OWN OPICS

Sent in a list of your exhibits in good time for the Fair.

Special display of trimmed Millinery Dress, Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 16th and 17th. Miss Dick.

South Grey Ak. Exhibition Sept. 22 and 23. See advertisement in another column for particulars and programme.

Grand Fall Opening of Millinery Dress, Gowns and Mantles, at S. Sept. 16th and 17th.

Our stock of yarn is here. A 1 quality. Just find out our are before buying. The House of Quality.

The English church is receiving a new coat of paint this week, that is, the woodwork of the tower, window sashes and doors, which greatly improves its appearance.

With good weather on hand you can depend on a splendid afternoon's sport—entertainment at the Fall Fair on Wednesday afternoon next. Come and bring your family and enjoy yourself.

THE TRUCK SUCK.—The C. P. R. were surprised one morning last week to find the truck sunk two or three feet in the same place as previously; in the swamp a short distance from the side of the junction. The passengers were forced to walk to a train and were laid around it, and it is now in its usual state of repair.

Many of our cheapest and best bargains are not advertised. The reason is because the quantity offered on sale is not large enough either for a window display or to pay us to advertise them. Saving however on this "not advertised" bargains are the cheapest in the store. Watch for the House of Quality.

H. H. MOCKLER, Artesians Agricultural Society will hold their Annual Exhibition at Priceville on Thursday and Friday, October 1 and 2. Single fare tickets will be issued by the C. P. R. going on afternoon trains Sept. 30, all returning Oct. 1 and 2, good for return till Oct. 30.

Several of our all-points between Toronto and Owen Sound and Walkerton and Priceville. These tickets are good for round trip. A good time is assured all. Don't forget the date, Oct. 2, and—be there.

HAS BOUGHT UP LAND.—An important real estate deal has recently been transacted, whereby Mr. Wm. McGowan has bought the river bed and adjoining lands on McGowan's Mill along the C. P. R. bridge large tract of Garafraza St. The purchase includes the field south of the river for the distance mentioned, except for a short strip from east of opposite the new Rink to the Mill on still the edge of the Estate have reserved for building lots. We learn it is Mr. McGowan's intention to build a dam across the river almost directly north of the new rink, thus creating an expansive sheet water above and furnishing power for possible industry at the station, which may be removed to the new site.

One of the best comedians ever heard in Durham, secured for the concert on Wednesday evening, Sept 25th.

THE ROAD QUESTION.—One hundred and fifty-three townships in Ontario have abandoned statute labor and reverted to the cash system for maintenance of roads. If countries in Ontario have undertaken a good road program by which they plan an outlay of $8,200,000, of which under the provisions of the Road Act the province will bear one-third. The trend of sentiment to-day is all in favor of a centralized system of administration of main roads. New York State with its great population has reached the point where with a good central administration is imperative. Good roads are essentially a business proposition. A. W. Campbell, the deputy minister of highways, has pointed out that good roads represent an investment which will bring handsome returns by increased property values. Loan companies have commenced to appraise farm property on the character of the roads by which the farmer and his family had access to the city or town.

NEW TEXT BOOKS AUTHORIZED.—A circular is being issued by the Education Department in reference to text books for the coming year. The main provisions of which are as follows: The books authorized in reference to 1907-1908 are authorized, but only for the year 1908. It is expected that text-books will be ready by next midsummer to replace those authorized of which we have in use as provided. The Education Department is preparing a series of copybooks, which will be ready about the beginning of October, and the prices also preparing a set of exercises which may be used with blank paper in lieu of the copybooks. The following books are authorized for use in the school: Hall and Knight's Junior Algebra 50 cents; Roberts on and Carver's Latin Lessons for Beginners 50 cents. The publisher will, however, for use in the Latin Lessons and Junior Algebra at 40 cents, both net.

Field Crop Competition.—The Department of Agriculture recently organized a Field Crop Competition for Agricultural Societies, each Society choosing the grain for the contest. South Grey Society chose oats and 15 entrants, of no less than 5 acres each were made. Following are the prize winners, whom we congratulate upon their success in this new line:

Obituary. MR. ROBT. HENRY. The people of North Egremont were called upon this week to pay the last tribute of respect to one of the old pioneers in the person of Mr. Robt. Henry, who died on Saturday morning last at the age of nearly 80 years.

He settled first in St. Catharines, later to Normandy, where he spent his childhood. He afterwards took up his abode on the 12th Con. Egremont, where he has lived with his wife and family around him for the last 22 years.

Deceased was married 22 years ago to Annie Derby of Hanpden, New Brunswick. They had to bleed them. They had 8 daughters, one of each dying in infancy. The family were present at his bedside with the exception of Mrs. J. Martin (Maggie) Seattle, Wash., and Mrs. Wm. Walker (Mary) Mrs. Thos. Keith, on the 10th Con. Mrs. Andrew all living near by.

The funeral on Monday was largely attended, the Rev. Geo. Kendall officiating and preaching a very impressive sermon in Amos church, to which the remains were taken. Many floral wreaths, the gift of friends as well as the family, bedecked the coffin.

The pall bearers were his three sons and three sons-in-law.

He possessed a thorough Scotchman, a consistent Liberal in politics, a staunch Presbyterian of the old school and a regular attendant at church services, possessing a strong love for the old Psalms of David, many of which he had memorized in his boyhood. He was a thorough going Scotchman, conversant with those who could converse in the broadest form with him. His pleasant and agreeable manner will long be remembered by those who knew him best. Devotedly attached to his wife and family, he will above all be missed by them.

Methodist Anniversary

The Methodist church of this town passed another successful milestone when they celebrated their anniversary and harvest home services last Sunday and Monday evening.

The church services were well attended, the evening one being crowded. The church was lastfully decorated with grain, flowers and fruit, the head of each side.

Monday evening a large number partook of the splendid tea served in the basement and then proceeded in stairs to take in the intellectual part, all and entertaining address as chairman called on Mr. H. H. Miller, M. P.

Mr. Miller having attended a political meeting in Walkerton that day, before leaving was called on first by the past Durham he knew 29 years ago with the present and congratulated the town on its growth and prosperity in school, churches and business places.

Rev. Dr. Newton and Farquharson respectively gave the address of the evening. Mr. Ball, Conservative, spoke of his being cradled in the Methodist church as he remembered the Williams, Lake, etc. who used to stay at his father's house on their pastoring.

THE GREAT CLUBBING OFFER.—Arrangements have been completed for the opening of the Midway House, at the local and general news. And more, act upon it at once.

H. H. MILLER, M. P., will hold a meeting at Brigham's wagon shop, Allan Park, on Tuesday evening, September 22, at 8 o'clock, particularly to discuss the question of the Allan Park Post-Office and the false stories which have been in circulation as to School Officers.

Mr. Miller is said to have used in the Orange-mer invites Opposition and hopes to have good attendance.

SPEEDING IN THE RING will be one of the great attractions at the South Grey Annual Fair, two large purses assured. Come and see the sport.

BUSH FIRES PREVALENT.—The excessive season of drought, was the last week end and still some of them are rampant. A heavy fall of snow thickened the air in town last Friday night in the Greenock swamps. There were another 4 miles northwest of here, while most destructive forest conflagration raged in Minnesota, Wisconsin and Fort William. At present, the River to Sturgeon, the Severn, chief damage being to the Georgian Bay navigation is extremely difficult, due to the air being filled with smoke.
