

NIGERIA FISHING TACKLE.

fishermen of Nigeria are remarkably skillful anglers, and their manner of fishing fish resembles their own simplicity and directness.

The fisherman carries a small line which at the other end with a small hook and a regular distance along the line he attaches a number of hooks of various sizes in the form of a V, while to the angle of each V is attached a short line made of sinews with a kind of snail; the fish, having the bait and line, swallows the hook which is so acted upon by the sinews that it is drawn into the mouth and fastened there firmly in its throat.

When a victim struggles and whirls about, thus attracting its family and neighbors to swallow the same snare, the fisherman is not slow to take advantage of the opportunity.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON V.—AUG. 2, 1908. David Anointed at Bethlehem.—1 Sam. 16: 1-13.

Commentary.—I. Planning for a new king (vs. 1-5). How long wilt thou mourn—Samuel's grief because of Saul's rejection was great. This showed his affection for Saul and his interest in the kingdom. But to continue long in such grief would hinder him in his duty as prophet and also dishonor God.

II. The Lord chooses David (vs. 6-12). The Lord had still a great work for the aged prophet to perform, and instead of spending his time in mourning, he should have spent his time in strength in grief, he was commanding anoint a new king. It is well to remember that God is not confined to any particular man or church in order to accomplish his work.

III. David set apart for his work (vs. 13). Anointed him—David was anointed in the presence of his brethren, though it is not at all likely that they understood at this time what position he was being called. It is interesting to note that David knew that God had anointed him, and he was not ashamed to be anointed.

IV. The Lord chooses David (vs. 14-15). The Lord chooses David (vs. 14-15). The Lord chooses David (vs. 14-15). The Lord chooses David (vs. 14-15).

kingdom promised. The humble are exalted (Luke 14: 11); (Phil. 2: 8, 9). David means "beloved." His name "heart" characteristics. God "found" the shepherd lad a man after his own heart. (Acts 13: 22). Lovely, loving, lowly, faithful.

THE BOSTON DESPERADOES.

One Killed, One Wounded and One Captured Last Night.

Later Particulars of the Shooting Up in Boston Streets.

Boston, July 27.—After three deadly battles between three desperadoes and the police and citizens, one of the band was killed, one wounded and one captured last night.

A third was taken last evening in the south district. All three were members of the band that has been terrorizing the Jamaica Plain district. The team left behind it over its trail of a mile and a half two dead and eleven wounded and was composed of the most desperate characters that have appeared in the streets of Boston for several years.

The desperadoes' career of terror started Tuesday night by the "shooting up" of the saloon of Winter street and Washington street, Jamaica Plain. Shortly before closing hour three men, apparently Italians, burst into the saloon and the officers made their appearance at a house on North street, and at the point of a revolver demanded that they be given up.

When the shooting was over it was found that Frank J. Drake had been killed, Patrick Moran had received a bullet in the forehead, and Thomas Winterston had been shot at the base of the skull in the left arm.

The police of the city made a careful search all night long without result. Early yesterday morning two of the men made their appearance at a house on North street, and at the point of a revolver demanded that they be given up.

When the desperadoes found that they were so closely pursued they drew their revolvers, and with a yell began firing on all sides. The first person to be killed was Frank J. Drake, who was walking down South street. Officer Inglis then received a bullet in the leg. The men passed through Cunningham field, Lee street and North street, and then down Washington street.

The child was brought to the Home on May 13, when only nine weeks old, his mother, who gave her name as Mrs. Francis, living at 121-22, Cape of Good Hope and Natal, 1,000 miles, scored at 11-24 to 15; greasy, 4-3 to 15.

where deeper than the others, not two hundred yards from the main entrance to the cemetery. But one bird of augury marked the lower level of the ravine and into this the man sprang. In a second the side of the ravine were lined many deep with the blue coats who poured shot after shot into the bushes. Then inspectors carefully approached the bush and parting the leaves found the victim of a hundred officers' bullets, dead on the ground.

FLOWER WITH BRAIN

FOUND BY CAPT. MUSGRAVE IN SOUTH AMERICA.

The Venus Orchid Has Digestive Organs and Nerve Ganglia.—The Explorer Found a Boa Constrictor With Rudimentary Hind Feet.

New York, July 27.—Captain S. Musgrave, of the British army, was one of the passengers to arrive to-day aboard the Royal Mail steam packet Atalanta from the United States of Colombia. Capt. Musgrave has been on a twenty months' exploring expedition down in Colombia, where he rove over thousands of miles in the interior on a donkey. He rode from Bogota, the capital of the country, on the River Orinoco.

Captain Musgrave, who was in charge of Lord Roberts' armored train in the Boer war, has brought from Colombia several specimens of animal life. He has been doing zoological research work, and he is returning to England with an antelope, known as the tamandua, which he is feeding on bananas, rice and milk. As there are not enough ants all the ship for it. He has one of the finest and most valuable collections of butterflies in the world, which he got at Mosca. Some of them are about nine inches from wing tip to wing tip, and shine like emeralds.

KILLED FOUNDLING.

BABE LEFT IN HOSPITAL IS VICTIM OF MYSTERIOUS MURDER.

Second Attempt Succeeds—Mother, Who Said She Was an Actress, Believed to be Prominent Society Woman.

Richmond, Va., July 27.—Baby Vaughan, a foundling, the victim of two mysterious poisonings, died last night at the City Home, supposedly at the hand of some person thoroughly familiar with the child's habits. The infant, a fine looking little fellow, ching to life with great tenacity and did not expire until a dose of corrosive sublimate, administered last Tuesday, was followed on Sunday with chloroform. Bees attempted to kill the child were made in the early morning.

The first attempt to poison the baby was made when a woman, now an inmate of the City Home, was the only person present. The dose, which was administered in tablets, was of such strength that when the child was found its mouth, throat and face had been badly burned.

Miss Margaret Venable, a nurse in the Woman's Ward, was the first to discover the crime. The child had not been 6-14 to 24. Victoria, 1,700 miles, scored at 14 to 15 10-24; greasy, 4-3 to 15. South Australia, 1,300 miles, 14 to 15; greasy, 4-3 to 15. New Zealand, 1,200 miles, scored, 8-12 to 15 1-24; greasy, 4-3 to 15.
