WM. IRWIN, Recorder.

Mr. Wm. Black acted as a judge in the horse classes at Chesley show as held at Flesheron and was invited elsewhere for the same purpose but business was too pressing. He shipped recently a beautiful horse to a Toronto Junction man he had never seen and it has given great satisfaction.

Mr. Jos. Blackburn has had a telephone installed in the Presbyterian church this week, and hereafter will be able to hear the services in both Methodist and Presbyterian churches. He can now catch three sermons each Sunday over the wire. The above from the Flesheron Advance relates to a public spirit gentleman in Flesheron, who is an loyal with the possibilities of this practice becoming common makes one shudder to think of the loneliness of the minister and the ennobled state of the collection plate.

J. C. Rockwell's New Sunny South company, which will appear in the Town Hall, Durham, Monday evening, Oct. 14th, is without exception America's greatest colored show. It is an evenly balanced organization. It is an all-time colored people, presenting an entertainment which was the greatest pleasure, as the audience is continually kept amused and the performance is given with a snap that adds to the success and it is as clean as a pastoral drama. The company is a large one and each member takes his turn in a cornet band which accompanies the organization will head the Coon Town Parade at noon. Seats are now on sale at McFarlane's Drug Store, Prices have been placed at 25, 35 and 50 cents. To some this may seem an excessive charge, but the company is large and it costs considerable to move it, and we have got to ask a bigger price than a company that only carries ten or twelve people.

The basement ceiling was beautifully draped and the church at every point suggestive of the bounties of Providence.

Priceville Proud

Artemesia Show a Great Success

Friday afternoon last had not been half gone till the Directors of Artemesia show began to wear a satisfied look, for judging from the crowds that passed the gates, they felt they were financially on easy street, and they judged correctly for nearly $150 was collected, a sum much larger than ever before was taken at their show.

But the character of the exhibits in quantity and quality was also something to be proud of, showing to the officials that the community were at their back and appreciated their efforts.

And then there was the all important factor of the weather. The first day was delightful long enough to allow of everyone getting the inside exhibits into position with comfort, and though the rainfall was very heavy in the evening it carried the compensating thought, that the morning would the likelier prove dry. And it did. Heavy clouds prevailed all morning but old sol succeeded in breaking through and the battle was won.

The shows this year are all horse, and Priceville was no exception. There were numerous entries of fine animals and those who can compare the past with the present testify to the increasing excellence. The cattle classes might be described as weak, as a whole, and in number not up to former years.

Not so the sheep, which, as is well known, always bulks largely in this community of sheep men. The prize list shows that a few men have carried this branch of industry to well-nigh perfection and this should stimulate others to get after them and have a better mixture of names.

The Hall of inside exhibits was an attractive display in most lines, perhaps the most striking being the range of crock butter and the numerous entries of edibles. Grain entries were numerous and a testimony to its excellence is the fact that grain winning first at other shows had to take second place here. The dry season does not seem to have injured the roots and vegetables in the locality and the fruit was good too. Ladies' work shows that the ladies of Priceville are fully equal to their sisters elsewhere, though we are sure they could make a larger flower exhibit if they only tried. Perhaps the Directors could make the prize list more interesting.

President D. McMillan and Secy. McKinnon have the show well in hand and seem to have an efficient body of Directors.

The attractions provided were the ever popular Hector McDonald on the pipes looking in his new tartan kilts the very embodiment of ideal physical manhood. The little Masters Gilray or Toronto, skilful dancers delighted the crowds, and chairman Jno McArthur called on H. H. Miller M. P., for a speech which was responded to very happily.

Quite attractive too, was the Broncho race, the ponies being ridden by the two little sons of postmaster McKinnon, Donald and Nellie, who, on horseback, are daring as any cowboy. We suggest they be secured for Durham next year. The races by men, boys and girls were also features of interest.

T. A. Ferguson, D. McCormick and the Watsons are at it hammer and tongs, as usual in the vegetable classes. Alex. Muir and Don. McMillan run away with most of the grain prizes, the new name of Wm. Ramage butting in occasionally. Our skill would fail to tell of the excellence of the ladies' work in both needle and edible work, though we can testify to the excellence of one first class pie, made by a daughter of President McMillan.

