

Distributing the Hot Scriptures.

Fidelity. Fidelity brings, to all who display it, power and success in the highest sense.

What Have You Done? (By General Booth.) Let me ask you a question: "What have you done with your life?"

There is a proud-hearted spirit that struts about in some of our haughty, ambitious tempers. There is also a grudge-bearing spirit. What have you done with that? Then there is the worldly disposition of the man who leads you to look over the walls and outside on the fashions and pleasures of Mammon and the pleasant things of this life.

There is that cursed habit of unbelief, which is one of the chief enemies of the soul. Have you destroyed it? Have you fought and overcome them? Have you done any mighty works among the enemies of God and man who are round about you? Perhaps someone may say, "I have been awkwardly fixed; everything has been against me. How can it be expected I should do anything remarkable?"

Oh, the charm of the fighting of one's early days! Let us develop the capacity for facing the fighting. Have you young people, Oh, the joy I have in the memory of the bit of fighting I had in my early days, and—oh, the pride I feel in the young people who are marching off to teach Christ among the Philistines to-day! Encourage the children. I am sure it is the right thing. Encourage them to begin early.

Along the Way. There are so many helpful things to do. Along life's way (Helps to the helper, if we did but think of it.) From day to day. So many troubled hearts to soothe, so many pathways rough to smooth, so many comforting words to say. To hearts that falter along the way.

How many lifted hands still plead "Along life's way?" The old story of human need. Reads on for aye. But let us follow the Saviour's plan—Love unstinted to every man! Content if, at most, the world should say: "He helped his brother along the way."—James Buckham, in Northwestern Christian Advocate.

Childish Faith. "Little girls, are you sure the milk you get at your house is pure and clean?"

Mr. William Walters, the esteemed founder and secretary of the Scripture Gift Mission, passed away recently while on a visit to his daughter at Woking.

His life was one of whole-hearted devotion to the circulation of the Word of God, believing that the Gospel is declared in all parts of the world and in all parts of the human mind.

Another branch of the work is that of sending out the Gospels to all parts of the world in the specially illustrated form of the "Gospel of the Kingdom." The pictures were drawn in order to throw light on the sacred page as well as to estimate the results, but the letters which are sent to receive from all quarters testify to the attractiveness of the "Gospel of the Kingdom," and demonstrate the value of the work.

Mr. Walters started by publishing parts of the Gospel, written in English, then in French, Spanish, Italian, and other languages until the publication of the "Gospel of the Kingdom" in nearly twenty languages, including Spanish, Arabic, and the Hindustani, Chinese, Japanese, and the Indian languages.

It had long been said upon the heart of Mr. Walters to publish the whole Bible in English illustrated in the same way. This has now been accomplished by the Oxford University Press. The illustrations are the work of the artist, and the text is the work of the printer.

ANCIENT WEATHER PROPHETS. Greeks First to Make Regular Observations—First Measurement of Rain. Meteorology as a science is in its infancy, but as a branch of knowledge it is perhaps as old as mankind.

There is reason to believe that the origin of such modern weather lore can be traced to its Indo-Germanic source. The Greeks as far back as the fifth century, B. C., were the first to make regular meteorological observations, some results of which still are preserved. Their great capacity for pure science induced them to propound meteorological theories. At this time they used wind vane and the Tower of the Winds at Athens.

Furtherance of science, which was barely kept alive within the Christian church. The fathers of the church, writing commentaries on the week of the seven days, often took occasion to insert long observations on the atmosphere and the phenomena. The revival of experimental science in the thirteenth century led to the development of regular meteorological observations in the fourteenth century.

POLICE DOGS AT WORK.

A Casual Encounter of Dona and Nogi on Duty in Brooklyn. A night worker on his way home in the Prospect Park section of Brooklyn at an early morning hour recently saw a dog with a jingling tag fastened to its neck come running along the opposite side of the street.

Judging from the usual conduct of dogs the first thought was that this one was either searching for its home or working hungrily for a stray bone.

At the next house the same performance was repeated with equal thoroughness. A little further down the street a man swung the gate open and entered the yard about the time the dog arrived.

INS AND OUTS. "What's the noise?" asked the visitor in the apartment house. "Probably some one in the dentist's apartments on the floor below getting a tooth out or something of the kind."

IMPORTANT TO FARMERS.

Highest prices paid for SWEET AND SOUR CREAM shipped to Osgoode Dairy Limited, TORONTO.

Hated Parsimony.

