VERY SIMPLE.—Every little while we read in the paper that someone has run a rusty nail in his foot or other portion of his body and lockjaw resulted therefrom and the patient died. If every person was aware of a perfect remedy for such wounds and would apply it, then such reports would cease. The remedy is simple, always at hand, can be applied by anyone—what is better, it is infallible. It is simply to smoke the wound or any wound that is bruised or inflamed with a woollen cloth. Twenty minutes in the smoke will take the pain out of the worst case of inflammation arising from such a wound. People may sneer at this remedy as much as they please, but when they are afflicted, let them try it.

Mr. Mackay's Program.

He will also attend a convention in Hespeler before starting on the series.—Sun.

Industry Versus Indolence

The number of people nowadays trying to get rich without labor, something for nothing, for times in a day, are doing us a mighty mischief. They are tempting to the industrious young man who cannot understand it. They behold the seeming ease and leisure that comes to them while they have it so hard. Horatius of olden time was told he could plow around with a yoke of oxen in one day. He hooked up his oxen to the plow and he cut a very large circle, and plowed until he came to the same point where he started, and all that property was his. And I have to tell you to-day that just as much financial just as much moral, just so much spiritual possession you will have as you compass with your own industries, and just so much as from the morning of your life to the evening of your life you can plough around with your own hard work. Go to the snit, you sluggard; consider how weary and hearse of death today is an indolent life. Thank God that you have to work.—Selected.

What constitutes a day's work? We figure it out that it depends altogether on your occupation. If you lay brick, ten hours; if you are a porter in a sleeping car, twenty hours; if you preach the gospel two hours; if you serve the Government, one hour; and if you are a newspaper man twenty-four hours.

There is a better POSITION for every young man or woman who will attend the
