Priceville

During the past week very little was done by way of seeding on account of the continual wet weather. It rained for 48 hours without quitting and lowlands are all covered with water, but we hope now as May is advancing, that a change will take place. In olden times in the Highlands of Scotland, the 12th of May nowadays was called the first in the days of some of our forefathers. So to keep in harmony with our good old people, we live in hopes that after the 12th of May, we will have the finest of weather. The woods are beginning to show an appearance of life by setting forth their buds.

Some of our sick people are getting better and others the worse. The busy season finds abundance of work to do for everyone in their various departments and all are availing themselves of the opportunity of attending to their different calling.

Arch. McKinnon, son of Mr Hugh McKinnon, south line, Glenelg, met with a painful experience. While working on the railroad, a small piece of steel got into his eye, and he as soon as possible went to some of the doctors of Durham, but as they could not locate the cause by finding the small grain of steel, he was ordered by Dr. Gun to go to Stratford hospital, where we are pleased to hear he went through an operation and the foreign matter removed. He is getting on as well as possible and hopes he will be home in a few days.

As the 24th of May comes on a Sunday this year, the graveyard committee of this town thought that the day could in no wise be kept better than by having all those interested in our cemetery in this place to gather on Monday the 25th of May, for the purpose of beautifying the appearance of the yard, which by the way is getting in a very deplorable condition. As a large number are off and near at hand are interested, it is to be hoped that all will make it a point of business to be in attendance on that day and show that we all respect the loving memories of our dear departed friends. During winter many new graves were made, which now have sunken down below the level and they need to be again made to have the appearance of the resting place of the dead. The living know that they must be laid to rest in the tomb, but those that are dead and gone, their memory and their names must not be forgotten by us, the living.

John McArthur, son of our worthy townsman, Mr John McArthur, merchant of this town, paid a short visit to the parental home and returned again to resume his studies in the Dental College, Toronto. Just as we are writing, we hear that Miss Christena McPherson of the north line, Glenelg, dropped dead on Saturday morning, after partaking of her breakfast, heart failure supposed to be the cause. Miss McPherson was an old resident of the north line, Glenelg. The funeral will probably take place this Monday morning to St. John's cemetery P.O. nana.

Swinton Park.

Well Mr. Editor since last writing the weather has not been very favorable for seeding as it has been raining or snowing almost every day.

The tin show Friday evening was the event of the season when the young folks of this neighborhood, each armed themselves with some article of tinware and marched in on Mr. J. Batchelor and his bride showering their tin in a heap on the kitchen floor, the young couple was taken by surprise but soon became master of the situation and proved themselves a model host and hostess put a ball-room in order, and the merry company tripped the fantastic toe to the excellent music rendered by Messrs Haw, Watson, Black, Campbell, Moor and Hill till the wee small hours in the morning. We would suggest that some of the Batchelors by nature of our burg should do something in the tin pan line.

Wm Aldcorn & Son is doing a rushing business in their stores here and in Priceville. Small profit and quick return is the motto.

Mr and Mrs G. Haw and family Sundayed at Mrs Haw's old home in Dromore.

Mr John Campbell who was on the sicklist, is, we are pleased to learn, improving.

J. H. Richardson is making preparation to move his portable saw-mill to the old Meagher farm and then will hear the whistle blown by the little Hill.

Mr Neil McCannel, Reform candidate for the Legislature passed through our burg last week.

Mr Donald McCannel visited at Mr J. Bell's of Swamp College one evening lately.

It was with regret we heard this morning (Monday the 4th) of the death of Mr John Martin P. M. after less than one week's illness. The deceased was in his 87th year, was the first P. M. of this place and had the honor of naming Swinton Park after a place in the land of his birth. The funeral takes place on Wednesday at half past two to Swinton Park cemetery.

Varney.

Miss Adair spent Saturday in Mt Forest.

Mrs Jno Carson and children, of town, visited her brother Mr Robt Eden Sunday.