John Eckhardt, we imagine, would just like to see some one take first prize from him in the black breeds of swine. Alex. Muir has the Cotswold classes of sheep to himself, but Meads, McMillan and Swanston are disputing the Leicester classes with him.

The concert crush proved once more the need of an enlarged hall for Priceville. With its new outlook, owing to railway, &c., this necessity should not be long deferred. The committee had secured Mr. J. H. Logan, of Owen Sound, a humorist, acquiring a provincial reputation, who as singer and reciter, in well-chosen selections displayed marked ability; Miss Mac Dickenson, well-known everywhere as one of the trust and purest of singers; the little Gilray brothers, expert dancers, and Hector McDonald, the stalwart local piper, who rendered paradise music with great acceptance. Encores were demanded frequently from all and generously given. Mr.

In the recent Dufferin by-elections, R. J. Woods, the defeated temperance candidate spent $70. Mr. McKeown who was elected by about 100, had a bill amounting $402.

Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed in the Presbyterian Church on Sunday next. Service at 11 a.m. Preparatory services on Friday at 2.30 and 8 p.m., Rev. R. A. Swanson, Cameron to preach at both services.

Among the settlements which the C. P. R. company has made with victims of the wreck living in this community are: H. Holman and T. Snell, $15 each; W. L. Wright, $40; W. H. Bunt, $15; H. B. McElroy, $35; Mr. John McMillan and daughter $100; T. Chidlet, $40; Jos. Clinton, $25; Mr. Col. Ineson, $40; Colin McMillan, $75.—Advocate.

A SURPRISED MOTHER. While spanking her son with a shingle, Mrs. Fred Williams' hand was blown to shreds by an explosion which followed the first blow, at Chebygan, Mich. The boy fell to the floor with a big hole in his hip, writhing in agony. The lad had been out in the field with his father, who was blowing up stumps with dynamite, and the lad secreted a few percussion caps in his hip pocket, which exploded when his mother tried to spank him. If he recovers at all he will be crippled for life.

Teachers' Concert

On Thursday evening next, 17th inst. a high class concert will be given in the Town Hall under the auspices of the S. Grey Educational Association. The stars engaged are Mr. J. H. Cameron, Vocalist and Humorist, and Miss Mabel Manley Pickard, Soprano, with some popular educational lectures. Admission 25c. Reserved seats 35c. Plan of hall at Darling's Drug Store.

Harvest Home Services.

Helpful and appreciative services were preached on Sunday last in the Methodist church, and liberal collections showed the generosity and thankfulness of the congregation.

Monday evening there was a delightful social time in the basement, where an army of waiters supplied all and sundry with the best of good things. Sociality was rife and it was a public spirit before the enthusiasm was sufficiently cooled to allow of the program upstairs. Mr. Irwin was chosen chairman and filled the part to perfection. Brief addresses were given by Mr. Rogers of Varney circuit, who outlined the value of cheerfulness, by Rev. Mr. Newton who had a word of encouragement for the young converts of the recent revival to guard them against the depressing influence of adverse criticism, by Mr. Ramage with thankfulness as a topic, and by Pastor Jameson who eloquently and appropriately spoke on the value of the gospel of good cheer. The choir, beautifully balanced, rendered choice selections, Mrs. Newton in solo and on the violin were very attractive numbers as was the trio "Steal Away" by Messrs Davidson, McCrae and Glass.

The basement ceiling was beautifully draped and the church at every point suggestive of the bounties of Providence.

Railway Notes

The "End of the Steel" last Friday was about one mile west of Priceville, where the Review man had a look at the outfit dumping the rails off.

The daily traffic of the engine and iron cars has resulted in causing a depression of a few inches at the west end of Priceville bridge where the last benches are placed on terraces of the bank. It is being jacked into place.

The ballasting is proceeding at the east end of the line and following up as rapidly as may be.

Just when they will be in Durham is not certain but we should think before Thanksgiving Day. We trust our authorities will work a little harder to welcome the C. P. R. into our corporation.

