Mine Host Hahn of the Hahn House on Friday night last gave a farewell supper to his regular boarders in honor of the departing C. P. R. officials. After enjoying an elaborate repast, addresses, congratulations and compliments followed and about midnight a very happy company dispersed.

ACCIDENT AT CEMENT WORKS.—Last Friday morning what might easily have been a fatal accident occurred at the Cement Works. During the dumping of a carload of clay two workmen named Dawkins and Wilson got caught in some way and the former received very serious injuries, his head being bruised. He is on the way to recovery; his companion sustained slight injuries.

Try us for a bag of good oatmeal. Mrs A. Beggs & Sons.

Our thanks are due Mr Arch. McLeod, of Manitow, for a generous remittance on his sub, and the season's compliments. He further says: "We are always glad to get the REVIEW to see the home news. We are having a fine winter here, scarcely any snow yet. Crops were fair in this part this year."

DEATH ON THE RAIL.—Last Saturday there was brought to Durham for interment the remains of a young man named Hamer, who had been killed in Toronto while at his duties on the railway. He had worked round here for about two years and earned a good reputation. He had also made companionships which, in the severance, causes pain and deep regrets. We believe he has no relatives in this country, but he was given decent burial in Stagen cemetery.

BOX SOCIAL AT VARNEY.—Last Friday evening, the annual Box Social was held in the school south of Varney Mr J. W. Blyth being in the chair. A splendid program of songs, recitations, etc., was rendered, but the indifferent order prevented them from being appreciative as most would desire. The boxes, knocked down by Mr Wm. Johnston, brought fair prices, the highest bringing $1.05, and the total proceeds amounting to the neighborhood of $65. A large number attended from town and reckless driving to and from the scene of the gathering resulted in a few smashed livery outfits.

CLIMATIC.—After an exceedingly fine October and November, with mild weather and only snow enough to make two or three days' sleighing, a change has come. This Tuesday, 1st December, is a freezing winter day, snowing and blowing and almost approaching blizzard conditions. Now will the plough be stopped and no more shall we hear for a month or two of pansies in bloom in the open.

Obituary. Mrs SAMUEL WHITMORE. At the home of her daughter Mrs Thos. Davis, 2nd Con., Glenelg, she passed away on 25th November, an old resident, Mrs Samuel Whitmore, at the age of 72. For some time back she has resided with her daughters, failing health requiring their care which was freely given.

Mrs Whitmore, nee Mary Jane Diamond, was born in Co. Leitrim, Ireland, and came to Canada with her parents in 1840. They settled first in Nalton Co., and in Acton Mrs Whitmore received her education. They moved to Glenelg in 1859 and she was married in 1856 to Samuel, a well-known member of the Whitmore family. They moved to Lot 8, Con. 22, Egremont, where the three daughters who survive them were born.

They lived here till 1883 and then retired to Lambton St., Glenelg where her husband died in 1883. Thereafter she moved to Durham for a time and latterly lived with her second daughter Mrs William Watson, N. Egremont, till July last since which time she has been with Mrs Davis.

Mrs Davey, the youngest daughter, lives in Toronto and was at the funeral and remained for a few days. In the absence of Rev Mr Rice, Rev Mr Farquharson conducted the services a large company of friends joining with the relatives in the last tribute of respect.

Deceased was kindly in disposition as the writer who neighbored her for almost 20 years had reason to know. She was a good neighbor, a kind friend, and as wife and mother was affectionate and devoted. Her remains were interred in Trinity Church Cemetery.

A Brilliant Opening.

New Pipe Organ Installed.

Tuesday evening the Presbyterian Church was filled by an appreciative audience met on the occasion of the formal opening of the new pipe organ installed by the Warren Organ Co., of Woodstock, Ont. The instrument fills the entire octagon at the west end of the church and presents a fine appearance. Tuesday night the ear as well as the eye was gratified when quarter past 8 W. H. Hewlett faced the console and from the great instrument brought out will sounds low and sweet or a tempest of thunder tones, or flute like melody.

Rev Mr Farquharson, D. D., gracefully introduced Dr Jamieson, M. P. P. to the audience as chairman of the occasion, and he entered on his duties by making a very good speech. He spoke on the growth of music in all ages as an art and as part of worship. The use of instruments as an aid to worship had Bible sanction though frequently it had led to contentions and he thought none of us need be too old to remember differences as to organs. At the breaking with the past at Reformation times, the Presbyterians had swung to the other extreme but were now availing themselves of aids in musical service, not leaving to theatres and music halls fine architecture, music, &c. He hoped they would always look upon it as an aid or accessory to the human voice, the best of all instruments. After referring to some of the great organs of the world and especially to one he had seen and heard in Salt Lake City, he congratulated all concerned on the installation and hoped it was only a step in the path of further progress.

Mr Hewlett's first number was Wagner's Grand March and it could be seen with what ease the mechanical pistons, &c., enabled him to vary the color tone at will. All can appreciate the transition from the tinkling low notes as if coming from a far distance to the voluminous diapason. The Serenade began with the most delicate intonations and a hush and still expectancy came over the audience, which was the greatest tribute to his power. Gradually the serenade took courage, there was a sweet pastoral ditty with exquisite minor touches, becoming bolder as he went on there was orchestral effects, all showing there was breadth and power as well as tender sweetness.