A leading official in the Young Men's Christian Association of New York said the other day that the late Morris K. Jesup:

Minard's Liniment Co., Limited. Dear Sirs,—YOUR MINARD'S LINIMENT is a remedy for sore throats, colds and all ordinary ailments.

CHARLES WHOOTEN, Port Mulgrave. And then I stand up in my gown, And watch the flames go up and down As tall as me!

CHARLES WHOOTEN. Peculiar Simplicity. The peculiar simplicity of the country dark, in the south is illustrated by a story told by a Congressman.

ITCH. Mange, Pruritus, Scabies and every form of contagious skin disease is cured by the use of Minard's Sanitary Lotion. It never fails. Sold by druggists.

Minard's Liniment used by Physicians. Successful Demonstration. Romulus was founding Rome.

Minard's Liniment used by Physicians. Successful Demonstration. Romulus was founding Rome. "What I'm trying to do," he explained, "is to show that it is possible to start a big town without building it around an oil well or a copper mine."

Minard's Liniment used by Physicians. Successful Demonstration. Romulus was founding Rome. "What I'm trying to do," he explained, "is to show that it is possible to start a big town without building it around an oil well or a copper mine."

Minard's Liniment used by Physicians. Successful Demonstration. Romulus was founding Rome. "What I'm trying to do," he explained, "is to show that it is possible to start a big town without building it around an oil well or a copper mine."

Minard's Liniment used by Physicians. Successful Demonstration. Romulus was founding Rome. "What I'm trying to do," he explained, "is to show that it is possible to start a big town without building it around an oil well or a copper mine."

Minard's Liniment used by Physicians. Successful Demonstration. Romulus was founding Rome. "What I'm trying to do," he explained, "is to show that it is possible to start a big town without building it around an oil well or a copper mine."

Minard's Liniment used by Physicians. Successful Demonstration. Romulus was founding Rome. "What I'm trying to do," he explained, "is to show that it is possible to start a big town without building it around an oil well or a copper mine."

Minard's Liniment used by Physicians. Successful Demonstration. Romulus was founding Rome. "What I'm trying to do," he explained, "is to show that it is possible to start a big town without building it around an oil well or a copper mine."

Minard's Liniment used by Physicians. Successful Demonstration. Romulus was founding Rome. "What I'm trying to do," he explained, "is to show that it is possible to start a big town without building it around an oil well or a copper mine."

Minard's Liniment used by Physicians. Successful Demonstration. Romulus was founding Rome. "What I'm trying to do," he explained, "is to show that it is possible to start a big town without building it around an oil well or a copper mine."

Minard's Liniment used by Physicians. Successful Demonstration. Romulus was founding Rome. "What I'm trying to do," he explained, "is to show that it is possible to start a big town without building it around an oil well or a copper mine."

Minard's Liniment used by Physicians. Successful Demonstration. Romulus was founding Rome. "What I'm trying to do," he explained, "is to show that it is possible to start a big town without building it around an oil well or a copper mine."

THE COME AND SEE SIGN

Public Inspection Invited. From 8 A.M. to 5 P.M. Saturdays Excepted. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co.

This sign is permanently attached to the front of the main building of the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company, Lynn, Mass.

What Does This Sign Mean? It means that public inspection of the Laboratory and methods of doing business is honestly desired.

