.
"Why didn't you take a cab?" said his father.
"I did, father," said Fred, "and I sat on the box all the way home. It was glorious."
"Now, Alec, don't be selfish," said his mother, "baby is only going to play with your marbles for a little while."
"No, mother, he's going to keep them always, if he can."
"Oh, no, dear."
"I'm sure he is, mother, 'cos he's trying to swallow them."—Boston Globe.

Teacher Should Have Known.
"Now, children, I want you to tell me what kind of clothes the kitty wears," said a kindergarten teacher at her lesson on Dead silence.
"Why, children, don't you know what kind of clothes the kitty wears?"
The enthusiastic young woman had not anticipated such unresponsiveness, but, not being daunted by the blank faces before her, she went back to the beginning, and tried the same art of instilling the right answer into the minds of her pupils by the method of elimination.
"Well, my dears, does the kitty wear feathers?" she asked.
Then a small boy in the front row leaned forward, and inquired earnestly, but with touch of contempt in his voice: "Say, teacher, ain't you never seen a cat?"
