C. P. R. LINE OPEN.—Monday last an engine of the C. P. R. made Durham on its way west, and we presume found the line open as the attitude fell. On the heights of Priceville 80 feet above Durham, the banks were very heavy.

"RATIN."—The cheap postal facilities between Canada and the old land is bringing some curious things. This week we received a circular about "Ratin," a poison that kills rats and mice and causes an epidemic among them, yet is harmless to other animals and human beings and their food.

A useful amendment to the license laws of the province would be one to prevent the hotel-keeper giving any credit for drinks. The present practice of running up a score that makes a big hole in the wages at the end of the week is a vicious one, and is very general outside of the cities and larger towns, where drinking is done on a strictly cash basis.—Mail and Empire.

RIFLE ASSOCIATION RE-ORGANIZED. The annual meeting of South Grey Rifle Association was held in the Hall Monday evening last, when the following new officers were elected: Hon. Pres.—Dr. Jamieson, M. P. P. Hon. Vice Pres.—H. H. Miller, M. P. Pres.—J. P. Telford, Secy.—Dr. Hatton, Treas.—J. Kelly, Capt.—Dr. McLaurin, Lt.—Frank Irwin, Com. of Management.—E. Wolfe, W. Vollet, R. McCordquale and officers. A committee, composed of Messrs. Hutton, Irwin and Telford were appointed to interview the council next Monday evening to influence them to purchase part of the school lot, cut off by the C. P. R. as a site for the new armory.

Before the "Special Examiner."

At eleven o'clock on Friday last, the Town Hall was crowded to the door with interested citizens who went to witness the proceedings against about 50 voters of the town of Durham, all of whom have voted illegally. However, the Special Examiner, appointed by Judge Boyd, took the evidence "in camera," in the Judge's room, so there being nothing given to the crowd gradually thinned out.

Mr. Kingston, Mt. Forest, appeared on behalf of the town council and the voters and Mayor Calder and Councilor Browned were allowed in the room. On the other side were Mr. Murphy, proprietor of the Mcdough House and Messrs. Wright & McArdie Owen Sound. Mr. C. Laville was engaged as official stenographer.

Amongst the number were Return Officer Vollett who voted on the By-Laws and seems to have justification. As between candidates he has no vote unless it be argued, that he is not de facto a By-law however, a tie is not decided that way, a tie simply killing the measure even as 100 majority would not do. Messrs. John Smith, H. H. Mockler and C. Elmer, the three Deputy returning officers, each voted, as one would think they have a right to do, but their votes are called in question. A large proportion of the others were young people who were down as tenants or owners with varying chances as to whether they were or were not appearing there in the unchallenged way that has been usual for years back.

Instructed by their Solicitor, many of them refused to give the evidence asked for, the objection being noted and they were allowed to go. Whether another court will compel them to give this evidence we do not know.

The evidence is to be sent to Toronto, and will be argued there before a bench of Judges on the 2nd of April. The result is therefore uncertain, but judging from precedents there seems room for concluding that the temperance forces will win out.

Rev. Mr. Matheson completes a decade of successful service in Priceville and Swinton Park.

On Sabbath, March 29th, Rev. J. A. Matheson completed 10 years' service in the congregations of Priceville and Swinton Park. In spite of bad roads, there were large congregations in both places. The text chosen was "Salve 48:9. We have thought of Thy lovingkindness O God, in the midst of thy temple," and God's dealings with them during the last ten years were inquired into. As to relations between the pastor and people they have always been of the kindest nature.

Obituary.

A. D. MCKENZIE

Word has been received in town that Mr. A. D. McKenzie died in Fort Francis, on the 26th March. Deceased came to Durham about 35 years ago and worked at his trade of tailor for many years. With his son Dr. D. McKenzie and daughter Maggie, he moved to Fort Francis about 10 years ago and has had reasonably good health since. We have not heard the cause of death.

"A. D." as he was familiarly called was a man of great intelligence, with a good deal of force of character, an enthusiastic Scot and strongly Liberal in politics. He was reckoned a first-class workman, was a genial neighbor and friend and will be kindly remembered by the lessening circle of his acquaintance here. John L. the eldest son is in business in Oregon, David the doctor, and sister formed with him the home circle.

ADDIE MEREDITH

The sad message reached the Meredith home here on Tuesday that son and brother Addison had died at the home of his brother-in-law, Dr. Park near Calgary, Alta. Much sympathy over the sad blow. They were preparing to leave Thursday of this week to minister to the loved one, but the privilege was denied them. He leaves a widow and one child. We are not sure whether the remains are to be brought home.

John Riddell

Another of the noble pioneers of the Township of Sullivan passed away on Tuesday morning, Mar. 17, in the person of John Riddell, an advanced age of eighty-one years and three months. Deceased suffered greatly for a great many years with rheumatism but his general health was good until a year ago. He was very sick all winter but when Spring came he got better and was quite well up to a week before his death when he took what was thought to be a slight cold which proved to be pneumonia and he died as above stated.

The late Mr. Riddell was born in the parish of Old Deer, Aberdeenshire, Scotland, and on the 15th of June 1844, was married to Jessie Marison, of Perthshire, Aberdeenshire, by the late Rev. Dr. Irwin. They started for Canada with his three brothers, Geo. Alex and Robert the following Monday, two other brothers Jas. and Hugh coming a year after. He landed at Quebec after being nine days on the ocean and worked for a short time on the railroad which was being built toward Toronto. He then worked with a farmer in our midst, in the autumn of 1885 Ontario and in the autumn of 1886 came with his wife and brothers to the then wilderness of Sullivan. His brother George died in 1887 and his coffin was carried by men to Latona cemetery a distance of about 7 miles. He settled on Lot 29, con. 5, (the farm on which he died) and started to hew out a home for himself. He chopped out a clearing, large enough for a shanty and when he was cutting down the trees around it, Mrs. Riddell had to go outside for fear the trees would fall on the shanty.

Millinery Openings.

S. F. MORLOCK

If you had visited S. F. Morlock's Millinery Openings you would be convinced that spring was here in earnest. The marvelous creations of Ladies' Easter Bonnets shown, surpass all preceding openings. All the newest shapes and shades are shown in abundance. The new Blues, Browns and Fane being prominent. Some of the pretty models we noticed were:

Another dainty hat was made in Mush Room style of Tuscan and white plaited Braid trimmed with Bows of velvet Ribbon all around crown and a tussac and white shaded feather coming from centre of crown over left side with two beautiful tan roses in front.

A pretty model was made of Pink Proxylene Braid, Tan Crown and trim with Bandeau of insertion and Chiffon, a shaded rose feather with a very large shaded tan and pink rose in front.

Miss Dick.

As usual there was an attractive display at the Parisian Millinery rooms on Lamson Street. They had an exclusive display of black hats