It means that a permanent invitation is extended to anyone to come and verify any and all statements made in the advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It means that a permanent invitation is extended to anyone to come and verify any and all statements made in the advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It means that a permanent invitation is extended to anyone to come and verify any and all statements made in the advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It means that a permanent invitation is extended to anyone to come and verify any and all statements made in the advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It means that a permanent invitation is extended to anyone to come and verify any and all statements made in the advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It means that a permanent invitation is extended to anyone to come and verify any and all statements made in the advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It means that a permanent invitation is extended to anyone to come and verify any and all statements made in the advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It means that a permanent invitation is extended to anyone to come and verify any and all statements made in the advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It means that a permanent invitation is extended to anyone to come and verify any and all statements made in the advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It means that a permanent invitation is extended to anyone to come and verify any and all statements made in the advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It means that a permanent invitation is extended to anyone to come and verify any and all statements made in the advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It means that a permanent invitation is extended to anyone to come and verify any and all statements made in the advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It means that a permanent invitation is extended to anyone to come and verify any and all statements made in the advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It means that a permanent invitation is extended to anyone to come and verify any and all statements made in the advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It means that a permanent invitation is extended to anyone to come and verify any and all statements made in the advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It means that a permanent invitation is extended to anyone to come and verify any and all statements made in the advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It means that a permanent invitation is extended to anyone to come and verify any and all statements made in the advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It means that a permanent invitation is extended to anyone to come and verify any and all statements made in the advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It means that a permanent invitation is extended to anyone to come and verify any and all statements made in the advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It means that a permanent invitation is extended to anyone to come and verify any and all statements made in the advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It means that a permanent invitation is extended to anyone to come and verify any and all statements made in the advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It means that a permanent invitation is extended to anyone to come and verify any and all statements made in the advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It means that a permanent invitation is extended to anyone to come and verify any and all statements made in the advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It means that a permanent invitation is extended to anyone to come and verify any and all statements made in the advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It means that a permanent invitation is extended to anyone to come and verify any and all statements made in the advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It means that a permanent invitation is extended to anyone to come and verify any and all statements made in the advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It means that a permanent invitation is extended to anyone to come and verify any and all statements made in the advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It means that a permanent invitation is extended to anyone to come and verify any and all statements made in the advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It means that a permanent invitation is extended to anyone to come and verify any and all statements made in the advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It means that a permanent invitation is extended to anyone to come and verify any and all statements made in the advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It means that a permanent invitation is extended to anyone to come and verify any and all statements made in the advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It means that a permanent invitation is extended to anyone to come and verify any and all statements made in the advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It means that a permanent invitation is extended to anyone to come and verify any and all statements made in the advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It means that a permanent invitation is extended to anyone to come and verify any and all statements made in the advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

WHAT OF BRITAIN?

When All Nations Equal Her in Possession of the High Seas? What of England, the country which of all has most to lose and least to gain?

What of England, the country which of all has most to lose and least to gain? How is she contemplating the era when all nations equal her in possession of the atmospheric ocean, the higher seas? When the aerial fleets of the world can pass as readily as her own of old, into, over, the Cinque ports; over St. Pauli, and Lombard street, and Buckingham Palace; over Windsor, over Manchester, and Birmingham and Sheffield; over the length of the fairest, strongest, surest, most historic and richest of argosies, from Land's End to John o' Groat's?

Major F. S. Baden-Powell, late of the Scotch Guards, summed up the whole matter very simply, with so quiet a significance that it would hardly be thought of as a subject so occupying the mind of his countrymen.

But in the event of England's loss of insularity, what preparation, or equality of aerial equipment, can restore to her a specific supremacy like that—with all it includes—which is possessed by her, so long as sea power is the sovereign power, and "Britannia rules the waves?"

Recalling the past, it is typical to say the least, that all England is not at the moment evincing for once a just apprehension; not of defeat in war or even of international liberties and restrictions.

Who can doubt that the actual condition is understood in the charades of Europe—it must be that cabinets and rulers have an inkling of it, that British statesmen know what it means, else why are they watching so intently the efforts made by one another? England, as usual, is letting other people pick the chestnuts out of the fire, ready to profit in imitation of what others may produce.

And yet, if the statesmen of the great powers really appreciate what is coming, why do they insist so on the increase of their navies? From Edmund Clarence Steadman's "The Prince of the Power of the Air" in the May Century.

And yet, if the statesmen of the great powers really appreciate what is coming, why do they insist so on the increase of their navies? From Edmund Clarence Steadman's "The Prince of the Power of the Air" in the May Century.

And yet, if the statesmen of the great powers really appreciate what is coming, why do they insist so on the increase of their navies? From Edmund Clarence Steadman's "The Prince of the Power of the Air" in the May Century.

And yet, if the statesmen of the great powers really appreciate what is coming, why do they insist so on the increase of their navies? From Edmund Clarence Steadman's "The Prince of the Power of the Air" in the May Century.

And yet, if the statesmen of the great powers really appreciate what is coming, why do they insist so on the increase of their navies? From Edmund Clarence Steadman's "The Prince of the Power of the Air" in the May Century.

And yet, if the statesmen of the great powers really appreciate what is coming, why do they insist so on the increase of their navies? From Edmund Clarence Steadman's "The Prince of the Power of the Air" in the May Century.

And yet, if the statesmen of the great powers really appreciate what is coming, why do they insist so on the increase of their navies? From Edmund Clarence Steadman's "The Prince of the Power of the Air" in the May Century.

