Priceville

Intended for last week's very heavy rain and thunder storm on Tuesday night the 4th inst. did a great deal of damage to the grain by knocking it down flat in many instances making it harder labor to cut as some is so flat that even a scythe will have some difficulty to cut it. The grain is coming in fast as everything will be ready to cut this week.

Mrs Legate of Buffalo, Mary Nichol and her sister Rebecca, of Cincinnati and the Rev. Walter Nichol, of St. Marys, are visiting at present their father and mother, Mr and Mrs John Nichol west of this place.

Mr and Mrs Nell McMillan and son, of Swinton Park, attended church here on Sunday last.

Mr and Mrs Chas. McKinnon, of Port Arthur, visited at Mr McKinnon's old home south line. Mr McKinnon went home but Mrs McKinnon will be staying for some time yet.

Mrs Dave McIntyre formerly of Balsam Valley, Egremont, accompanied Mr and Mrs McKinnon and are visiting her mother Mrs Isaac in Mt. Forest at present.

Mr George Wallace of Woodbridge nephew of the late Clark Wallace, visited at Mr C. C. James for a short time last week.

Mrs John A. Graham and family, of Durham, visited at Mr Graham's father, Mr D. Graham of this town from Saturday evening till Monday morning taking advantage of the new railway conveyance.

Mr and Mrs Donald Stewart, north line Armesia, left for the West last week where they will visit friends in Manitoba and other places before returning.

Miss Maggie McLean, of Toronto, is visiting this week with her sister Mrs Neil McCannell of Durham.

Miss Annie McArthur, of Toronto, who is visiting at Bunnassan attended church here on Sunday last. Miss McArthur is one of those ladies who always find it their duty to attend church ordinances.

Prayer meeting in the Presbyterian Church on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock this week. Rev. Mr Berry will address the audience. Complaints are made of the neglect of activity in attending these meetings more especially the masculine gender as they are in general not as faithful as the feminine to attend.

Rev. Walter Nichol, (son of Mr and Mrs John Nichol) of St. Marys, preached in the Presbyterian church here on Sunday evening last. Mr Nichol is a fine young man and an excellent speaker, his manner of delivering commands the attention of his audience. Mr Nichol is taking his holidays at the parental home where his aged father and mother and family will be pleased to have him as their guest for a short time.

Mr Wm Ramage and daughter attended service in the Presbyterian church here on Sunday evening last and the choir was pleased to have him as one of their number as he generally takes great interest in assisting our chorists in Priceville. Mrs Wilkinson, niece of Mr Hector McLean at the corner south line, who is visiting her uncle there took sick shortly after her arrival and is attended by Dr. Dixon we hope to hear of her recovery soon as it is hard to be laid up with sickness away from her home although she receives the best attention from her uncle and family.

The marriage of Miss Mary McArthur daughter of Mr Dunean McArthur and niece of Mr John McArthur of this place, took place on Wednesday the 5th inst. to Mr James McDonald of the Western Country. The marriage was performed by the Rev Mr Matheson in the presence of a number of immediate friends. The bride is a winsome young lady in personality and manner and we congratulate the man of her choice in being the recipient of her as a life partner. Mr McDonald is a young man who won for himself the good will of all who formed his acquaintance during his stay attending his duties in connection with railway matters in this vicinity during the past year and we voice the sentiment of all who formed the young couples acquaintance in wishing them much happiness on the voyage of life together.

Mr Wm McLeod Jr. lost a valuable young colt of a year old last week supposed to be killed by lightning as there was a thunder storm the evening before he was found dead.

Misses Isabella and Vada McArthur of Dundalk, daughters of Mr Chas. McArthur, visited at N. McCannell's, Durham and friends in Priceville for a short time on their return.

Neil McCannell, of Durham was in this vicinity attending to matters in his line of business.

This budget was intended for last week but did not get to the post office in time for last week's issue so the Editor can either put it in the waste basket or in print.

Hopeville.

The Rev Mr McInnes is home again and commenced the good work amongst his people here.

Mr A. H. Barnett is home from attending the funeral of his sister, Mrs Laidlaw of Durham.

