GEO. PATTERSON.

Demands on our advertising space again compel us to resort to an enlarged paper. The two big stores by their use of printer's ink are certainly drawing people to town from a wide area than ever. We are glad to see them and hope they will find it profitable to trade with us.

At Union Sunday School on the 2nd Con. Anniversary was held on Tuesday evening, 3rd November. A large crowd was in attendance every available space being utilized. Mr. Wm. Allan occupied the chair and introduced the various performers with trite remarks.

Music was supplied by the scholars of the Sunday School, a very efficient choir of some 8 or 9 members, a male quartette from Durham giving some selections with admirable harmony and power, a mixed quartette from Thistle vicinity and a well executed trio by two little boys and a little girl constituted the musical part of the program. The music by all of them was of clear enunciation not always found in group singing. Recitations were given by Misses Mary Brown, Blanch Reid and Archie Clark all of Dromore and Miss Annis Johnstone. Mr. Thos. Allan, Durham, took his hearers back some 3000 years ago to the time of David and his query of "Is the young man Absalom safe?" That cry had been running down through the ages and more so now in these days of S. S.'s. and their laudable efforts to promote the spiritual welfare of the young generation, he drew many fine lessons therefrom.

Mr. Allan Bell spoke a word of congratulation on the good reports of their S. S. throughout the country, regretted the taking of a holiday sometimes, by either teacher or scholar, and advised the reviewing of the old lesson. His speech was fraught with good advice, paid a compliment to the ladies and finished with a recitation. The Rev. Mr. Dymes also spoke at some length and contributed a reading.

Mr. Will Shrs gave the report of the Sunday School and reviewed at some length the work done, and spoke words of encouragement and cheer. He also moved a hearty vote of thanks to all the performers which was carried unanimously. The proceeds amounted to $25.50. The meeting closed with "God Save the King."

Presbyterian Anniversary Services.

The Presbyterians here are on the eve of their jubilee. This year's anniversary is the 40th under a settled pastorate. In the far back year of 1850 the late Rev. Wm. Park was inducted into the charge and ever since with brief intermissions, the fold has had a shepherd. Indeed for a while it had two, as it is still a memory though getting dimmer, that the congregation had a split though now happily, all traces of it have disappeared.

Rev. Mr. Farquharson's pastorate began in 1880 and during the nine years great progress has been made. The church has been enlarged, resited and otherwise improved. Commodious sheds have been built, a massive pulpit and now practically clear of debt, Stupend has been increased and contributions to Missions and other benevolences have also become larger. The latest advance is the purchase of a New Pipe Organ which is to be installed in a few weeks.

The services on Sunday last were largely attended, in the evening to the full capacity of the church. The preacher of the day was the Rev. G. A. Woodsie, M. A., of Owen Sound. He is a forceful speaker, with fine pulpit voice and manner, and his sermons were highly appreciated. In the morning he took his text from Malachi 2:14-16, founding on the passage a plea for the preservation and sanctity of the home, showing how the Saviour had honored the institution. He demonstrated his power first in the home, then in the church, then in the individual, but the home and the influences springing from it was the great evangelizing force of the world. The great principle of heredity was recognized in the spiritual world in the same way as it was in the material world. Its tendency often led to destruction, but the great principle worked both ways, and the home a tendency for good. While it was true that the sins of the fathers were visited upon the children, it was also true that there was God's blessing to a thousand generations. Here there was continuous spiritual life, here the steps of youth were unconsciously turned in the right direction, there were startling conversions as that of Peter but that of John was equally good which came in an undemonstrative way.

He deduced from these premises the huge responsibility thrown upon parents, and went on to deal with the great problem of the Church—the evangelization of the world. This was far from being accomplished when it was found that the birth rate exceeded the conversions credited to the church. To overcome this inequality the home must be strengthened, and its continuity for good utilized. In industrial life continuity from generation to generation was essential to perfection, so if the homes are pure a beneficial influence will flow wider and wider.

The same rule was observed in nations. Israel in bondage increased more than their oppressors: they honored God and he honored them. Crime flouted itself and became dangerous owing to godlessness.

God honored the principle of reproduction, but the harvest was according to the seed, all innate nature shall bring forth seed "After his kind," and while the child was son of the father it was true the child was the father of the man.

EVENING SERVICE.

In the evening he took his text from Luke 9:28-30, the great Transfiguration scene. Of all the scenes of the earth or the ages there was never another like this. It was a meeting place arranged by God himself and their topic of discussion amid so much that was sublime was as strange as the place—the death to be accomplished at Jerusalem.

He entered on a fine review of the work and lives of Moses and Elias, showing how they carried out antecedent Divine legislation. He made an interesting point from this that moral economists were wrong when they said that you cannot legislate in advance of sentiment. God's way was to legislate to bring about the sentiment. Both were willing to sink self for the sake of the cause and he outlined the great issues in the campaigns guided by these men. He then led on to show that the sacrifices they observed were valueless themselves, except, as they pointed to a great event of the future, and it was fitting that they should appear when what had been symbol was to become reality.

The death of Christ was the keynote of all reform, the great theme of angels and men, hence out of the fullness of their heart they speak His "decease. All reform movements fallure unless based on Christ's life and death. Men who scoff, who revile, have not realized that Christ has power to lay down his life and power to take it again. Many times attempted

To be Honored with a D. D.

At a meeting of Knox College Senate to be held on Thursday next, Rev. Wm. Farquharson, B. D. will have conferred upon him the higher and more honored title of "D. D."—Doctor of Divinity—in recognition of his services to College and Church. The honor will be mutual—Mr. Farquharson will honor the title, even as it honors him. The new dignity will sit well upon him and we heartily congratulate the popular pastor on this recognition of his worth by his fellows of the Ministry: congratulate the congregation on the reflected honor that comes to them. It is about 10 years since Mr. Farquharson acquired the B. D. degree.

Thanksgiving Shooting.

The last practice of the S. G. R. A. was held on their range Thanksgiving day at 2 p. m. There was a good attendance, the day being clear and cold and the wind was what Riflemen call tricky or (fish tail).

The following is a partial list of the scores at 300 yards, 10 rounds: Mr. Ford 38, R. Torry 37, E. Wolfe 35, F. Rolph 30, Wm. Humphries 28, B. Conquodale 27, Wm. Wright 27, Dr. F. Grant 24, Dr. MacLaurin 22, Dr. Hutten 21, John Johnston 21, F. Smith 17, F. Kelly 10.

We expect to be able to give a full report of the percentage made during the summer later on.

What are your boys and girls reading?

They are bound to read something. They will read trash unless you give them something better that is equally interesting. Try THE YOUTH'S COMPANION. There is plenty of adventure in the stories, and the heroes and heroines are of the real kind, finding in the line of duty opportunity for courage and selflessness. More than 250 such stories will be published in the 52 issues of the new volume for 1909. There will be fully as many articles, sketches and reminiscences to impart useful information in the most agreeable way, familiarizing THE COMPANION'S readers with the best that is known and thought in the world.

Full Illustrated Announcement of THE COMPANION for 1909 will be sent to any address free with sample copies of the paper.

The new subscribers living in Canada who at once send $2.00 for 1909 will receive free all the remaining issues of 1908, besides the gift of THE COMPANION'S Calendar for 1909, entitled "In Grandmother's Garden," lithographed in 13 colors.