And yet, if the statesmen of the great powers really appreciate what is coming, why do they insist so on the increase of their navies? From Edmund Clarence Steadman's "The Prince of the Power of the Air" in the May Century.

And yet, if the statesmen of the great powers really appreciate what is coming, why do they insist so on the increase of their navies? From Edmund Clarence Steadman's "The Prince of the Power of the Air" in the May Century.

And yet, if the statesmen of the great powers really appreciate what is coming, why do they insist so on the increase of their navies? From Edmund Clarence Steadman's "The Prince of the Power of the Air" in the May Century.

And yet, if the statesmen of the great powers really appreciate what is coming, why do they insist so on the increase of their navies? From Edmund Clarence Steadman's "The Prince of the Power of the Air" in the May Century.

And yet, if the statesmen of the great powers really appreciate what is coming, why do they insist so on the increase of their navies? From Edmund Clarence Steadman's "The Prince of the Power of the Air" in the May Century.

And yet, if the statesmen of the great powers really appreciate what is coming, why do they insist so on the increase of their navies? From Edmund Clarence Steadman's "The Prince of the Power of the Air" in the May Century.

And yet, if the statesmen of the great powers really appreciate what is coming, why do they insist so on the increase of their navies? From Edmund Clarence Steadman's "The Prince of the Power of the Air" in the May Century.

And yet, if the statesmen of the great powers really appreciate what is coming, why do they insist so on the increase of their navies? From Edmund Clarence Steadman's "The Prince of the Power of the Air" in the May Century.

And yet, if the statesmen of the great powers really appreciate what is coming, why do they insist so on the increase of their navies? From Edmund Clarence Steadman's "The Prince of the Power of the Air" in the May Century.

And yet, if the statesmen of the great powers really appreciate what is coming, why do they insist so on the increase of their navies? From Edmund Clarence Steadman's "The Prince of the Power of the Air" in the May Century.

And yet, if the statesmen of the great powers really appreciate what is coming, why do they insist so on the increase of their navies? From Edmund Clarence Steadman's "The Prince of the Power of the Air" in the May Century.

And yet, if the statesmen of the great powers really appreciate what is coming, why do they insist so on the increase of their navies? From Edmund Clarence Steadman's "The Prince of the Power of the Air" in the May Century.

And yet, if the statesmen of the great powers really appreciate what is coming, why do they insist so on the increase of their navies? From Edmund Clarence Steadman's "The Prince of the Power of the Air" in the May Century.

And yet, if the statesmen of the great powers really appreciate what is coming, why do they insist so on the increase of their navies? From Edmund Clarence Steadman's "The Prince of the Power of the Air" in the May Century.

And yet, if the statesmen of the great powers really appreciate what is coming, why do they insist so on the increase of their navies? From Edmund Clarence Steadman's "The Prince of the Power of the Air" in the May Century.

And yet, if the statesmen of the great powers really appreciate what is coming, why do they insist so on the increase of their navies? From Edmund Clarence Steadman's "The Prince of the Power of the Air" in the May Century.

And yet, if the statesmen of the great powers really appreciate what is coming, why do they insist so on the increase of their navies? From Edmund Clarence Steadman's "The Prince of the Power of the Air" in the May Century.

And yet, if the statesmen of the great powers really appreciate what is coming, why do they insist so on the increase of their navies? From Edmund Clarence Steadman's "The Prince of the Power of the Air" in the May Century.

And yet, if the statesmen of the great powers really appreciate what is coming, why do they insist so on the increase of their navies? From Edmund Clarence Steadman's "The Prince of the Power of the Air" in the May Century.

And yet, if the statesmen of the great powers really appreciate what is coming, why do they insist so on the increase of their navies? From Edmund Clarence Steadman's "The Prince of the Power of the Air" in the May Century.

And yet, if the statesmen of the great powers really appreciate what is coming, why do they insist so on the increase of their navies? From Edmund Clarence Steadman's "The Prince of the Power of the Air" in the May Century.

And yet, if the statesmen of the great powers really appreciate what is coming, why do they insist so on the increase of their navies? From Edmund Clarence Steadman's "The Prince of the Power of the Air" in the May Century.

And yet, if the statesmen of the great powers really appreciate what is coming, why do they insist so on the increase of their navies? From Edmund Clarence Steadman's "The Prince of the Power of the Air" in the May Century.

And yet, if the statesmen of the great powers really appreciate what is coming, why do they insist so on the increase of their navies? From Edmund Clarence Steadman's "The Prince of the Power of the Air" in the May Century.