The improvisation showed the flute effects to great advantage. Amid the faintest melody there springs a new note as if coming from an entirely different source, again there is the appearance of half a dozen instruments now, now thundering in a majestic now dropping to the most peaceful tinkling bells.

The "Overture to William Tell," begins in a furious storm following a delightful pianissimo, in which there was what might be called impassioned stillness broken by flute-like cuckoo notes. The next piece, the "Tempest in the Alps," had scarcely begun when a bellows' weight came off and during the few minutes adjusting it, the audience had a recess which came as a relief from the tense feeling that does not want to miss a note. The thunder crash was not so realistic as the dying echoing rumbling of the report.

The variations on Annie Laurie were perhaps the most popular piece. The tenderly beautiful strains were enrapturing, especially while with one hand he produced a far distant melody, so gentle, yet so distinct one wondered how the air could carry it in its purity.

His other numbers all showed variety in performance and results and many thought the "March Militaire," his closing piece, the most striking of the evening. It showed the tone with the highest pressure, the even mass was well-balanced, harmonious.

We regret our musical education is not equal to the task of doing justice to the various trumpet, clarion and other notes and swells producible on this fine instrument, but those who heard it in Mr Hewlett's hands will retain pleasant memories.

Mrs Geo. Allan has a delightful contralto voice finely modulated, and her three solos were loudly applauded and encored. Mr Hewlett accompanied with skill, especially noticeable in "The Sands O' Dee" at the almost whispered tragic finale of the piece. The "Night of Nights" was perhaps her best, and to the encore she gave a variation of "The Ninety and Nine." Her appearance in Durham again will be welcomed.

Rev Mr Jamieson was called upon and made some facetious complimentary remarks. He also testified that his experience in three charges with pipe organs led him to think the service of praise had been greatly aided. Rev Mr Newton was present and called upon but the chairman did not get his eye upon him in the crowd. The National anthem and Doxology brought a fine meeting to a close. The proceeds came to considerably over $100.00.

St. Andrews' Night.

Ben Nevis Camp, No 45, S. of S. met last Monday evening, to celebrate in a loyal way the old Anniversary of the patron saint of Scotland, and after electing officers for the coming year entered on a program of speech, song and reading which was thoroughly enjoyed and enjoyable. The camp has the distinction of having for five or six years past in its ranks as members, Dr Jamieson M. P. P. and H. H. Miller M. P., as well as the Mayor of Durham, the Police Magistrate of the County and other dignitaries. These were present on Monday evening, and there was the feast of reason and the flow of soul, but not the flowing bowl that so often has marked or marred similar gatherings.

Musical contributions were made by Bros. J. P. Telford, Geo. Sinclair, Geo. Binnie and Jas. Mather while C. C. McFayden gave a song in Gaelic. Patriotic readings were given by Bros. Dr McLaurin and Robt. McFarlane and brief speeches by Dr Jamieson, Mayor Calder, Cameron (a visiting brother) Dr Hutton, C. Ramage and others.

The speech of the evening was made by Bro. H. H. Miller, who dealt in a most interesting way with St. Andrew, beginning with what was known of him in the gospels as well as by tradition and other sources. He then turned his attention to the earliest periods of the Scots and Irish races, and how each country had contributed to the fame of the other, the dominating Scots having originally come from Ireland, while the Irish saint St. Patrick, as was well known, hailed from Scotland. The duty of remembering with gratitude the heroes of the past and their achievements was faithfully set out, but it was accompanied by the admonition to remember that we are now Canadians and we would best honor the past by living well the present so that those who follow us may in turn recognize in us true worth. The hills and the glens, the lakes, the streams and other beauties of old Scotland, all had greater and grander counterparts in our own Canada only needing we should weave around them noble deeds.

It was an entertaining, instructive and inspiring address and Mr Miller was loudly applauded. His humorous hit was greatly enjoyed, when he thought the Scotch had chosen St. Andrew as their patron saint because he discovered the lad with the loaves and fishes and they had been seeking them ever since—and generally got them.

At an appropriate time the brethren adjourned to the ante-room where a tempting repast was awaiting. The oysters, the coffee, everything was voted first class and a fine fraternal feeling was the result.

The officers elected for 1909 are: Chief, Wm. Black; Chieftain, John H. Hunter; Recording Secretary, Robt. Torry; Fin.-Secy, and Treas., C. Ramage; Chaplain, C. C. McFayden; Marshall, Dr J. F. Grant; Standard Bearer, Jas. Burd; Sr Guard, Hugh MacKay; Jr Guard, Jas. P. Hunter; Auditors, Geo. Binnie and Wm. Calder; Trustees, Geo. Binnie, Thos. C. Morton, Dr Hutton; Janitor, Hugh McLean. The past chief is Dr Hutton.

A special meeting is to be held on Tuesday evening, 29th December, 1908, to close up the business of the year.

A newspaper publisher recently brought an action against forty-five men, who would not pay their subscription and obtained judgment in each claim. Of these 28 made affidavits that they owned no more than the law allowed, preventing attachment then under the decision of the Supreme Court they were arrested for larceny and bond in the sum of $500 each. All but six gave bond while six went to jail. The new postal law makes it larceny to take a paper and refuse to pay for it.—Ex.
