Toronto despatch: Maggie Wilson, a girl of 16 years, who worked as a servant at the residence of W. J. Moodey 40 North Sherbourne street, and who was found in an unconscious condition under the Huntley street bridge, in the Rosedale Ravine, yesterday morning, died just as the police ambulance arrived to remove her to the hopsital, and a later search of the spot revealed partially filled bottle of carbolic acid behind a root not far from where she was found. Enquiry by the police showed that the acid had been purchased at the drug store of W. G. Williamson, 568 Jarvis street, by the young woman herself, about an hour before her death.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willard H. Wilson, of 652 Parliament street, made statements yesterday that her life had been threatened over the telephone by a young man with whom had refused to keep company, They said she had told them that a man had threatened to throw her over the bridge or give her poison if she would not go with him. John Harvey. a young man who lives at 99 Oxford street, and who works as an expressi man, was seen last night in conne tion with the matter and he admitted that he had called the young women up about a month ago, "to tell her what he thought of her" because she had failed to keep an appointment with him. He said he had taken her MID-AIR. out a few times about two months ago, and that one evening her father had erdered him away from the house. That was the last time he had seen