CRAMP RINGS.

Once Highly Recommended by the Medical Profession in England. Formerly it was customary for Kings of England on Good Friday to hallow certain rings, the wearing of which prevented cramp or epilepsy.

They were made from the metal of decayed coffins and consecrated with an elaborate ceremony, some details of which are still preserved. They were "highly recommended by the medical profession" about 1557, for Andrew Bourde, in his "Breviary of Health," speaking of cramp, says: "The King's Majesty hath a great help in this matter in hallowing Cramp Rings without money or petition."

Occasionally cramp rings played a persuasive part in diplomacy. Lord Berners, our Ambassador at the court of Charles V., wrote in 1508 "to my Lord Cardinal's grace" for some "cramp rings," with trust to "bestow them well, by God's grace."—Westminster Gazette.

Occasionally cramp rings played a persuasive part in diplomacy. Lord Berners, our Ambassador at the court of Charles V., wrote in 1508 "to my Lord Cardinal's grace" for some "cramp rings," with trust to "bestow them well, by God's grace."—Westminster Gazette.

Occasionally cramp rings played a persuasive part in diplomacy. Lord Berners, our Ambassador at the court of Charles V., wrote in 1508 "to my Lord Cardinal's grace" for some "cramp rings," with trust to "bestow them well, by God's grace."—Westminster Gazette.

Occasionally cramp rings played a persuasive part in diplomacy. Lord Berners, our Ambassador at the court of Charles V., wrote in 1508 "to my Lord Cardinal's grace" for some "cramp rings," with trust to "bestow them well, by God's grace."—Westminster Gazette.

Occasionally cramp rings played a persuasive part in diplomacy. Lord Berners, our Ambassador at the court of Charles V., wrote in 1508 "to my Lord Cardinal's grace" for some "cramp rings," with trust to "bestow them well, by God's grace."—Westminster Gazette.

Occasionally cramp rings played a persuasive part in diplomacy. Lord Berners, our Ambassador at the court of Charles V., wrote in 1508 "to my Lord Cardinal's grace" for some "cramp rings," with trust to "bestow them well, by God's grace."—Westminster Gazette.

Occasionally cramp rings played a persuasive part in diplomacy. Lord Berners, our Ambassador at the court of Charles V., wrote in 1508 "to my Lord Cardinal's grace" for some "cramp rings," with trust to "bestow them well, by God's grace."—Westminster Gazette.

Occasionally cramp rings played a persuasive part in diplomacy. Lord Berners, our Ambassador at the court of Charles V., wrote in 1508 "to my Lord Cardinal's grace" for some "cramp rings," with trust to "bestow them well, by God's grace."—Westminster Gazette.

Occasionally cramp rings played a persuasive part in diplomacy. Lord Berners, our Ambassador at the court of Charles V., wrote in 1508 "to my Lord Cardinal's grace" for some "cramp rings," with trust to "bestow them well, by God's grace."—Westminster Gazette.

Occasionally cramp rings played a persuasive part in diplomacy. Lord Berners, our Ambassador at the court of Charles V., wrote in 1508 "to my Lord Cardinal's grace" for some "cramp rings," with trust to "bestow them well, by God's grace."—Westminster Gazette.

Occasionally cramp rings played a persuasive part in diplomacy. Lord Berners, our Ambassador at the court of Charles V., wrote in 1508 "to my Lord Cardinal's grace" for some "cramp rings," with trust to "bestow them well, by God's grace."—Westminster Gazette.

Occasionally cramp rings played a persuasive part in diplomacy. Lord Berners, our Ambassador at the court of Charles V., wrote in 1508 "to my Lord Cardinal's grace" for some "cramp rings," with trust to "bestow them well, by God's grace."—Westminster Gazette.

Occasionally cramp rings played a persuasive part in diplomacy. Lord Berners, our Ambassador at the court of Charles V., wrote in 1508 "to my Lord Cardinal's grace" for some "cramp rings," with trust to "bestow them well, by God's grace."—Westminster Gazette.

Occasionally cramp rings played a persuasive part in diplomacy. Lord Berners, our Ambassador at the court of Charles V., wrote in 1508 "to my Lord Cardinal's grace" for some "cramp rings," with trust to "bestow them well, by God's grace."—Westminster Gazette.