H. H. Mockler, The House of Quality, The Ontario Education Department has decided to grant $30 to the teacher of any rural or village school qualifying as a teacher in elementary agriculture and horticulture and teaching any of these subjects at his or her school. The department announces that seedlings and other forestry equipment will be supplied such rural school boards as desire them.

There is any amount of legitimate fun, laughter and wit in the new musical comedy "Sunrise On The Plantation" which has been selected to exploit the rare talents of the Sunny South company. This attraction, which consists of twenty-five colored people will be seen in the Town Hall, Durham, Monday Evening, Oct. 14th. "Sunrise On The Old Plantation" is wedded to the most tuneful music one would care to hear, and embellished enough features to launch the most pretentious stage offering. James W. Furner, one of the highest salaried colored performers on the stage is a star and he is surrounded with a company of first-class people. The high-class silver cornet band, which accompanies the organization, will head the "Coon" town parade at noon. Seats are now on sale at McFarlane's Drug Store. Prices 25, 35 and 50 cts.

Insure the Shows.

The Directors of S. Grey Agricultural Society met on Saturday and came to the decision to defer payment of prizes beyond the time set for that purpose and until the Annual Meeting. This course is reasonable and forced upon them by untoward circumstances over which they had no control. The prize-winners, who are all members, will be sure, at the Annual Meeting authorize their directors to follow a progressive course, meet all obligations even if the money must be borrowed and make 1908 Show, a "greater than has been." President Binnie and Secy-Treas. Firth are among the oldest friends of the institution and have met the situation with great courage.

We believe the question of insurance against wet weather has been raised before, and we think the idea is a praiseworthy one and worth considering in detail. A contribution by all societies, proportioned to their grant or some other basis, would form a fund which would meet total failures from this cause. The amount of payment to be made would of course vary, and the determination of this point would need an adjusting board of which the Provincial Minister of Agriculture should be one. Such a sum as would meet all legitimate prizes or promises should be a minimum. In some years there would be very few calls and an estimate of the premium could be figured out.

Golden Wedding

Reunion of the Lecson Family

Monday last one of those rare events that mean so much to two parties at least, and in this case to a large number, a Golden Wedding—took place at the home of Mr Mansfield Lecson, Varney, the happy couple to whom has been given length of days and long companionship, temporal blessings not a few and the deep love and respect of a large family, are Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Lecson, now of Mt. Forest, but for nearly 40 years residents of Normandy. This unique event was made notable by the presence of all their family, except Frank of Big Forks, Rainy River, who found it impossible to be present.

Those present were: Dr. G. Mansfield Lecson, Varney; Theodore Lecson, on the old homestead; Rev. Chas. and Mrs. Lecson and daughter, Clinton, Ind.; Dr. Ernest Lecson, wife and two children, Chicago; Dr. and Mrs. Fred W. Lecson, Chicago; Mrs. Eleanor, Mt. Forest; Mrs. Wenden Wilder, (Edith) and son, of Ross Lawn, Ind.; Miss Mildred, teacher at Hampden; Mr and Mrs A. McClintock, (May) and daughter, Varney.

Amongst the other guests were Miss Hattie Lecson, daughter of Frank; Miss Alice Grant, Chicago; Miss Andrews of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Mr and Mrs W. Saunders; Miss M. McNeice.

At an appropriate time a presentation was made by Rev. Chas. on behalf of the immediate family, accompanied by dutiful expressions of filial regard and love for good wishes for the future. The presentation consisted of a purse of $50, and the bride received from the groom a handsome set ring. Among the other presents were an enlarged portrait of a granddaughter, a silver berry spoon and cake tray.

But unique among the presents was an ancestral bible of Mrs. Lecson's family which has been in possession of elder branches of the family until now, and these being now deceased, a nephew generously presented it to his only remaining aunt.

The wedding cake was an elaborate three-story affair, the top story bearing the dates 1857-1907, and the initials of the bride and groom while the next story had surrounding it the initials of the twelve children, including the two deceased members, Mrs. Clinic (Maria) and the youngest and much lamented daughter, Alina.

The Review wishes Mr. and Mrs. Lecson yet many happy years together in the evening of life, best with good health and happy in the love and affection of their children and children's children.