Mr Dave Allen represented Hopeville at the Sackett's Corners picnic

last week. We do not know what part he took in the games, but he is a hustler when he gets started.

Mrs Noble, of Dundalk, is visiting with her parents here, Mr and Mrs Burnett.

Alex Russell has left the Allen McLearn house and moved down near the Epiphany church.

A young man from the north attended the Hopeville church meeting on Sunday night lately and some mischievous person took a nut off his buggy, and as he turned the corner in the village driving fairly fast, the wheel came off leaving him in a kind of a mess. This is a bad practice for evil disposed people to follow as harm might be done. The accident of Mr McInnes's horse being hurt by the young minister driving him, and a nut coming off has left the horse that he will never be much good. She was a fine young mare that he paid over $140 for not long ago, and the latest report is that she will likely have to be shot to put her out of pain.

Edge Hill.

Mrs E. Cooke and baby Grace, of Toronto, was the guest of his cousin, Mrs Thos Greenwood the past week.

Miss Ethel R. Greenwood has gone to teach in S. S. No 1, Normanby, this year.

Mr Will Plinder and sister Miss Mary, of Orchard, visited their cousin Miss Winnie Greenwood Sunday, Mary remaining a couple of weeks.

Miss Wardrow is back again at her old school duties commencing Monday the 17th.

We are sorry to hear of the death of Miss Jane Burgess who left for Southampton a short time ago, prior to living with Mr Will Edge.

Mr Henry Farr also passed away Saturday morning. The obituary write-ups will be found elsewhere.

Mr Drawley, Civil Engineer of the P. R., was the guest of Wm McFarlane on evening last week.

Mr Bert Ritchie, of Bunnassan, visited on the avenue one evening lately.

Mrs Will Edge attended the funeral of her aunt last week in Southampton.

Miss Jean Binnie, from B. C., is visiting her aunt, Mrs D. Edge.

Mr and Mrs Jos Cairns visited at Mr D. McPayden's last week.

Hear Jarvis on 21st Aug in the New Rink.

Editor Review:

The Fall Fair prize lists are now being circulated freely amongst the farmers and other members of the different societies. The appearance of these lists is a most timely one, what are the objects of these exhibitions? Are they of any value? To whom are they instructive? Do I get any benefit from them? To answer these questions fully, would require a volume but a few brief answers might serve to stimulate interest in the different fairs and indirectly increase their value.

The main object of these exhibitions is to compare your own produce with that of your neighbor with regard to size and quality of produce and attractiveness or strength and durability of whatever phase is most conspicuous in the exhibit. But is this all? Does not the man who fails to get a prize for his live stock wish to find out how his competitors beat him? Does he not try to learn why so that his own stock will be that much better? Similarly the man who grows the inferior roots vegetables, fruit etc., learns from his competitor, how he did it and next year the judges have a harder task than they had this. It is in this that their great value lies. Would it not be a good idea for all the prize winners to use the local papers and tell every one how it was done?

The Government recognizing the value gained from the dissemination of knowledge by this means and expert judges to the fairs that apply for them and these judges are supposed to give reasons for the awarding of each prize. In this way greater interest is taken in the breeding of live stock and the growing of crops.

But you ask, why should not the farmer jealously guard the secret of his success and not allow others the profits he is earning? Suppose Mr A is a breeder of Ayrshire cattle and is the only one in his locality. He advertises several head for sale. Perhaps a trader from some distance arrives and is disappointed because all the animals are sold. Is he likely to come again? Whereas how much would it better Mr A's trade could be supplied his customer from the neighborhood. Would it not tempt more buyers to his place were they sure they could secure their wants near by without any extra expense?

Then again there are not nearly the number of exhibitors at the different fairs that there should be. People seem to think that they have nothing good enough. All people are better in some things than they are in others. One man grows his reward from potatoes, another has Ayrshire cattle breeding as his specialty; the townsman is often a first-class vegetable grower and why should not each exhibit in his own special line? By so doing he would learn of new varieties and methods and thus be better prepared for next season's work. It is only by comparison that we can learn. Then "let us compare."
