GREAT FLOOD

Inhabitants Pass Night of Terror

From Four to Six Feet of Water In Streets.

Some Loss of Life-Damage Well Over a Million.

Augusta, Ga., Aug. 31.- Last night was a night of darkness and terror in Augusta. The town was cut of from communication with the outside world by telegraph and terephone and was in total darkness. The Savann in River was forty feet out of its banks and Broad street was a racing river with water five feet deep down its entire length. Practically the entire city of Augusta was under water

By noon there was three feet of water racing down Broad street and every store on the street was inundated to a depth of at least two feet. At 3.30 o'clock in the afternoon the depth of five feet was reached. Augusta has not had such an experience since 1888, when there was damage. It is believed that the present freshet will do even greater damage than that of 1888. At 2.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon above Augusta gave way under the strain of the flood and a great volume at an early hour this morning from their of water rolled unrestrained upon the burning home, with nothing but their inundated city, adding to the terror of those in its pathway.
