Another Session Approaches

Another session of Parliament is within measurable distance and the government will be in a position to present many subjects to the house for consideration.

One of the most important will be the commercial treaty just concluded with France. The particulars of this treaty cannot, of course be made public until the House is in possession of the details.

The fact that Canadian ministers of the Crown entered upon the matter of this treaty direct, without interference from, and with the full concurrence of the home government, should be the occasion of gratification. Canada has under the guiding hand of the prime minister taken a prominent place among nations and the resultant benefits of this action with respect to France will be far reaching.

The budget will without doubt be one of the best ever presented to a Canadian Parliament. At the present rate of receipts the year will show an income of little short of $100,000,000, and the surplus will be the largest ever brought down by a minister of finance in Canada.

Liberals Faithful Stewards.

The Liberals have been faithful stewards of the people. The revenue for the first six months of the current fiscal year is $50,441,238, one and a third times greater in six months than the Conservatives could show for a whole year, after they had been tinkering with the government for eighteen years.

In elections Money is a good deal of a blow-hard. It does not accomplish one-half of what it pretends to do. Most of it is dishonest money. It is subscribed secretly; it is meant to purchase an influence that money should be unable to buy.

An item referring to the Brockville election was omitted last week. The position left vacant by Hon. Geo. P. Graham was captured by Mr. Donovan, a Conservative, by a decisive majority. Of course it has given immense comfort to the Conservatives, though the incident has no particular terrors for the Liberals seeing bye-elections generally go with the government.

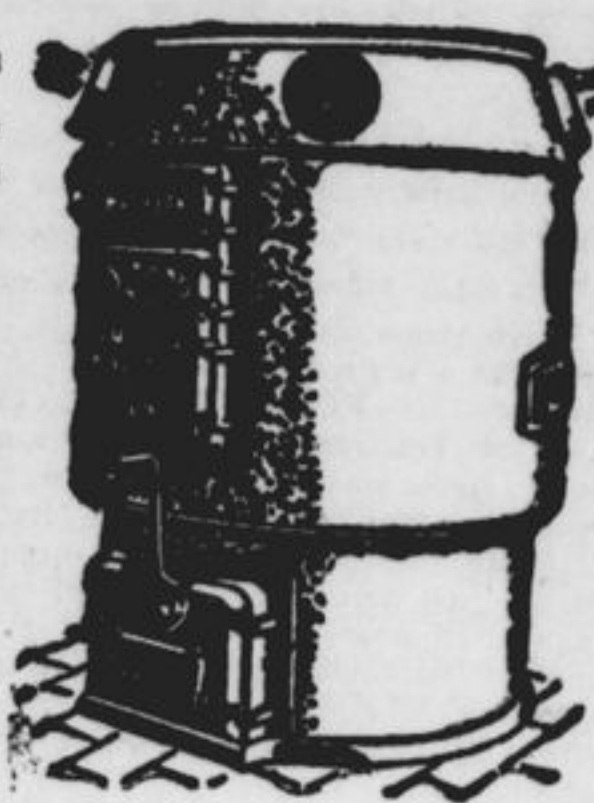

When hard times come to Canada they will be due to the inability of farmers to buy on the same liberal scale that prevails now. It is as a provision against what is coming that Mr. Cocksbutt demands a higher tariff on goods such as farmers are obliged to buy.

Argument is wasted on men whose mental attitude is revealed in the words of President Cocksbutt. What is called for in such cases is the use of a club in the form of the ballot.