Occasionally cramp rings played a persuasive part in diplomacy. Lord Berners, our Ambassador at the court of Charles V., wrote in 1508 "to my Lord Cardinal's grace" for some "cramp rings," with trust to "bestow them well, by God's grace."—Westminster Gazette.

Occasionally cramp rings played a persuasive part in diplomacy. Lord Berners, our Ambassador at the court of Charles V., wrote in 1508 "to my Lord Cardinal's grace" for some "cramp rings," with trust to "bestow them well, by God's grace."—Westminster Gazette.

Occasionally cramp rings played a persuasive part in diplomacy. Lord Berners, our Ambassador at the court of Charles V., wrote in 1508 "to my Lord Cardinal's grace" for some "cramp rings," with trust to "bestow them well, by God's grace."—Westminster Gazette.

Occasionally cramp rings played a persuasive part in diplomacy. Lord Berners, our Ambassador at the court of Charles V., wrote in 1508 "to my Lord Cardinal's grace" for some "cramp rings," with trust to "bestow them well, by God's grace."—Westminster Gazette.

Occasionally cramp rings played a persuasive part in diplomacy. Lord Berners, our Ambassador at the court of Charles V., wrote in 1508 "to my Lord Cardinal's grace" for some "cramp rings," with trust to "bestow them well, by God's grace."—Westminster Gazette.

Occasionally cramp rings played a persuasive part in diplomacy. Lord Berners, our Ambassador at the court of Charles V., wrote in 1508 "to my Lord Cardinal's grace" for some "cramp rings," with trust to "bestow them well, by God's grace."—Westminster Gazette.

Occasionally cramp rings played a persuasive part in diplomacy. Lord Berners, our Ambassador at the court of Charles V., wrote in 1508 "to my Lord Cardinal's grace" for some "cramp rings," with trust to "bestow them well, by God's grace."—Westminster Gazette.

Occasionally cramp rings played a persuasive part in diplomacy. Lord Berners, our Ambassador at the court of Charles V., wrote in 1508 "to my Lord Cardinal's grace" for some "cramp rings," with trust to "bestow them well, by God's grace."—Westminster Gazette.

Occasionally cramp rings played a persuasive part in diplomacy. Lord Berners, our Ambassador at the court of Charles V., wrote in 1508 "to my Lord Cardinal's grace" for some "cramp rings," with trust to "bestow them well, by God's grace."—Westminster Gazette.

Occasionally cramp rings played a persuasive part in diplomacy. Lord Berners, our Ambassador at the court of Charles V., wrote in 1508 "to my Lord Cardinal's grace" for some "cramp rings," with trust to "bestow them well, by God's grace."—Westminster Gazette.

Occasionally cramp rings played a persuasive part in diplomacy. Lord Berners, our Ambassador at the court of Charles V., wrote in 1508 "to my Lord Cardinal's grace" for some "cramp rings," with trust to "bestow them well, by God's grace."—Westminster Gazette.

Occasionally cramp rings played a persuasive part in diplomacy. Lord Berners, our Ambassador at the court of Charles V., wrote in 1508 "to my Lord Cardinal's grace" for some "cramp rings," with trust to "bestow them well, by God's grace."—Westminster Gazette.

Occasionally cramp rings played a persuasive part in diplomacy. Lord Berners, our Ambassador at the court of Charles V., wrote in 1508 "to my Lord Cardinal's grace" for some "cramp rings," with trust to "bestow them well, by God's grace."—Westminster Gazette.

Occasionally cramp rings played a persuasive part in diplomacy. Lord Berners, our Ambassador at the court of Charles V., wrote in 1508 "to my Lord Cardinal's grace" for some "cramp rings," with trust to "bestow them well, by God's grace."—Westminster Gazette.

Occasionally cramp rings played a persuasive part in diplomacy. Lord Berners, our Ambassador at the court of Charles V., wrote in 1508 "to my Lord Cardinal's grace" for some "cramp rings," with trust to "bestow them well, by God's grace."—Westminster Gazette.

Occasionally cramp rings played a persuasive part in diplomacy. Lord Berners, our Ambassador at the court of Charles V., wrote in 1508 "to my Lord Cardinal's grace" for some "cramp rings," with trust to "bestow them well, by God's grace."—Westminster Gazette.

Occasionally cramp rings played a persuasive part in diplomacy. Lord Berners, our Ambassador at the court of Charles V., wrote in 1508 "to my Lord Cardinal's grace" for some "cramp rings," with trust to "bestow them well, by God's grace."—Westminster Gazette.