Mr Wm Ball has rented the farm from the Hillis boys, and is hurrying the seeding expecting to move there in the near future.

Mrs Thos Petty is visiting her brother Mr H. Wilkinson.

Mrs W. Dunn is visiting old friends in the vicinity.

A very pretty wedding took place on Wednesday evening last, at the home of Mrs T. Allan, when her second daughter Lena Maud, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to the man of her choice, Mr Arthur McCrie, second son of Mr D. McCrie. The bride was assisted by her sister Edith, while Mr Jim Gray rendered the same service to the groom, Rev Mr Jamieson performing the ceremony in the presence of about forty of the immediate relatives of the contracting parties. After a sumptuous wedding supper, the evening passed very quickly in music, games and social chat. The bride's dress was a cream cologne with trimming of valenciennes lace and insertion, her only other ornament being a gold locket and chain, a gift from the groom. Many presents from others showed high esteem.

On Friday evening Mr and Mrs D. McCrie had a reception for the young couple, when about forty other friends young and old, met to offer good wishes and enjoy the hours together.

On Saturday morning Mrs McCrie entertained the little boys of her Sunday School class. The new couple expect to leave Tuesday morning for their homestead near Swift Current, Sask., and will visit friends in Toronto, the Sault and Winnipeg en route, followed by the sincere good wishes of their many friends.

Mr A. McCabe is to be congratulated on the improvements he has made in his grounds with fine fencing and evergreens.

The social circles were enhanced this week by the return to the burg of Miss Alice Buchanan, after an absence of ten months in the Queen City.

Mrs N. A. McDonald and Mrs J. L. Smith enjoyed a few days pleasant vacation visiting friends in the Queen City and adjacent points.

Mr James Duncan, a scholarly gentleman from Keady, spent a pleasant fortnight visiting his many friends in the burg and community.

Mr Jos. Melosh has gone to the County Town, where he has secured a lucrative position. We trust the rejuvenating breezes of the Georgian Bay may aid in his speedy restoration to health.

Mr Wm Vasey, an ostentatious youth of the County Town, renewed acquaintances in the village the preceding part of last week. Mr R. M. Dargavel, our veteran sawmillier, has a gang of men employed cutting his large stock of logs. The mill is one of the best equipped in the county and the output averages twelve to fifteen M daily.

The disciples of honest Isaac Walton are now daily employed angling for the speckled beauties. As yet no huge specimens of the finny tribe have been captured, but we look for some fish yarns in the near future.

We presume that since the enforcement of the Local Option Bylaw that some Durhams are as dry as a gravel-pit, and no doubt a plial of Billy O'Mara's good whiskey would vanish down their esophagus like an oiled log through an auger-hole.

It is rumored that the young men of the community have organized a club, which has for its object the suppression of the Merry Widow Sator and declare that any Dornoch lady guilty of adorning her upper story with one of these abnormal specimens of the milliner's art, will be ostracised from their society. No wonder the precaution has been taken, as we heard of one young man endeavoring to indulge in a moonlight smack, when suddenly this newly patented device smacked him in the neck. He was a pugacious fellow and tried again but the attempt was not only futile but the second collision caused him to see a streak of eternity at midnight and he had to engage four doctors to keep him from dying of the lock jaw.

We trust others will take warning from the catastrophe, as there is imminent danger of getting a scrunched neck, which will make a fellow assume an incline worse than the leaning tower of Pisa.

Hopeville

Dr. Jamieson has taken a tour through Protton last week and called on a number of old friends. As usual he went to Dundalk first, he makes it a head centre for this neighborhood.

Dr. Sneath has considerable business around here attending to the sick. Amongst the sick is Mrs D. N. Scott of 10th Con who is dangerously ill.

Mrs McDonald of the 12th Con. has gone to Melancthon to wait on her sister Mrs McDonald who is sick.

Another dispute on Beer Street by two farmers over their children quarrelling going to school. Law is spoken of. We would advise them to teach their own children to go quietly to and from school and the good teacher will keep them right in school.
